AN OUTLINE HISTORY

—OF—

TIOGA COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.

By an act of the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania, approved March 26th, 1804, Tioga County was formed. It contains an area of seven hundred and nineteen thousand, three hundred and sixty (719,360) acres, or one thousand one hundred and twenty-four (1,124) square miles. It is bounded on the north by the state line between New York and Pennsylvania and the counties of Steuben and Chemung in New York ; on the east by the county of Bradford ; on the south by the county of Lycoming and on the west by the county of Potter. Its population is about 50,000. The capital or shire town is Wellsboro, situated on Charleston Creek, near the geographical center of the county, a rich and flourishing borough, containing about three thousand inhabitants.

STREAMS.—The principal streams in Tioga County are Pine Creek, Canoe Camp Creek, Crooked Creek, Corry Creek, Marsh Creek, Babbs Creek, Long Run, Mill Creek, Lamb's Creek, Cedar Run, Troops Creek, Elkhorn, Fall Brook and the Tioga and Cowanesque Rivers. Pine Creek, one of the largest streams in the county, rises in Potter County and flows east and southward and empties into the West Branch of the Susquehanna River, near Jersey Shore, Lycoming County. The Tioga River rises in the highlands of Ward township, Tioga County and Armenia in Bradford County and at first flows southward, thence westward and thence northward, and uniting with the Cowanesque at the state line near Lawrenceville, Pa. The Cowanesque rises in Potter County and flows eastward through the valley of the Cowanesque, keeping near the northern boundary of the county and unites with the Tioga near Lawrenceville. Marsh Creek, Babbs Creek, Cedar Run and Long Run are tributaries of Pine Creek. Canoe Camp Creek, Cory Creek, Fall Brook, Lamb's Creek, Mill Creek, Elkhorn and Crooked Creeks are tributaries of the Tioga River. Troops Creek and Mill Creek are tributaries of the Cowanesque. There are many lesser creeks and rivulets running at every conceivable angle, which added to the numerous springs make Tioga County one of the best watered counties in Northern Pennsylvania.

SOIL.—The soil of the county is well adapted to the growing of wheat, corn, oats, barley, the orchard fruits and garden vegetables, together with some very fine alluvial soils, well suited to the cultivation of tobacco, which is raised in the valley of the Tioga as far south as Covington, and in the Cowanesque valley as far west as Westfield and the county line near Harrison Valley and upon the waters of Pine Creek in the townships of Gaines, Shippen and Morris—and upon the waters of Marsh, Charleston and Crooked Creeks large and profitable crops of tobacco are grown. Other portions of the county of which we shall speak more particularly in the history of townships, are well adapted to the pasturing of sheep, the raising of cattle and horses and the making of the golden rolls of butter and the manufacturing of cheese.

MINERALS.—Semi-bituminous coal is found in large quantities in Tioga County and mines are in operation at Blossburg, Morris Run, Fall Brook, Arnot, Antrim, Gurnee and Mitchell's. There are annually mined in the county about thirty million bushels, or over one million tons of coal which is marketed, by the Fall Brook Coal Company, the Morris Run Coal Mining Company, the Blossburg Coal Company, the Gaines Coal and Coke Company, the Coal Run Company, Jacob Jones, Alexander Hutchinson and Joseph Mitchell. The four latter named being miners for home consumption. The Blossburg Coal Company at Arnot and the Fall Brook Coal Company at Tioga are largely engaged in the manufacture of coke from semi-bituminous coal. Iron ore is found in paying quantities at Blossburg and in the township of Richmond near the borough of Mansfield. Fire brick clay and glass sand rock is found in large quantities in the southern portion of the county in the coal region.

TIMBER.—The county was originally covered with an immense growth of timber. Along the principal streams in the valleys the white pine predominated. On the rolling land hemlock attended with swails of beach, maple, birch, cherry, chestnut, oak and hickory was found. It is estimated that from the organization of the county in 1804 up to the year 1865, that one thousand million feet of white pine lumber was cut and marketed at an average price of about seven dollars and fifty cents per thousand, the citizens of Tioga County thus receiving about seven million five hundred thousand dollars for their white pine lumber, up to twenty years ago. What pine was then left was mostly owned by large and strong companies, who have received at the rate of about eighteen or twenty dollars per thousand for the pine they have sold. The market which the early lumbermen of Tioga County sought was the southern, and was reached by the waters of Pine Creek, Cowanesque, Tioga, Chemung and Susquehanna rivers, thus making the rafting and floating of lumber upon the bosom of these waters a great and exciting industry. About twenty years ago the hemlock lumber, or rather the hemlock became an object of considerable attention, on account of the value of its bark for tanning purposes. At first the hemlock was felled and the bark peeled from it and taken to the tanneries, the trunk suffered to remain in many instances in the woods to decay where it laid. By and by architects tested its strength and found that it was a valuable timber for building purposes, and a market for it soon sprung up. But the demand for the bark now exceeds the demand for hemlock lumber. Of this we shall write more fully under the head of tanning. The oak, hickory and chestnut are substantially gone, while here and there remain tracts of beech, maple, yellow birch and black birch, with cherry interspersed. But these lands are chiefly owned by Mining and Tannery Companies, and are not to any great extent in the hands of individuals. The Mining Companies of the county are owners of about seventy-five thousand acres of timbered and coal land; the Tanning Companies about forty thousand acres of timbered land, other companies about twenty-five thousand, making a grand total of about one hundred and forty thousand acres in the hands of a very few. The remainder of the timber land consists of small tracts, which are principally owned by those who desire them for their own use, or perhaps to carry on the business of lumbering upon a small scale.

PIONEERS.—The pioneers in the settlement of Tioga County were generally men of intelligence. They came from all sections of the country, from Southern Pennsylvania, from Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, determined to make themselves a home in a land, which for centuries before 1784 had been in possession of the six nations of Indians. Their hardships and privations were many, yet inspired by the salubrity of the climate, the grandure of the forest scenery and the productiveness of the soil, the beautiful springs, rivulets, creeks and rivers, the abundance of game, they pursued their labors with untiring zeal and energy, and many of them lived to a ripe old age, and saw ere they slept with their fathers, where once the forest was unbroken, fields of waving grain and pastures green, the cabin torn down, and the comfortable farm house erected in its place, the rough corduroy wagon road, supplanted by the railroad with its iron horse and tireless energy, the post boy on horse back, yielding to the postal car, or telegraph. The names of the pioneers will appear in their respective villages, townships or borough histories.

SELECTION OF COUNTY SEAT, ETC.—In the year 1806, Wellsboro was selected as the county seat of Tioga County, and in the year 1813 the first court was held, Hon. J. Bannister Gibson, Circuit Judge, presiding. The court was held in a log house facing the public square. Pursuant to an act of the Legislature of March 14th, 1814, Hopestill Beecher, Timothy Ives and Ambrose Millard on the 6th of October 1814, apportioned the County into six districts for Justices of the Peace. The first district was composed of the township of Delmar, and contained eighty-seven taxables. Daniel Kelley was the Justice of the Peace. The second district was composed of Deerfield, and contained sixty-three taxables. The third district was composed of the township of Elkand, with seventy-nine taxables, with Dorman Bloss, Justice of the Peace. The fourth and fifth district was composed of the township of Tioga (then embracing what is now divided into a dozen or more townships) and William Rose, Justice of the Peace with one hundred and thirty-nine taxables. The sixth district was composed of the township of Covington, from which also a dozen townships have been formed, then containing ninety-five taxables, Daniel Lamb and Elijah Putnam being the Justices. The total number of taxables at that time in the county were four hundred and sixty-three.

OFFICERS.

COUNTY OFFICERS—Representatives.—John Ryon, 1822; James Ford, 1824; Curtis Parkhurst, 1827; John Beecher, 1829; Samuel W. Morris, 1831. (Tioga and Bradford Counties at that time composed one representative District, and in 1835 Doct Bullock and Israel Meyers, both of Bradford County were elected for the district). William Garretson, 1836. In 1838 Tioga and Potter Counties were a representative district, Lewis B. Cole, of the latter named county was chosen. John Wakeley, 1840; Daniel L. Sherwood, 1841; George Knox, 1843; John C. Knox, 1845; N. A. Elliott, 1847; James Black, 1849-51; J. J. Monroe, 1850; James Lowrey, 1852; Thomas

L. Baldwin, 1854; L. T. Williston, 1856; B. B. Strang, 1860; S. B. Elliott, 1861; C. O. Bowman, 1862; John W. Guernsey, 1863; William T. Humphrey, 1865; Jerome B. Niles, 1868; John I. Mitchell, 1871; C. V. Elliott, 1876; Hugh Young, 1876, served one year and resigned, and Benjamin Dorrance elected to fill vacancy; Charles Tubbs, 1880; Jerome B. Niles, 1880.

STATE SENATORS.—John Ryon, 1824; Daniel L. Sherwood, 1846, elected speaker; John W. Guernsey, 1852-3; Stephen F. Wilson, 1862-3; B. B. Strang, 1871-76; Charles H. Seymour, 1877-78.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.—James Ford, 1828-30; Samuel W. Morris, 1836; Stephen F. Wilson, 1864; Henry Sherwood, 1870; John I. Mitchell, 1876; Congressman at large, Mortimer F. Elliott, 1883.

UNITED STATES SENATOR.—John I. Mitchell, 1881.

Smith, 1881 ; James E. Peters, 1878-81 , C. M. Rumsey and John J. Reese, 1881 ; William Kimble, W. H. Baxter and John Karr, 1884.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF SCHOOLS.—The supervision of the common schools by County Superintendents, commenced in the year 1854. Superintendents are chosen by a convention of school directors of the various townships and boroughs of the county. The term of office is three years. They have been Rev. N. L. Reynolds, Rev. J. F. Calkins, H. C. Johns, S. B. Price, Elias Horton, Jr., Miss Sarah I. Lewis and M. F. Cass. An election takes place in the month of May 1885.

JUDGES OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, who have resided in Tioga County.—Hon. Robert G. White, two terms from 1851 to 1871 ; Henry W. Williams, additional Law Judge from 1865 to 1871, President Judge from 1871 to 1881, re-elected in 1881, term expires in 1891 ; Judge Stephen F. Wilson, appointed additional Law Judge in 1871 to fill the vacancy occasioned by the promotion or election of Judge Williams to the office of President Judge—elected additional Law Judge in 1872 and served until the year 1882.

MEMBERS OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTIONS.—Robert G. White, 1837 ; Mortimer F. Elliott and Jerome B. Niles, 1873.

COURT AND BAR OF TIOGA COUNTY.—President Judge—Hon. Henry W. Williams. Associate Judges—Hon. Harvey Lamkin, Hon. George H. Baxter. Prothonotary or Clerk of the Court—Gen. Robert C. Cox. Clerk of Orphan's Court—George C. Bowen. District Attorney—J. H. Matson.

ASSOCIATE JUDGES—Since the organization of the courts of the county the Associate Judges have been : Samuel Morris and Ira Kilbourn from 1813 to 1830 ; since that time John Ryon, Curtis Parkhurst, Jonah Brewster, Simeon Power, Levi J. Nichols, Edwin Dyer, J. C. Whittaker, Abel Humphrey, Victor Case, Royal Wheeler, Charles F. Velle, E. T. Bentley, L. B. Smith, D. McNaughton, John F. Donaldson, M. K. Retan, Peter VanNess. George H. Baxter and Harvey Lamkin. Present incumbents, George H. Baxter and Harvey Lamkin.

BAR OF TIOGA COUNTY.—Some of the most distinguished men in the state have been members of the Tioga County bar, and have filled places of distinction and honor, such as Judges of the Supreme Court, Attorney-Generals, Members of Congress and United States Senators, and Auditor Generals. The present members are.

Wellsboro.—Hon. Henry Sherwood, Walter Sherwood, Mortimer F. Elliott, F. Watrous, Jerome B. Niles, Henry M. Foote, George W. Merrick, S. F. Channell, Alfred J. Shattuck, John I. Mitchell, David Cameron, Jeff. Harrison, John N. Bache, D. L. Deane, Robert C. Simpson, Thomas Allen, A. L. Ensworth, John W. Mather, J. H. Matson, A. S. Brewster, Hugh Young, Ezra B. Young, L. P. Williston, Horace B. Packer, Stephen F. Wilson, Herbert Huntington, Burt M. Potter, Clark W. Beach.

Mansfield.—Henry Allen, Frank W. Clark, John W. Adams.

Tioga.—A. Redfield, F. E. Smith, H. L. Baldwin, Norman H. Ryon.

Lawrenceville.—Wallace P. Ryon, Horace M. Darling.

Blossburg.—John C. Horton, G. P. Smith.

Millerton.—Samuel Kirkendall.

Elkland.—John S. Ryon, Robert T. Wood.

Knorville.—John T. Geer.

Westfield.—D. W. Baldwin, M. L. Foster.

ROADS.—In 1792, General Williamson, under the immediate supervision of Robert and Benjamin Patterson, caused a road to be constructed from Northumberland via Williamsport, Trout Run, Block House and Blossburg down the Tioga valley to Painted Post, thence up the Conhocton River to Bath.

In 1806, the Legislature of the state passed an act, authorizing the building of a road from the Moosic Mountains in Luzern to Towanda, thence via of Troy, Covington, Wellsboro to Coudersport. By a supplement to this act, the road was authorized to be continued westward to Smethport and Warren thence to Erie. The road through Tioga County was completed in the year 1809.

A road was constructed very early in the history of the county from Newberry in Lycoming County near Williamsport via Englishtown, Babbs Creek to Wellsboro.

After the county was completely organized, roads were constructed in various sections, as necessity required, and they were succeeded by the laying out of the township roads.

RAILROADS.—At the session of the Pennsylvania Legislature held in 1826, a "General Improvement Act" was passed. About this time action was taken by enterprising citizens of Tioga County for the formation of a navigation Company. Prominent among these citizens was Hon. Samuel W. Morris of Wellsboro. A charter was obtained and by successive supplements the navigation company obtained the right to construct a railroad from Blossburg to the state line at Lawrenceville. Another company was formed in the state of New York, with power to construct a railroad from where the flourishing village of Corning now is to Lawrenceville, and intersect or connect with the railroad to be constructed by the citizens of Pennsylvania. These railroads were constructed and completed in the year 1840, and were first known as "The Corning and Blossburg Railroad." The road bed was graded, and flat rails of iron spiked upon timbers. The road was in operation about thirteen years, when new companies were formed, and the strap or flat rail taken up, and a T rail put in its place. The Hon. John Magee and his co-adjutors operated and owned that portion of the railroad situated in the state of New York, and a company whose principal stockholders were residents of Philadelphia, Pa., operated and controlled that portion situated in Pennsylvania. The length of the road was, in New York fifteen miles, in Pennsylvania twenty-five miles, total, forty miles. In 1854 four miles of railroad were constructed from Blossburg to Morris Run, where mines of semi-bituminous coal was opened. Col. Pharon Jarret, of Lock Haven, was the engineer of the latter road, and Col. W. E. Fox, of Towanda, engineer of the road constructed in 1840. In 1866, a railroad four miles in length, reaching from Blossburg to the present village of Arnot was constructed. In 1876, about twenty miles of railroad was constructed from Elmira, N. Y., intersecting the old Blossburg road in the township of Lawrence. All the roads, excepting the one from Lawrenceville to Corning, is now known as "The Tioga and Elmira State Line Railroad," and is operated by the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company, of New York. In the year 1859, a railroad was constructed by the Fall Brook Coal Company, Hon. John Magee, president, from Blossburg to the present borough of Fall Brook, a distance of about seven miles. In 1872, a railroad was constructed by the Fall Brook Coal Company, from Lawrenceville via Tioga, Hollidays, Middlebury, Niles Valley, Stokesdale, Wellsboro; Round Top, to where the present mining town of Antrim is located. In the year 1872-3, a railroad was also constructed from Lawrenceville, via of Nelson up the Cowanesque river to Elkland, a distance of about twelve miles. This road, about ten years afterwards, was extended westward up the Cowanesque valley via Academy Corners, Osceola, Knoxville, Cowanesque; Westfield to Harrison Valley in Potter County.

In the years 1882-3 a railroad was constructed from Stokesdale down Marsh Creek to Ansonia on Pine Creek, thence down Pine Creek to Jersey Shore, thence down the west branch of the Susquehanna to Williamsport, connecting with the Philadelphia and Reading lines. This road is under the management of the Fall Brook Coal Company, and is known as the Jersey Shore and Pine Creek railroad. Hon. Henry Sherwood of Wellsboro is the President of this road.

In the year 1882 a railroad was built from Arnot to Hoytville, a distance of fourteen miles, known as the Arnot and Pine Creek railroad. It connects at Arnot with the Tioga and Elmira State Line R. R., and is under the same management as that railroad.

Also during the year 1882 a narrow gauge railroad was constructed from Addison, Steuben County, New York, into the Cowanesque Valley, Tioga County, Pa., touching Nelson, Elkland, Academy Corners, Osceola, Knoxville, Westfield, thence south up Mill Creek to Sabinsville, and down Long Run to Gaines on Pine Creek, with a branch ascending the mountains to Gurnee, a mining town owned by the Gaines Coal and Coke Company. This line during the year 1884 was extended up Pine Creek to Pike Mills or Galetton, a distance of five miles. The length of the entire line now is about forty-six miles.

CORNING, COWANESQUE AND ANTRIM RAILROAD, OFFICERS.—George J. Magee, President ; Daniel Beach, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer ; Anton Hardt, Chief Engineer ; Alonzo H. Gorton, General Superintendent. Directors, George J. Magee, Daniel Beach, Alfred L. Edwards and Henry Sherwood.

PINE CREEK RAILWAY, OFFICERS.—Henry Sherwood, President ; George J. Magee, Vice President ; William Howell, Secretary ; Cornelius Vanderbilt, Treasurer ; Anton Hardt, Chief Engineer. Directors, George J. Magee, William H. Vanderbilt, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew, William Howell, E. G. Schieffelin, Walter Sherwood, Jefferson Harrison, Jerome B. Niles, Anton Hardt, John W. Bailey and Henry Sherwood.

TIOGA AND ELMIRA STATE LINE RAILROAD, OFFICERS.—John King, President ; R. B. Cable, Superintendent ; C. C. Drake, Secretary and General Agent ; D. S. Drake, Treasurer.

ARNOT AND PINE CREEK RAILROAD, OFFICERS.—Levi H. Shattuck, President ; David S. Drake, Secretary and Treasurer.

ADDISON AND NORTHERN PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, OFFICERS.—Hon. Thomas C. Platt, President ; William Brookfield, Vice-President ; William C. Sheldon, Treasurer ; James E. Jones, Secretary ; Frank M. Baker, General Superintendent ; H. C. Hitchcock, Auditor ; James P. Wright, Road-Master.

MINING OF SEMI-BITUMINOUS COAL.—As early as 1792, when Robert and Benjamin Patterson were conducting General Williamson's party of five hundred German and English emigrants or settlers to the Pultney estate in New York, they discovered coal in the mountains, within the present borough limits of Blossburg. In the year 1806, Aaron Bloss removed from Covington to "Peter's Camp," a camp made by the Williamson party in 1792, erecting an inn where he entertained travelers who were journeying upon the Williamson road between Painted Post, Williamsport and Northumberland. This inn was situated in the southern portion of the present borough of Blossburg. Mr. Bloss opened up in a rude manner the vein of coal near his dwelling or inn and at about the same time Clemmons, who resided about two and a half miles north of Mr. Bloss opened up a vein of coal situated in the northeastern portion of the present borough of Blossburg. From these small and temporary openings has the immense coal trade of the Blossburg semi-bituminous coal been brought about. We have not the space to enter into all the details in relation to the development of the trade, but must content ourselves with a concise and brief statement of the leading facts.

The finding of the coal in such quantities, was the main-spring which set in motion the construction of the Blossburg and Corning Railroad in 1837 which was completed in 1840. Its existence also had much to do in influencing the Legislature of New York to pass an act for the digging of the Chemung Canal and Feeder, which was completed in 1833. After the completion of the Blossburg and Corning Railroad in 1840, the Arbon Coal Company opened up the mines upon the Clemmons property at Blossburg, and commenced the shipment of coal. They shipped from 1840 to 1843, 49,633 tons. The mines then passed into the hands of William M. Mallory & Co., who from 1844 to 1856 shipped 405,116 tons; D. S. Magee then became the operator and shipped 78,996 tons, making a total of 533,745 tons taken from the Blossburg mines for shipment by rail.

In 1852 mines were opened at Morris Run, an account of which will appear in the history of that place. Mines were opened at Fall Brook in 1859, and shipment commenced. Mines were also opened at Arnot in 1866, and at Antrim in 1869-70 and shipment commenced in 1872. Mines of semi-bituminous coal were opened at Gurnee, in the township of Gaines in the year 1882, and shipment per rail commenced in the year 1883.

The total amount of coal mined and shipped to market since the year 1840 from Tioga County up to January 1st, 1885, is about in round numbers sixteen million five hundred thousand tons.

GLASS MANUFACTURING.—There are two well conducted window glass manufactories, one located in Blossburg and one in Covington. They are now both operated by Hirsch, Ely & Co., upon the co-operative plan. The Blossburg glass manufactory was erected in the year 1847, by William Dezang of Geneva, and the one at Covington several years later. The sand rock suitable for the manufacture of glass exists in inexhaustible quantities in the southern portion of the county. The history of the manufacture of glass in Tioga County will more fully appear in the histories of Blossburg and Covington.

TANNERIES—The tanning of sole leather in the County of Tioga has assumed grand proportions within the past few years. To give the reader an idea of the magnitude of its business, we would state, that it takes the hemlock bark from one hundred and eighty million feet of hemlock timber to supply the annual demand of the tanneries of the county. The value of the products of the tanneries is counted by the million.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.—There are two flourishing agricultural societies in existence in the county—one holding its annual exhibition and fair at Wellsboro and one at Mansfield. These will be more fully described in the history of those boroughs.

INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING.—From the early settlement of Tioga County to the present, great interest has been manifested by the citizens of the county in the establishment and maintenance of suitable institutions of learning, whether it was at a time when a few neighbors joined and erected a log school house, or whether it was in the establishment of an academy, graded or normal school, with facilities for imparting knowledge commensurate with the wants of the public.

As early as 1817 an academy was established at Wellsboro and some of the most prominent and intelligent men in the county selected as trustees. Pursuant to an act of incorporation of March 25th, 1817, Ambrose Millard, Daniel Lamb, William Bache, John Norris, Nathan Niles, Jr., Asa Mann, Alpheus Cheeney, John Knox, Joseph McCormick, Isaac Baker, Samuel W. Morris, Eddy Howland, Robert Tubbs, Uri Spencer, William D. Bacon, Nathan Rowley, Jr., James Gray and Justus Dartt were appointed trustees and received from the state an endowment of two thousand dollars. The academy erected then remained in use until a few years ago, when it was superseded by the elegant graded school.

Tioga County was among the first counties in the state to accept the provisions of the common school act of 1834.

SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' SCHOOL.—The Soldiers' Orphans' School was established at Mansfield, October 1st, 1867, under the direction of the State Superintendent of Soldiers' Orphans' School, and Prof. F. A. Allen, the late eminent scholar and teacher, appointed principal. The school opened at first with only twenty-five students, but increased in usefulness and numbers until there were about two hundred pupils, sons and daughters of deceased soldiers, and children of indigent soldiers who were not able to give their children suitable educational advantages elsewhere. Prof. Allen was untiring in his efforts for nearly thirteen years in looking after their educational and moral training. The writer of this sketch has frequently visited the institution, while it was under the direction of Prof. Allen, and was pleased beyond expression, witnessing the paternal care exercised by the late Professor over these wards of the old Keystone state. The Professor was very fortunate in his selections of assistants, and was ably seconded by Mrs. Allen and his corps of teachers. After the death of Professor Allen, which occurred February 11th, 1880, his widow became the head of the institution, which position she still occupies. Prof. Vine R. Pratt, for nearly fifteen years was one of the principal teachers and managers in the institution. In the year 1872, a farm consisting of about one hundred and fifty acres, located upon the west side of the Tioga river, about half a mile from the school, was purchased, and where the boys are given lessons in practical farming. Prof. Allen was practical in his teaching, and aimed to give these orphans an education, which would enable them to gain a livelihood after they should pass from under his care. Hundreds will point to him as their best friend.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.—On the 11th of December, 1862, the State Normal School for the fifth district of Pennsylvania was established. The building for several years previous had been used as a seminary of learning under the auspices of the M. E. Church. Its history as a seminary is eventful and marked by a heroic struggle of its founders. When the aid of the state was called in, its friends disappointed in some degree, nevertheless joined heartily in making it a success as a State Normal School. It was financially embarrassed and the sheriff was at its door. By an united effort on the part of its friends, appropriations were secured, which placed it temporarily out of danger and finally after years of financial difficulties it was placed upon a solid foundation; new and additional buildings were erected commensurate with its requirements. To enumerate all its friends would be to write the names of every citizen in the borough of Mansfield, township of Richmond and surrounding country. There are however names which deserve especial mention and which it would be rank injustice not to write out. We therefore name, J. S. Hoard, Dr. J. P. Morris, P. M. Clark, W. C. Ripley, A. Bixby, R. B. Buttler, John Voorhes, B. M. Bailey, A. J. Ross, Phillip Williams, Hon. Simon B. Elliott, Rev. W. Cochran, C.

W. Bailey, Prof. F. A. Allen, Mart King, John Murdaugh, Daniel Pitts, Capt. A. M. Pitts, Alvin Gaylord, William Hollands, R. Videan, Jr., Hon. John Magee, the latter not only lending it money, but presenting it with $3,332.50, Col. N. A. Elliott, A. M. Spencer, Dr. C. V. Elliott, E. Burley, R. C. Shaw, J. P. Bennett, T. J. Berry, J. C. Howe, J. A. Fellows, L. Beach, Jr., Rev. N. L. Reynolds, Prof. J. C. Doane, Lemuel Ammerman, Jr., Rev. J. N. Fradenburg, Prof. Charles M. Verrill, John H. French, who devoted their time, money and influence to the building up the walls of the institution and giving it a reputation.

Prof. F. A. Allen was chosen principal in May, 1864, and remained at the head of the institution for five years, or until 1869, when Prof. J. T. Streit was chosen. His health did not permit him in assuming the active duties of the position. He died soon after being selected as principal, and Prof. Charles H. Verrill assumed the position, which he occupied with honor for four years, and was succeeded by Prof. J. N. Fradenburg, who retained the position for two years, when Prof. Verrill again was chosen principal and served in that capacity for two years, when Prof. F. A. Allen, whom the people regarded as the father of the school, again resumed the principalship and was acting in that capacity when his last illness and death occurred, Feb. 11th, 1880. Since the death of Prof. Allen, Prof. D. C. Thomas has been at the head of the school. The first graduating class was in 1866. The total number of graduates up to this date (1885) is about five hundred.

It is one of the most prosperous schools of the kind in the state. It is the only State Normal School in Northern Pennsylvania. The grounds, buildings, furniture, library and cabinet, have cost about one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars.

PATRIOTISM.—During the late rebellion, no county in the Commonwealth according to the population, did more nobly than Tioga. It sent forth to battle over two thousand soldiers and the various townships and boroughs raised four hundred thousand dollars for bounties and the county about six hundred thousand dollars, making in round numbers one million dollars ($1,000,000.00.) No portion of this vast amount remains unpaid.

TOWNSHIPS AND BOROUGHS.—There are twenty-eight townships and twelve boroughs in the county of Tioga. The following will show when they were organized and from what territory taken :

Tioga from Lycoming, in 1808 ; Delmar from Lycoming, in 1808 ; Deerfield from Delmar, in 1814 ; Elkland (this township no longer exists), 1814 ; Covington from Tioga, in February, 1815 ; Jackson from Tioga, in September, 1815 ; Sullivan from Covington, in February, 1816 ; Lawrence from Tioga and Elkland, in December, 1816 ; Charleston from Delmar, in December, 1820 ; Westfield from Deerfield, in December, 1821 ; Middlebury from Delmar and Elkland, in September, 1822 ; Liberty from Delmar and Covington, in February, 1823 ; Shippen from Delmar, in February, 1823 ; Richmond from Covington, in February, 1824 ; Morris from Delmar, in September, 1824 ; Rutland from Jackson and Sullivan, in February, 1828 ; Chatham from Deerfield, in February, 1828 ; Farmington from Elkland, in February, 1830 ; Union from Sullivan, in February, 1830 ; Gaines from Shippen, in March, 1838 ; Bloss from Covington, in June, 1841 ; Clymer from Westfield and Gaines, in December, 1850; Ward from Sullivan and Union, in February, 1852; Elk from Delmar and Morris, in February, 1856; Osceola from Elkland, in December, 1854; Nelson from Elkland, in December, 1857; Hamilton from Bloss, in December, 1872; Duncan from Delmar, Charleston and Morris, in December, 1873; Wellsboro from Delmar, in May, 1830; Lawrenceville from Lawrence, in May, 1831; Covington from Covington, in May, 1831; Elkland from Elkland, in May 1850; Knoxville from Deerfield, in May, 1851; Mansfield from Richmond, in February, 1857; Mainesburg from Sullivan, in February, 1859; Tioga from Tioga, in February, 1860; Fall Brook from Wood, in August, 1864; Westfield from Westfield, in January, 1867; Blossburg from Bloss, in August, 1871; Roseville from Rutland, in February, 1876.

Brookfield Township.

Brookfield Township was organized Feb., 1827, taken from the northern portion of Westfield township. It is situated in the extreme northwestern portion of Tioga County, Pa., and bounded on the north by Steuben County, New York; on the east by the township of Deerfield, Pa.; on the south by Westfield, and on the west by Potter County, Pa. Its mean elevation above tide is about 1,550. Its largest stream is Troop's Creek, which flows eastward and southward, emptying into the Cowanesque river at Knoxville, Pa. It is well watered by springs, rivulets and brooks, and is fast gaining a position as an agricultural township. Its early settlers were Bedford George, Titus Ives, Elihu Hill, and Curtis Cady, who located with their families within the present limits of the township, about the year 1809. They were followed by John Joseph, Ira Baker, Amos Baker, John Brown, Godfrey Bowman, Luman Seeley, Simeon Lewis, Benjamin Seeley, Asahel Nobles, William George, J. B. Seeley, William Simmons, Azel Nobles, Samuel Baker. These settlers came principally from the state of New York. They endured many privations and hardships in clearing up their farms and making themselves homes in the wilds of northern Pennsylvania. Several times when the water was low in the Cowanesque and Tioga rivers, they were obliged to go to Painted Post to get their milling done—a distance of about fifty miles. The forests were full of wild animals, and much trouble and annoyance were experienced by the settlers, from them. The deer however, were plenty, and in season, they were certain of an abundance of meat, which they preserved by drying and smoking. It was suitable medical attendance, sugar, tea, coffee and calico, and the thousand and one articles which go to make life agreeable that they were deprived of. But they persevered, and others took courage from their example; the forest was cut down, comfortable and elegant dwellings were erected, and the fields of waving grain, soft meadows, and green pastures, where herds of cattle and sheep are grazing, are the fruits of their perseverance and their triumph over the rugged hand of nature.

- Titus Ives erected the first framed house in Brookfield.
- William Simmons was the first merchant in Brookfield.
- The first orchard in Brookfield township was set out by Elihu Hill.
- The first road in the township of Brookfield was the "North Road."
- The first church edifice erected in the township was in the year 1858.
- The first justices of the peace were Titus Ives and Godfrey Bowman.
- Men worked for a yard of calico per day in the early settlement of Brookfield.
- The first tavern or public house erected in the township was by William Corwin, in 1853.
- Rev Thomas Magee held the first religious services in the township. He was a Methodist.
- Rev. Nathan Fellows held a series of revival meetings in the year 1836, making many conversions.
- The Free Will Baptists effected a church organization in 1840, and 1861 a church edifice was erected,
- The first school in the township was taught by Asa Bushnell, in the year 1817, at the house of Curtis Cady.
- Close Communion Baptists organized a church May, 25th, 1848, and erected a church edifice in 1859; first meeting June, 1860.
- The first marriage in the township was that of William Simmons and Mary A. Brown. Simmons was about sixteen years of age,
- The first church, (M. E. Church) was organized in 1818. Ira Baker, Amos Baker, Samuel Baker, John Joseph, Azel Nobles and their wives, were among the first members. Hannah Joseph, Deborah Joseph, Curtis Cady, were also members.
- The Rev. Samuel Conant taught the first school in the first school house erected in the township. The school house was a log one, with desks and seats made from split boards of basswood. Anna VanCamp and Luman Seeley were his successors.
- William and John Simmons were for many years justices of the peace in the western portion of the township ; John G. Holmes many years in the eastern portion.

—A cheese factory was erected by Wood & McBride in 1866.

—The first mowing machines used in the township were owned by William Simmons and D. W. Nobles.

Bloss Township.

The original limits of the township of Bloss have been so materially lessened by the formation of the borough of Blossburg in the year 1871, and the township of Hamilton in December, 1872, that substantially the inhabitants of Bloss township are to be found in the village of Arnot. The township of Bloss was formed in the year 1841, and taken from the southern portion of the township of Covington. Of the portion which now remains of the township we shall proceed to write, giving the early history of the township in connection with the borough of Blossburg.

The Blossburg Coal Company obtained its charter by an act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, approved April 11th, 1866. The company consisted of Constant Cook, John Arnot, Charles Cook, Henry Sherwood, Franklin N. Drake, Ferral C. Dininny, Henry H. Cook and Lorenzo Webber. Hon. Constant Cook, John Arnot, Charles Cook, Henry Sherwood and Lorenzo Webber are dead, and of the original corporators, only three survive, viz: Franklin N. Drake, Ferral C. Dininny and Henry H. Cook.

The Blossburg Coal Company immediately after obtaining their charter commenced the construction of a railroad from Blossburg southwest up Johnson Creek to their coal lands, a distance of about four miles. This railroad was completed during the year 1866. While the road was being constructed the opening up of the mines was carried on with activity. A saw mill was erected and the construction of dwellings, shops, schutes, stores, offices, etc. were hurriedly built. For a time this new coal town was known as Drakeville, in honor of Franklin N. Drake, the executive manager of the company ; but it was finally christened "Arnot" in honor of Hon. John Arnot, Sr., of Elmira.

In 1867 Mr. Franklin N. Drake removed from Steuben County, New York to Blossburg, in order to be near the work. He was for many years the President of the Company and Ferral C. Dininny, Superintendent. Under his management (F. N. Drake's), churches and schools were erected. He demonstrated the feasibility of making coke from semi-bituminous coal, causing two hundred coke ovens to be constructed under the immediate direction of S. B. Elliott, civil and mining engineer.

The first inhabitants were principally from Blossburg, Morris Run and Fall Brook, men who had been engaged in mining or lumbering at those places. The Dunsmares, Sullivans, Landrus, Camerons, Herons, Jones, Davis's, Coles, Allens, Harrisses, Logans, Dugans, had formerly been employed by either the Morris Run Coal Company or the Fall Brook Coal Company.

—There are four schools in Arnot.

—Arnot contains about 3,000 inhabitants.

—For many years the citizens of Arnot maintained a reading room.

—Fred Wingrave has been employed many years by the company.

—Arnot contains five church edifices and seven church organizations.

—The company own a steam fire engine which is housed near a reservoir of water.

—November 28th, 1880, coal washer destroyed by fire at Arnot. Loss about $20,000.

—Col. W. F. Fox was for many years cashier at Arnot, handling large sums of money.

—William Harris made the first coke in open pits at Arnot before coke ovens were constructed.

—Mr. Jason Higgins has served the company in the capacity of store agent for many years successively.

—In May, 1884, destructive fire in the woods surrounding Arnot. Seven-teen buildings were destroyed in Arnot.

—Among the teachers were R. E. Howland and wife, S. A. Gaskill, Frederic L. Gray, Mrs. David McIntyre.

—The Blossburg Coal Company are engaged largely in lumbering, having three mills whose total capacity is 30,000,000 feet.

—When F. N. Drake was president of the company he gave the miners and their families a free ride to Elmira and return.

—The site of Arnot was covered with a dense growth of timber, when the Blossburg Coal Company commenced operations in 1866.

—Since the mines were opened up to date there has been mined and shipped over four million tons of coal and about three hundred thousand tons of coke.

—The population of Arnot is composed of a very great number of different nationalities, among whom are native Americans, English, Irish, Scotch, Welsh, Swede, Poles and Germans. They live very peacefully together.

—Henry J. Landrus has been the active manager at the mines at Arnot for the past three years. He served several years before in the same capacity and resigned, S. B. Elliott, taking his place. Mr. Elliott after several years resigned and Mr. Landrus again accepted the position.

—The Blossburg Coal Company purchased the Tioga railroad, extending from Blossburg to Lawrenceville and from Blossburg to Morris Run, which added to their own road made them the owners of thirty-four miles of first-class railroad. This was accomplished in the year 1867.

—Arnot contains "A Friendly Society," Ivorites, Catholic Temperance Association, Good Templars, Patrons of Temperance, Catholic Knights of America, Knights of Pythias. There are quite a number of Odd Fellows and Free Masons, but they are members of Blossburg lodges.

Chatham Township.

The early settlers of southern Deerfield township were great admirers of Lord Chatham, (William Pitt) and in February, 1828, they petitioned the court of Common Pleas of Tioga County, for the formation of a township to be taken from the southern portion of Deerfield township, to be known as "Chatham." The court answered their prayer, and the township of Chatham was duly organized; such organization to take effect in the year 1829. In the year 1829, Allen Fraser, Jr., assessor, returned to the county commissioners the first assessment for the new township. The names of the taxables were Cyrus Ames, Aaron Alba, James Allen, Francis Burrell, Alexander Burrell, Beersheba Bates, Asa Bates, Silas Billings, Daniel Baker, Martin Boardman, John Bates, Nathan Baker, Stephen Colvin Joel Crandall, Samuel Carpenter, Allen Fraser, Jr., Eddie Howland, Jr., Joseph Howland, John Knox, William Knox, David Lesure, John Macumber, Joseph Matson, David Seamens, Lovell Short, Samuel Strawn, John P. Tracey, Elijah Thompson, Samuel Taylor, Widow A. W. Tracey, William Wass, Joseph Yarnall.

Several of the above named was non-residents. The northern portion of the township facing the Cowaneseque valley was peopled by settlers who came in from New York by that route, and the southern and eastern portion by those who came up the Tioga and Crooked Creek valleys. The early settlers along the valley of Crooked Creek, were W. L. Merrick, William Spalding, Doctor Harvey Leach, John Short, Rensalaer Toles, Robert Hill, Asa Short, Nehemiah Beach, H. B. Leonard, David Lesure, George Hawley, Lovell Short, Daniel Hill. In the locality now known as the "Close District," were Caleb Close, Reuber Close, Charles Avery, Armand Close, Abel Close, Amasa Clark, Samuel Miller, John McCumber, William Wass, Russell Temple, Sylvester Treat, Benjamin VanDusen. Upon the south and central, were Benoni Hill, Z. Burdick, Frank Spencer, Aurora Spencer, Calvin Davis, Moses Wilhem, Joseph Wheeler, Whit Wheeler and Calvin Wheeler, Azariah Slocum, Samuel Main, Jesse Moffett, Artemus Crippin. At Shortsville, in Chatham township, the early settlers were Lovell Short, John Short, Jr., Miletus Brown, Peter Hoteling, Lemuel Jackson, James Gee, C. A. Carpenter. Other early settlers were Burdick Hill, Daniel Shoves, Asher Manning, Harlow Boyce, Ezra Allen, Phillip Erway, Samuel King, Winchester Cooper, Abram Wormer, Alexander Lattimer, John Winters, William Brong, James Doane, Daniel Doane, Jerry Garner. The township, like all the territory in Tioga County, was covered with a heavy growth of timber. Some of the finest pine in Tioga County, grew along Crooked creek and its tributaries in Chatham township, and in the early history of the township, lumbering was carried on extensively. Mr. John L. Sexton, Jr., in his history of Chatham, written for W. W. Munsell & Co., says: "Few of the present day appreciate the hardships and the privation of the pioneers, who forty or fifty years ago came into the wilderness and began clearing up new farms. These privations and hardships we have often alluded to in our general and township histories. In Chatham there was the same experience as elsewhere; conflicts with the panther, bear and wolf, and sport with the deer, elk and fish; the log house, the sheep or cattle fold, the clearing of fallows, the logging bees, the raisings, the social gatherings, the cutting out of roads, the erection of mills, school houses and churches, the humble fare, the rigid economy, sickness, deaths, marriages and births, and were we to relate them, it would form a section almost identical with those on other localities. The words 'pioneer,' and 'early settler,' convey to the mind of the readers all these experiences and lead them back to the times when this our land was new."

—The mean altitude of Chatham is about 1,500 feet above tide.

—The first saw mill was erected by Nehemiah Beach on "Nate Mead's" brook.

—Crooked creek is a tributary of the Tioga river, uniting with that stream at Tioga.

—Wheat, oats, corn, buckwheat, potatoes and the orchard fruits are grown with profit.

—The villages in Chatham township are Little Marsh, Shortsville and Keeneyville.

—Tobacco has been raised quite extensively in the valley of Crooked creek, in the township of Chatham.

—In point of agricultural wealth, Chatham stands twelfth out of a list of twenty-eight townships in Tioga County.

—There are fourteen schools in the township, where about five hundred pupils were instructed for seven months in the year.

—The principal stream in the township, is Crooked creek. Its principal tributaries are Norris brook and Nate Mead's brook.

Covington Township.

Covington township was formed from the township of Tioga, and originally contained the territory now chiefly composed of the township of Bloss and Blossburg Borough, Sullivan and Mainesburg Borough, Ward and the borough of Fall Brook, Union, Liberty and Morris. The earliest settler in the township was Aaron Bloss, who located in the township in the year 1801, and subsequently removed and founded Blossburg, five miles further up the Tioga river in the year 1806. The next early settlers were David Clemmons Hovey, Washburne, Mallory, Sackett, Levi Prentiss, John Patten, Tilley Marvin, J. Coonrod Youngman, Asahel Graves, Absalom Kingsbury, Isaac Walker, Peter Keltz, Sumner Wilson, Robert Searles, Samuel Negley, Christopher Huntington and Nathaniel Elliott.

The first assessment made by Ichabod Rowley to the county commissioners John Knox, Asa Mann and Elijah Depuy, when Covington contained the territory now embraced in some nine townships and five boroughs, showed the following list of taxable inhabitants, David Austin, Samuel Aldrich, Ebenezer Burley, David Burley, Alpheus Button, Joseph Bunn, Rufus Butler, Aaron Bloss, Gideon Briggs, Abner Cockran, Henry Campbell, John Cochran, Elijah Clark, Seth Clark, David Clemmons, Stillman Cannon Samuel Campbell, Levi Elliott, Eli Gitchell, Aaron Gillett, Charles Gillett, Asahel Graves, Josiah Graves, Levi Gifford, Noah Gifford, Samuel Higley, George Higley, Timothy Higley, Christopher Huntington, S. Huntington, John Keltz, Peter Keltz, Henry Knowlton, Absalom Kingsbury, Daniel Lamb, Henry Lamb, Gad Lamb, Minnard Lawrence, John Levergood, Silas Lamphear, Erastus Lillibridge, Jacob Miller, Richard Miller, George Mateer, John Marvin, Asa Mann, Samuel Negley, Thomas Overton, Elias Pratt, Rufus Pratt, William Patten, Levi Prentiss, Thomas Putman, Elijah Putman, Nathan Rowley, Nehemiah H. Ripley, Ichabod Rowley, Cephas Stratton, Thomas Sampson, Joshua Shaw, Amos Spencer, L. H. Spencer, Ichabod Smith, John Shaffer, Jonathan Sebring, Nathan Whitman, Isaac Walker, Archeluis Wilkins, Daniel Wilkins, Tilley Marvin, David Harkness, David Harkness Jr., Royal Walker, Lorrian Lamb, Seneca Stratton, William Merritt. Sullivan township was taken from Covington township in the year 1816, and returned to the county commissioners its assessment to them, by their assessor, James Gray, Jr., at the same time as Ichabod Rowley did that of Covington and that is the reason why the names of the taxables of the whole township of Covington as embraced in the above list does not appear. By referring to the list made by the Sullivan assessor, the reader will obtain a complete list of the taxables then (1817) in the territory now composed of Sullivan township, Rutland township, Mainsburg borough, Roseville borough, Fall Brook borough, Bloss township and borough, Hamilton, Ward, Union and Liberty townships.

—The Tioga and Elmira State Line Railroad runs across the township about centrally.

—Dr. Henry Kilbourne was one of the early and prominent physicians in Covington borough and township.

—Covington township has many acres of highly cultivated lands with elegant farm houses and good barns —Victor Gray, one of the first engineers on the Corning and Blossburg Railroad resides in the township of Covington.

—David Clemmens, a native of Hampshire County, Massachusetts, settled on the west side of the Tioga River in Covington township, in 1806.

—The early settlers on the Elk Run road were Alonzo Reddington, Jonathan Jennings, Isaac Bliss, father of the evangelist and Asahel Graves.

—Covington township is bounded on the north by Richmond township, on the east by Sullivan and Ward, on the south by Hamilton and Bloss and Blossburg borough and on the west by Charleston.

—Asahel Graves settled in 1817; Tilley Marvin in 1817; Sumner Wilson in 1818; Ephraim B. Gerould in 1822; Richard Videau in 1831; David Caldwell in 1836; John Copp, a native of Rhode Island was the first settler in "Copp Hollow."

—Settlers on the state road west of Covington borough were Norman Rockwell, Avery Gillett, Levi Elliott and Nathaniel Elliott. Matthew Skelley about forty-five years ago settled on the west side of the Tioga River; in the eastern portion of Covington the early settlers were Lyman Frost, James T. Frost, Samuel and Lewis Walker, Joseph Jacques, Peter Whittaker, Silas Lamphere, John Cleveland. Sumner Wilson and James Negley settled on the Williamson road about a mile and a half north of Covington borough.

Clymer Township.

From the year 1845 to 1869, William B. Clymer grandson of Hon. George Clymer a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was agent for the sale of the Bingham lands situated in Tioga, Potter, McKean and other northern counties of Pennsylvania, with his office or head quarters at Wellsboro.

Through his liberal offers many citizens of the state of New York, were induced to settle upon the Bingham lands in Tioga county. A large number of these New Yorkers located upon lands in the southern portion of the township of Westfield, Tioga county, along the valley of Mill Creek, a tributary of the Cowanesque, and upon the plateaus and hard wood ridges on the east and west sides of Mill Creek Valley and the head waters of Long Run and Potter Brook. These settlers in the years 1850 petitioned the court to form a township to be taken from the townships of Westfield and Gaines, to be named Clymer.

The court granted the request in the year 1850. The first annual assessment was in the year 1852. The taxables were John Ackley, Roswell Ackley, George Ackley, J. F. Allen, W. R. Burdick, Edmond Bristol, George O. Bristol, George Briggs, Francis Briggs, Levi Blue, Enos Babcock, John Brown, William Bradley, Willis Babcock, Washington Blue, Rockwell Bentley, Charles Burlingame, Hamilton Boardman, John Baty, Isaac Burnside, Seth Boothe, Benoi Boardman, Samuel Briggs, Hiram Burdick, J. B. Benn, William Benn, J. M. Bush, Squire Briggs, Isaac Beach, E. M. Brown, Thomas Barber, J. B. Beach, Henry Brigham, Sylvenus Coe, Eli Chapman, F. W. Calkins, George Cass, Samuel Carlin, C. D. —The Addison and Northern Pennsylvania Railroad, passes through the central portion of the township from north to south.

C. P. Douglass settled in Sabinsville in the year 1837. Orrin Stebbins and Elijah Hancock made settlements at about the same time.

—There are two church edifices in the township, Methodist church erected in the Ackley district in the year 1853. A Baptist church was erected in Sabinsville in 1879.

Charleston Township.

In the year 1820 the township of Charleston was formed. It was taken from the eastern side of the township of Delmar, and occupies a central position in the county of Tioga. It was originally covered with a heavy growth of timber embracing many varieties—hemlock, white pine, beach, maple, ash, cherry, white, yellow and black birch, chestnut and oak. It occupies elevated land between the Tioga, Charleston creek and Crooked creek valleys. Its pioneer settlers were principally from New York and the New England states. Its second pioneers on the south were from Wales. It is well watered, although occupying a mean elevation of fifteen hundred feet above ocean level. It is one of the most productive townships in the county, and is substantially “cleared up.” The prevailing pursuit of its inhabitants is agriculture. Its first assessment was made in the year 1821, by Nathan Niles, Jr., Oliver Willard, Hiram Beebe and Seth Daggett, commissioners; David Lindsay, commissioners’ clerk.

The names of the taxable inhabitants were A. Atherton, Caleb Austin, Rosel Bailey, Jesse Catlin, Nelson Catlin, William Catlin, Timothy Culver, Joseph Culver, Cyrus Catlin, Gideon Dewey, Justus Dartt, Justus Dartt, Jr., James G. Dartt, Daniel Dennison, John Dailey, Calvin Eli, Israel Greenleaf, Benjamin Gitchell, Frederic Hilbot, David Henry, James Henry, Nathan Niles, Jr., James Porter, Jr., Thomas Prentiss, Daniel Packer, Leonard Porter, John Porter, Elijah Starkweather, Peter Shumway, Benam Shumway, Vine Sager, John Starkweather, Adam Seeley, Thomas Sampson, Isaiah Wilson, Daniel Wilson, Moses Wheeler, Lyman Wetmore, Andrew Wetmore, Oliver Willard, Joseph Wilson, Orlando Willard, William Fanton, Cyrus Dartt, John Domine, John Lovell, James Pettis, William Hill. There were then less than fifty taxables. There is now over six hundred, with a population of about twenty-five hundred. The territory of Charleston sixty-five years ago, included not only its present boundaries but that of the present township of Duncan. The villages or hamlets in the township of Charleston, are Cherry Flats, Whitneyville, Dartt Settlement, Catlin Hollow, Hill’s Creek, Round Top and Welsh Settlement. The first settler of Cherry Flats was Timothy Culver. Timothy and Joseph Culver were early settlers in the “Welsh Settlement.” Thomas Evans, Lewis Lewis, Miles Harris, David G. Edwards, David Morris, were also pioneers in that locality. At Whitneyville the first settlers were Lemuel Churchill, Asa Churchill, T. and Solomon Rice. Whitneyville was named in honor of Nelson Whitney, an enterprising farmer, merchant and lumberman, who located there in 1848. During the late rebellion he raised a company and did distinguished service. Dartt Settlement obtained its name from the first settler, Colonel Justus Dartt, a soldier of the revolutionary war, who settled there in the year 1811. When he settled in Dartt settlement there were only eight other settlers in the township, viz: Moses Wheeler, Levi Elliot, Oliver Willard, — Shumway, Caleb Austin, Nathan Niles, Rosel Bailey and Timothy Culver.

—In 1837, Robert Pratt settled at Whitneyville.

—Norman Rockwell was the first post master at Cherry Flats.

- The first school in Charleston was opened at Dartt Settlement.
- In 1840, a Welsh Chapel was erected in the "Welsh Settlement."
- Tobacco is raised quite extensively on Col. Justus Dartt's old farm.
- The state road built in the year 1808 runs through Cherry Flats village.
- Aarol Gillett settled at Cherry Flats, Charleston township, in the year 1812.
- A lodge of Knights of Honor was established at Whitneyville, January 24th, 1881.

—Robert Adams, a native of Ireland, about the year 1840, settled on Hill's Creek.

—The first church edifice erected in Charleston township, was in Catlin Hollow, and the second in Dartt Settlement.

—About the year 1820, Lemuel Churchill erected a small tannary near Hill's Creek, in the northern portion of Charleston township.

—Col. Justus Dartt died July 5th, 1838, aged 81 years. His wife Hannah January 14th, 1844, aged 86 years. They are buried in the Dartt Settlement graveyard.

—The first election for the township of Charleston, was held at the house of Justus Dartt, March 19th, 1824. The first officers were, supervisors, Thomas Sampson and Royal Porter. David Henry and Oliver Willard were elected constables. Justus Dartt, and Daniel Wilson acted as judges of the election.

—The pioneer on Hill's Creek was Jacob Schleglein, who purchased several thousand acres in Lycoming and Tioga Counties and located on Hill's Creek in the year 1828. He was a physician but never practiced. Was acquainted with Aaron Burr, Santa Anna, Robert Fulton, Dewitt Clinton. He died at Tioga, December 27th, 1880, aged 87 years.

Dearfield Township.

Some of the very earliest settlements in Tioga County were made within the present limits of the township of Deerfield, upon the Cowanesque river near the mouth of Troops Creek. Patents were obtained for several warrants, located in this township from the state of Pennsylvania as early as 1785. It contains an area of nearly twenty one thousand acres. Its mean elevation is about 1500 feet above the ocean's level. It contains some of the richest alluvial soil in the state. It is bounded on the north by Steuben county New York, on the east by Osceola and Farmington in Pennsylvania, on the south by Chatham, on the west by the township of Brookfield. The Cowanesque river and Troops Creek are its principal streams. The Cowanesque river enters the township near its south western boundary and flows in a north easterly direction, and passing out of the township near the center of its north and south lines. It was formed from Delmar in the year 1814, and originally contained within its limits, territory which has since been organized into several townships and boroughs. At the organization of Deerfield township, there were only sixty three taxable inhabitants in the township containing an area of about 106,000 acres or a fraction over one seventh of the entire county of Tioga.

—Union Academy established in 1847.

—September 15th, 1843, great freshet in the Cowanesque river.

—Levi Cook had a blacksmith shop in 1809.
 —Rev. David Short became a settler in 1806.
 —In 1804 Eddy Howland erected a saw mill.
 —In 1801, Bethlehem Thompson became a settler.
 —Joshua Colvin erected a distillery in the year 1815.
 —John Knox built a hewed log hotel in the year 1819.
 —Eddy Howland established a store in the year 1814.
 —Eddy Howland erected a cider mill in the year 1817.
 —Butler or Chatham Baptist Church, organized in 1852.
 —First Baptist Church organized, (regular Baptist) in 1843.
 —Bethlehem Thompson erected a log grist mill in the year 1811.
 —Free Will Baptist Church of Deerfield organized in March, 1829.
 —Doctor Simeon settled in Deerfield in 1803, and remained about five years.
 —In 1803 Eddy Howland and John Howland, his father, made a settlement.
 —In 1842 William J. Knox built a store at Academy Corners, in Deerfield township.

—Martin Bowen erected a tannery in the year 1820. Peter Rushmore built a tannery the same year.

—The first settlers in Deerfield on the Cowanesque, were William Knox and Ebenezer Seelye in the year 1797.

—The first children born in Deerfield, were Sally Seelye, daughter of Ebenezer Seelye, and James Knox, son of William Knox.

—John Colton Knox was born in Deerfield, February, 1817; studied law and became one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

—In the year 1785 and 1786, James Strawbridge and Col. Thomas Proctor obtained patents from the Land Department of Pennsylvania, for lands in the Cowanesque Valley.

—In the year 1807 at sheriff's sale held at Williamsport, Pa., a nephew of James Strawbridge, George Strawbridge became the owner of the Strawbridge lands in Deerfield.

—In the year 1807, Emmer Bowen, Newberry Cloos, James Falkner, John Falkner, William Falkner, became settlers—also about the same time John Short, Reuben Short, Jonathan Rogers, Curtis Cady, James Yarnall, the latter from near Philadelphia, Zadoc Bowen and Joshua Colvin, became settlers.

—The first school taught in Deerfield township, was by Betsey Bodwell, in the year 1802. This school was in a log house. Among the scholars who attended the school were Reuben Cook, Ashael Rexford, Harvey Seelye, John Knox, David Rexford, Alanson Seelye, Archibald Knox, Abel Cloos, Anna Seelye, William Knox, Matilda Cloos, Mehetitable Seelye, Betsey Knox, Julius Seelye, Lucinda Seelye, Betsey Seelye.

Duncan Township and Village of Antrim.

Duncan township was formed from the townships of Delmar, Charleston and Morris, by a decree of the Court of Common Pleas held in and for Tioga County, at the December Term, in the year 1873, and Thomas Gaffney and E. H. Tremain were authorized to hold the first township election, February 17, 1874. At an election held pursuant to the above decree, Thomas Gaffney and E. H. Tremain were chosen supervisors; Isaac S. Marshall and J. Shumway justices of the peace; W. W. Lownsberry constable; William E. Butts assessor; and for school directors, David Cooper was elected for six years; A. Lake, six years; Dr. E. George, four years; W. P. Thomas, two years; Joseph Murray, two years; John Hinman was elected treasurer, and Thomas Farrer, auditor for one year; George W. Rice, for two years and Chas. G. Hinman for three years; Wm. W. Forrest, town clerk; Jerry Austin, judge of election, and Chas. Prothero, D. D. Holleday, inspectors of election; thus was the official machinery of the township put in motion. A greater portion of the lands in the township are owned by the Fall Brook Coal Company and the largest portion of its population is centered in the mining town of Antrim. The mean elevation of the township is about 1700 feet above sea level. It is situated in the southern central portion of Tioga county, about seven miles north of the Tioga and Lycoming county lines. Antrim the center of population of the township is a mining village containing about two thousand inhabitants, and the southern terminus of the Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim railroad. The streets are many of them graded and the village laid out in a systematic manner. Nearly all the dwellings are painted, and everything kept as clean and neat as it is possible in a mining town, in fact it is the model mining town of Pennsylvania.

—Antrim Hall, erected in 1879.

—James Pollock is the mining engineer.

—Antrim Lyceum organized December, 1879.

—David Cooper was the first master carpenter.

—John Hinman was the first store agent and cashier.

—The Antrim graded school dedicated in July, 1880.

—Methodist Episcopal class organized in April, 1874.

—William Howell, Jr., is now manager at the mines.

—Samuel Heron is the chief book keeper and paymaster.

—Workingmen's Benevolent Association, organized June, 1876.

—A Baptist Church was organized at Antrim, February 20th, 1873.

—The capacity of the Antrim coal mines is about 1,800 tons per day.

—Charles Hoff was the first weighmaster. John Forrest was a weighmaster for many years.

—Thomas Gaffney was the first mining boss at Antrim, and held the position at his death in 1884.

—Thomas Farrer held the position of manager of the mines from their opening in 1867, to 1883.

—James Ketchum was the first overseer of lumbering and outside work. He still retains the position.

—L. J. Stothoff the first station agent at Antrim, was killed by the cars at Antrim, February 15, 1877.

—Ella Cooper, Mary Hinman, Theodore P. Whiting, Frances Whiting in the order named were the first teachers at Antrim.

—In December, 1867, Titus Drainsfield moved his family into a shanty at Antrim which had formerly been used as a camp by the explorers.

—October 28th, 1872, first locomotive over the Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim Railroad entered Antrim. Joseph Boyle, engineer. John Wilson, conductor.

--Welsh Congregational Church, organized in 1876. Church completed in 1878, cost $1,104.46 of which the Fall Brook Coal Company donated half the amount.

—Explorations for coal were made by Thomas Farrer and John Smith employees of the Fall Brook Coal Company, in the year 1866, at Antrim. It was then a wilderness.

—Duncan Lodge, I. O. O. F., organized December 29th, 1879, Thomas Gaffney, Noble Grand; Isaac Cook, Vice Grand; George Makin, Recording Secretary; David Nichol, Assistant Secretary; William Young, Treasurer.

—In 1868 Duncan S. Magee christened the place Antrim. Hon. Daniel E. Howell, of Bath, Gen. George J. Magee, John Lang and Charles Crawford of Watkins, N. Y., Hon. Charles C. B. Walker and A. H. Gorton of Corning, John Magee, Jr., of Watkins, N. Y., S. S. Ellsworth, of Penn Yan, N. Y., Anton Hardt, John Smith, Thomas Farrer, R. F. Cummings, James Hoffman, of Fall Brook were present.

—Trinity Church organized by Dr. Charles Breck, of Wellsboro, at Antrim July 24th, 1872. Through the munificent bequest of John Magee, Jr., the Trinity Church edifice was erected and completed in the year 1881. It is built of cut stone and cost about $13,000. He provided in his will for the erection of five Episcopal Churches, whose total cost should not exceed $50,000. He died very suddenly of pneumonia, at Watkins, N. Y., April 26th, 1873, aged about 29 years.

—Thomas McMahon, A. J. Pollock, John Curran, David J. Davis, James Maloy, Andrew K. Fletcher, W. W. Forrest, Samuel Heron, William Howell, Jr., Simon Keating, Thomas Burton, James Gaffney, Charles Prothero, James Ketcham, James Pollock, Joseph Lodge, Charles Burgess, William B. James, D. M. Edwards, Thomas Gaffney, William Buckley, John Forrest, James Ketcham, Titus Drainsfield, Michael Keating, Sr., James Gardiner and Samuel Strong are old employees, some of them having been employed continuously by the Fall Brook Coal Company, for the past twenty years or more.

Delmar Township.

The act of the Legislature authorizing the formation of Tioga County from Lycoming County in the year 1804, was not fully complied with until the year 1813, when the first court was held at Wellsboro. The formation of the township of Delmar in the year 1808, was by the authority of the court of common pleas of Lycoming County and the assessment was not made and returned to the county of Lycoming until the year 1815. Tioga township was organized also by the same authority in 1808 and these two townships were the original townships from which the twenty-six other townships have been formed.

Delmar township is situated nearly in the geographical center of the county and its mean altitude is about 1,550 feet above tide. Its surface is diversified by valleys, hills and plateaus. It is supplied with living springs of water and numerous creeks. Pine Creek a stream navigable for rafts of lumber or timber during a freshet, washes its southwestern boundary. The early settlers in Delmar (before the borough of Wellsboro was formed) were from Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and Philadelphia. The first settlers in the township were Benjamin Wistar Morris, John Norris, David Lindsey, Alpheus Cheeney, David Kelsey, William Wells, Gideon Wells, James Idings, James Dixon, Richard Jackson and Rev. Caleb Boyer. This was in the years 1801 and 1802. In christening the township, out of compliment to the states from which they had emigrated they called it Virdelmar, the abbreviations of Virginia, Delaware and Maryland. When it was incorporated as a township the abbreviation Vir. was omitted and it went upon record as Delmar. Notwithstanding the edict of the court several of the settlers who had acquired the custom of calling it Virdelmar persisted in thus naming it. Benjamin W. Morris was a Philadelphian and was the leading spirit in the settlement. He had met with reverses in Philadelphia, and came into the wilderness of Northern Pennsylvania to hide his chagrin or recover his former financial standing. William Wells was from Maryland and located about two and one half miles southwest of the spot where Mr. Morris had located. He brought several slaves with him which in a few years he manumitted, giving them his Delmar property, house, lands and personal effects.

The assessment in the year 1815, the first that was returned to the commissioners of Tioga County and which then was embraced in the township of Delmar, covering the territory now composed of Delmar, Charleston, Middlebury, Shippen, Clymer, Gaines, Elk, Morris, Duncan, a portion of Liberty with the borough of Wellsboro. The names of these taxables appear : John Allington, Roswell B. Alford, Caleb Austin, Asahel Anderson, Rosel Bailey, William Babb, William Bache, Gideon Briggs, David Brant, Alpheus Cheeney, Jediah Carpenter, Timothy Culver, Jas. Dickinson, J. G. Dartt, Justus Dartt, Jr., Asaph Ellis, Consider Ellis, Richard Ellis, Chas. Daniels, Justus Dartt Sr., Peter Fulkrson, Aaron Furman, Jos. Irish, Sam'l W. Kilbourn, David Kilbourn, Francis Conkright, William Conkright, William Dickson, Morderica Jackson, John Smith, D. H. Baker, Joseph Brown, Henry Hulburt, Joseph Trimble, Daniel Salmon, Thompson Alden, Gordon Benjamin, Samuel Dill and James Tremain.

Alvin Willard, assessor ; Hopestill Beecher, Justus Dartt and John Knox, county commissioners ; David Lindsay, clerk ; Nathan Niles and Caleb Austin, collectors. Rate of tax one per cent.

—The first teacher in Delmar was Beadle Skull.

—There are twenty-five school houses in Delmar.

—Israel Stone was one of the pioneers in Delmar.

—John McEwen was one of the pioneers of Delmar.

—The family of Bacons were pioneers in Delmar township.

—Delmar is one of the best cultivated agricultural townships in Tioga County.

—Robert Campbell, one of the most successful farmers in Tioga County, settled in Delmar, in the year 1837.

—Robert Karr, a native of Wilmington, Delaware, settled in Delmar near Stony Forks in the year 1836. He died July, 1875, aged 75 years.

—David Heise, a native of Germany, a celebrated land surveyor, settled in Delmar in the year 1820. He used the compass over sixty years.

—Erastus P. Deane, a teacher, surveyor and farmer, settled in Delmar in 1834. He was one of the most accurate and well known land surveyors in Pennsylvania.

—William Eberenz, a native of Germany, settled in Delmar in the year 1817. He became one of the prominent citizens of the township and left a fine estate. He died June 7th, 1880, aged 79 years.

Elk Township.

Elk township was formed from the townships of Delmar and Morris in the year 1856. It is mountainous and sparsely settled, lying west of Pine Creek, and in the southwestern portion of Tioga County, bounded on the west by Potter County and on the south by Lycoming, on the east by Morris and Delmar townships. Pine Creek touches its northeastern boundary. Cedar Run and the Billings branch of Kettle Creek are its principle streams. Silas Billings, the elder, erected a steam saw mill upon the headwaters of Cedar Run in the year 1847, and constructed a plank road down the Run, nine miles to its junction with Pine Creek in Brown township, Lycoming County, Pa. Mr. Billings erected a dwelling which for many years was known as the "White House" together with several other dwellings for his men. The township abounded with white pine and hemlock timber. The pine timber has been pretty generally cut down and marketed. In 1856 Silas X. Billings and his brother-in-law, P. S. McNiel, erected a steam mill about two miles farther down Cedar Run and engaged extensively in lumbering. They also erected several dwellings. It was known as "Billings Camp" and a post office by that name established.

It was at this time (1856) that the township was organized. Its first taxables were Jehiel Beach, George Bendle, William Bendle, J. F. Bristol, John Cramer, S. S. Dingman, James Farley, Benjamin Frever, Edward Fridley, Charles Fisher, Henry Fisher, Daniel K. Fitch, G. W. Howd, George Maynard, Sarah Maynard, John Maynard, Peter S. McNiel, Daniel Minsker, A. P. Roberts, C. F. Roberts, D. W. Ruggles, Homer Ruggles, Jason Smith, John E. Smith, Lyman Thompson, Joseph Thompson, Columbus Wells,

J. F. Westcott, Lauren Wetmore, John Wetherell. A large portion of the above named persons were employees of Billings & McNeil. In the northern portion of Elk township the actual settlers were John Maynard, George Maynard, Loren Wetmore, John E. Smith, Jehial Beach, Homer Ruggles, D. W. Ruggles, Benjamin Freyer, James F. Westcott, Jason Smith, G. W. Howd. Of these John Maynard was the pioneer; he made a permanent settlement in the northwestern portion of the township, purchased sixteen hundred acres of wild land, cleared one hundred and fifty acres, set out four orchards containing about one thousand trees, erected dwellings, barns, etc. He died December 9th, 1878, aged 67 years.

In the year 1879, a company styling itself the "Cedar Run Tanning Co.," erected a large tannery at Billings' Camp, having the year previous, (1878,) secured the hemlock bark from Silas X. Billings, growing upon about 20,000 acres, surrounding the tannery. To accommodate their workman they erected fifty or more dwellings, a school house; opened a store and changed the name of the place from "Billings Camp" to Leetonia in honor of Mr. William Lee, one of the principal owners of the tannery. Mr. William Lee, Jr., erected a fine residence in the year 1880

—There are now four school houses in the township.

—James F. Palen was the first Postmaster at Leetonia.

—Dr. E. P. Luce was the first resident physician of Leetonia.

—Miss Mary Harrington was the first school teacher at Leetonia.

—The first post office in the township was called "Malone" and Loren Wetmore postmaster.

—A convenient school house was erected in 1879, which is used for school and church purposes.

—In 1879 Lee & Co. experienced much difficulty in getting their heavy machinery to Leetonia.

—Augustus B. Snyder was the first superintendent with James Gilbert assistant, at Leetonia.

—A portion of Elk township, a few years since was annexed to Gaines township on the north.

—James Thompson was the first superintendent at the tannery; and James F. Palen the first store agent.

—The first school in the township was taught by Miss Marion Watrous. Among the early teachers were Martha Dennison, Albina Vermilye, Mary Kelley, Selana Hart, Carrie Wilcox, Phebe Wetmore.

—The first public road in the township was constructed under contract by John Maynard and others in 1856, and led from Gaines in Tioga County to Germania in Potter County, a distance of twelve miles.

—Silas Billings the elder, was engaged for forty days with a large complement of men in cutting a road from Gaines on Pine Creek to where he located his mill, in 1847. His road was over one of the highest mountains in Tioga County.

Farmington Township.

Farmington Township was formed from the township of Elkland, in the year 1830. It contains an area of about 24,000 acres lying south of the Cowanesque river opposite the township of Nelson and the borough of Elkland.

Its mean elevation is about 1,500 feet above sea level. Its inhabitants are now almost exclusively devoted to the pursuit of farming. It was originally covered with a heavy forest, but the untiring industry of two generations and their accumulations, the third or present generation have succeeded in making it productive. Elegant farm houses, good barns, smooth fields, good fences, improved agricultural implements greet the traveler at every point.

Its first settler was David Bryant in the year 1820, and he was soon followed by a race of hardy, industrious and frugal citizens. The Chamberlains, the Pierces, Halls, Cadys, VanDusens, Casbeers, Redfields, Gees, Herricks, Hoyts, Babcocks, Butts, Buckbees, Crippins, Bottoms, Blanchards, Baxters, McCallums, Prestons, Fosters, and others have made Farmington one of the best townships in the county.

Gaines Township.

The township of Gaines was formed in the year 1838, taken from the western portion of the township of Shippen. It is the third township south of the New York State line, and second on the north from the Lycoming County line, and is bounded on the north by the township of Clymer, on the east by the township of Shippen, and south by the township of Elk. The streams in the township are Pine Creek, Painter's Run, Rexford Run, Long Run, Lick Run, Elk Run, Phenix Run and Mill Run. All these Runs are tributaries to Pine Creek, a stream navigable for the floating of logs, lumber and shingles during the freshets. The lands along the valleys of Pine Creek are very productive, as well as those in the valley of Elk Run and Long Run. The mountains north and south of Pine Creek reach an elevation at some points of over 2,000 feet above the level of the sea. Pine Creek passes nearly through the center of the township from west to east. In the mountains above referred to are deposits of coal and iron. The coal in the mountains north of Pine Creek has been developed and mining of the same carried on quite extensively by the Gaines Coal and Coke Company, to which we shall hereafter refer. Josiah Furman was the first settler within the present boundaries of Gaines, having located upon two hundred and sixty-five acres of land two and one-half miles east of the present village of Gaines in the year 1804. Between the years 1804 and 1818, he purchased at Northumberland two hundred and twenty apple trees, put them in dug-outs or canoes and poled them up the West Branch of the Susquehanna to the mouth of Pine Creek, thence up Pine Creek to Gaines, a distance from Northumberland of over one hundred miles, and set out two orchards. Many of the trees are yet standing and bearing fruit. Josiah Furman was a native of Shamokin, Northumberland County, Pa.

—Great freshet on Pine Creek in 1832.

—Stephen Babcock was the first merchant.

—John Persing settled in Gaines in the year 1824.

—Benjamin Barse erected a hotel in 1848.

—John L. Phenix built a saw mill in 1836.

—Gaines was a great resort for fishing and hunting.

—John L. Phenix built a saw mill on Elk Run in 1845.

—John Benn erected a saw mill in 1835 for Silas Billings.

—First school house in the township, erected in the year 1813.

—August, 1882, commenced the construction of the A. & N. P. R. R.

—In 1828 Silas Billings purchased land in Gaines (then Shippen) township.

—Horace C. Vermilyea came to Gaines in 1855, and rented the Barse hotel.

—Tyadaghton Lodge No. 981, I. O. O. F., instituted November 18, 1881.

—The first saw mill on Long Run was built by Wheaton Hewett in 1845.

—August 26, 1882, "Barrens" purchased by the Gaines Coal and Coke Co.

—Silas X. Billings came to Gaines in 1855. D. A. Paddock came to Gaines in 1855.

Richmond Township and Mansfield Borough.

Richmond township was organized from the northern portion of Covington township in February, 1824. It is bounded on the north by Tioga and Rutland townships, on the east by Rutland and Sullivan townships, on the south by the township of Covington, and on the west by the townships of Charlestown and Middlebury.

It is situated principally in the Tioga valley, about fifteen miles south of the state line at Lawrenceville, and contains a variety of soil, embracing the alluvial and sandy soils of the valley and the clay and red shale of the upland. The Tioga River passes through it centrally from south to north, the principal streams of the township are the Tioga River, Corey Creek, Canoe Camp Creek and Lamb's Creek, the three latter tributaries of the Tioga river. The citizens of Richmond are chiefly engaged in agriculture. Iron ore is found in paying quantities, and has been quite extensively manufactured into "pig metal."

The Tioga and Elmira State Line Railroad passes through the township, following the valley of the Tioga, and has two stations in the township, exclusive of the one at Mansfield borough. The stations in the township are at the villages Canoe Camp and Lambs Creek.

Mansfield was incorporated as a borough, taken from the township of Richmond in the year 1857. It is one of the most flourishing boroughs in Tioga county, being the seat of the State Normal School, the Soldiers State Orphan School, the Mansfield Business College, and is deemed the educational center of the county.

Rutland Township and Roseville Borough.

Rutland township was formed from the townships of Jackson and Sullivan, in the year 1838. It is bounded on the north by the township of Jackson, on the east by the county of Bradford, Pa., on the south by Sullivan and Richmond townships, on the west by Richmond and Tioga townships; its mean elevation above tide is about 1,500 feet. Mill Creek is its principal stream, which flows westward and discharging its waters into the Tioga river.

The lands in the township are under a good state of cultivation, with some of the finest farms in the county. The chief pursuit of the inhabitants is farming. Its first settlers were largely from the Green Mountain State, and hence they named their township Rutland, in honor of the county from which they came.

In the year 1829, when the first assessment of the township was made by William Howland, assisted by Ezra Wood and William Rose, the taxables were Stewart Austin, John Argetsinger, Isaac Benson, Ephraim Bryant, Bethuel Bently, Ebenezer Bacon, Daniel Bunker, Halsey Burton, Hiram Benson, Green Bentley, Jacob Benson, Caleb Burrell, Silas Burrell, Sylvester Benson, Hiram Beeles, Constant Bailey, Peter Burrell, John Benson, Joseph Beeman, Johnson Brewer, John Britton, Peter Backer, Abraham Brown, W. D. Bacon, Sylvanus Benson, William M. Corey, Jabez M. Shippen Township.

The township of Shippen was organized in the year 1823, taken from Delmar. Pine Creek runs centrally through the township from west to east for about four miles, and then abruptly turns to the southward near the mouth of Marsh Creek, one of its tributaries. For many years the business of lumbering in the pineries of the township afforded the chief industry of the inhabitants.

The late Hezekiah Stowell, Phelps, Dodge & Co., were among the prominent lumberman, as well as Scovill & Babcock, Hon. Robert G. White and others. The land along the valley of Pine Creek and Marsh Creek and in the southeastern portion of the township are under a fair state of cultivation, but a large portion of the township is not well adapted to agricultural pursuits, on account of the high and rugged mountains, which are a thousand or more feet in height above the waters of Pine Creek. The Jersey Shore and Pine Creek railroad passes through the township, following the valley of Marsh and Pine Creeks. Ansonia is a station on the line of the railroad in the township.

The first assessment of the township was made in 1824, by Asaph Ellis, before the township of Gaines was formed. The taxpayers in what was then Shippen, and now composed of Shippen, Gaines and a portion of Elk, were: John Benn, Coonrod Bennauer, Elijah Dimmick, Paul Dimmick, Sylvester Davy, Richard Ellis, John Ellsworth, Asaph Ellis, David Ellis, Consider Ellis, Richard Ellis, John Ellis, Robert Francis, Benjamin Furman, Josiah Furman, Aaron Furman, William Furman, Reuben Harrington, George Huyler, Dudley Hewitt, Jr., John Smith, Wheaton Hewitt, Dudley Hewitt, Levi Murdock, Morris Miller, Richard Phillips, John L. Phenix, John Steele, Robert Steele, Jas. Steele, Ephraim Steele, Frederic Tanner.

—Josiah Furman was the first settler in the township. He came up in a boat from Jersey Shore and made a settlement near the mouth of Marsh Creek on Pine Creek in the year 1804. Many of his descendants, still reside in the township.

—Mainesburg contains about 200 inhabitants and is surrounded by a good agricultural country. It is situated upon Corey creek, about five miles east of Mansfield and about one and a half miles north of the old state road.

—Mainesburg was organized as a borough in March 1859. Taken from Sullivan township. It was named in honor of John Maine, Esq. Its first officers were, Burgess, John Fox ; Councilmen, A. C. Witter, E. R. Maine. G. W. Carman, A. B. Austin, P. D. Parkhurst ; Treasurer, Alpheus Peters ; Street Commissioners ; D. S. Peters, G. W. Carman ; Collector, James Packard ; Clerk of Council, A. C. Witter.

Tioga Township and Borough.

Tioga township originally contained the entire area of the present county of Tioga. It was then a portion of Lycoming County, Pa. On the formation of Tioga County, in March, 1804, by an act of the Legislature it was created an election district on the 3rd of April 1804, and the house of Thomas Berry designated as the place of holding elections. It will be recollected that Tioga County, then (1804), was only in its incipient state and not fully organized until the year 1813.

The present township of Tioga is bounded on the north by the township of Lawrence, east by Jackson and Rutland townships, south by Richmond, west by Middlebury and Farmington townships. Its principal streams are the Tioga river and its tributaries, Crooked, Elkhorn, Mill and Mitchell's Creeks. It is situated in and on both sides of the Tioga valley, comprising some of the best alluvial and upland soils in the State.

Tioga borough was formed from the township of Tioga in February, 1860. It is beautifully situated in the valley of the Tioga on the Tioga River, near the mouth of Crooked and Elkhorn Creeks, and contains about one thousand inhabitants. The Tioga and Elmira State Line Railroad has a station on the eastern side of the borough and the Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim Railroad, a station on its western side.

Union Township.

The township of Union, in Tioga County, Pennsylvania, is situated in the southeastern corner of Tioga County, and is bounded on the north by the townships of Hamilton and Ward; on the east by the county of Bradford, on the south by the county of Lycoming, and on the west by townships of Liberty and Hamilton.

Its mean elevation above tide is about sixteen hundred feet. Its lowest point is about 940 feet and its highest point nearly twenty-four hundred feet above tide. It was formed from the township of Sullivan in February, 1830. The villages in the township are Roaring Branch, Ogdensburg and Gleason. The streams of the township flow in an easterly and southeasterly direction and empty into the Lycoming Creek or river, with the exception of one in the northeastern portion of the township, which discharges its waters into a tributary of the North Branch of the Susquehanna. The lands of the township generally face the east and south, and although they occupy an elevated position, they produce most excellent crops of oats, grass, potatoes and buckwheat with fine orchard fruits.

—The first school house in the township was built of logs. It stood near the residence of Charles M. Dibble, Esq.

—Swamp church (Baptist) erected in 1860. There is a small swamp near it, which is the reason that it is termed, "The Swamp Church."

—Patrick McCormick founded the "Irish settlement" in Western Union in 1841. Peter Skelley and Thomas Skelley were associated with him.

—The first township election was held at the house of Eli McNett, in the year 1831. Township and general elections are now held at Ogdensburg.

—The first hotel in the township was kept by Samuel McNett. It was situated in the eastern portion of the township on the highway leading from Elmira, Troy, Canton to Ralston and Williamsport.

—The Catholic church in the Irish settlement was completed and dedicated in March, 1880. Mrs. Mary Skelley Birmingham, widow of the late John Birmingham gave the ground upon which the church is erected.

Ward Township.

The township of Ward was formed from the townships of Sullivan and Union, in the year 1852. Within its boundaries are the highest points in Tioga County, or Northern Pennsylvania. It was named in honor of Hon. Christopher L. Ward, of Towanda, Pa., who at one time owned nearly the entire lands in the township. Within its boundaries as formed in 1852, were to be found the largest deposits of semi-bituminous coal in Northern Pennsylvania. The borough of Fall Brook was taken from its territory in 1864, where mining of coal has been carried on since 1860, and a portion of Hamilton was taken from Ward in 1872. Mining is carried on by the Morris Run Coal and Mining Company, and quite a large portion of the coal is taken from the township of Ward, although it is brought to the surface in the township of Hamilton. The heirs of the late Christopher L. Ward still own considerable coal lands in the township, though in an undeveloped state. The Tioga river flows from the north-east through the township, receiving its first tributaries in that township. There is a tradition that some of the very first settlements in Tioga County were made within the limits of Ward township, by those claiming title under the grants made by the state of Connecticut. There is a place known as the "Old Possessions," which had been made prior to 1808—but by whom, the oldest settler in Ward and the neighboring township of Sullivan cannot definitely determine. In 1808 these "Old Possessions" had the appearance of having been made and abandoned from fifteen to twenty years prior to that date. It is not known therefore, who the first settler was in the township of Ward. William McIntosh, Simon McIntosh and Matthias McIntosh settled in what is now known as "McIntosh Hollow," in the township of Ward, in the year 1837. Harry Covert settled near them about the same time. James Lyon, Andrew Kniffin, Erastus Kiff, William R. Lyon, Daniel Hager, John Purvis, Waterman Gates and others, soon thereafter located in the township. A number of these were from Delaware county New York.

—The first election was held in 1852, at the house of William R. Lyon.

—The first school house in the township was made of logs. It was located in McIntosh Hollow, and was erected in the year 1838.

- Erastus Kiff built a saw mill in 1863.
- A Farmers' Grange was established in the year 1879.
- The first schools in the township were taught at private houses.
- Rev. John Spalding was the first clergyman who preached in the township.
- Among the first teachers in the township were Mary Welsh and Susanah Bascomb.
- Mr. Wood erected a saw mill in Ward, in the year 1844. William McIntosh erected one a few years later.
- There are several religious organizations in the township, but no church edifices. The school houses are used for religious services.
- Tracey O. Hollis, A. J. Teeter, John Kiff, A. P. Gray, Miles Furman, Stephen Segar, Hugh Crawford, H. R. Wilcox, are a few of the prominent business men and farmers of the township.
- It will be borne in mind that Fall Brook was not taken from Ward until August, 1864. During the rebellion, Fall Brook and Ward, with a total voting population of 148, furnished, either by commutation, substitute or drafted men, 366 persons for the Union armies.

Westfield Township and Borough.

The township of Westfield was formed from the township of Deerfield, in the year 1821. It is bounded on the north by Brookfield township, on the east by Deerfield and Chatham townships, on the south by Clymer township and on the west by Potter county. The Cowanesque river runs through the township from west to east, near the northern boundary line between it and Brookfield. Its mean elevation above tide is about 1,600 feet. Its inhabitants are now chiefly engaged in farming. The original settlers were generally of New England origin, and had been former residents of the State of New York, Chenango, Cortland and Delaware counties being largely represented. Among the first settlers were Porter Lapham, Nathaniel Mann, Ayres Tuttle, Reuben Cook and John Thomas.

Westfield borough was formed from Westfield township in the year 1867. It is situated upon the banks of the Cowanesque river, at the mouth of Mill Creek, and is one of the most prosperous and growing boroughs in the valley of the Cowanesque. The Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim railroad and the Addison and Northern Pennsylvania railroad companies have each a station, express office and telegraph office in the borough. It contains several large industrial establishments, a graded school, several churches, a number of stores, saloons, groceries and shops, two hotels, a newspaper printing office, and is rapidly increasing in wealth and population.

- Samuel Phillips erected the first saw mill in the borough.
- David Close remodeled a house and kept a hotel in the year 1842.
- Butler B. Strang was the first burgess of the borough of Westfield.

Blossburgh Borough.

In 1792, when Benjamin and Robert Patterson were conducting the German and English settlers to the Pultney estate, where Bath, in Steuben county, is now located, they tarried for some days near where the present bridge across the Tioga river in the southern portion of the borough of Blossburgh is now located.

They erected a hugh oven and cleared away the timber, and made a "camp" which was afterwards known as "Peter's Camp."

In the year 1806, Aaron Bloss located upon this camp, and erected a dwelling, which was for many years was used as an Inn. His nearest neighbor to the southward was ten miles away; his Inn was located however upon the Williamson road, which then was the only road between Williamsport on the west branch of the Susquehanna, and Painted Post at the mouth of the Conhocton river. The coal which had been pronounced good by the English who accompanied the Patterson brothers, soon began to attract attention. In the meantime, David Clemmons had located two and one half miles to the northward upon the banks of the Tioga river, and purchased several warrants of land. He also opened up the coal where years afterwards the Arbon Coal Company first commenced operations. Among the early settlers within the present limits of Blossburg Borough were Absalom Kingsbury, Isaac Walker, Ashael Walker, Royal Walker, Judge John H. Knapp, D. P. Freeman, Lewis Saynisch and Samuel Weeks, when the construction of a railroad from Blossburg to Corning, or soon thereafter Col. Joseph Yonkin, Alexander H. Gaylord, John L. Evans, James H. Gulick, Francis Welch, John James, Thomas Turner, a brother-in-law of Hon. Erastus Corning, William Butler, Clarendon Rathbone, Franklin R. Smith, John G. Boyd, P. P. Cleaver came on and located. Hon. Horatio Seymour in 1837 visited Blossburg, and in company with Hon. Amos P. Granger and Hon. Thomas P. Davis of New York and Curtis Parkhurst and Hon. James Ford of Lawrenceville, Pa, purchased lands and sold lots within the present borough limits. When the railroad was completed in 1840, from Blossburg, another large instalment of settlers came. The first store, saw mill and furnace were erected by Judge John H. Knapp, as early as 1826. It was claimed by Miller Fox, the chief engineer of the Corning and Blossburg R. R., that the time would come when one hundred thousand tons of coal would pass over the railroad, his statements then were ridiculed. A million tons annually now go over the railroad, and are marketed. There were some, however, who believed in his prophecies and govern themselves accordingly.

The consumption of bituminous coal at that time was very limited, and but comparatively few were acquainted with its use, only as a substitute for charcoal to a limited extent in blacksmithing. The era of steam had not fully arrived.

The prosperity of Blossburg depended largely upon the coal trade, which was fickle and unstaple. The Arbon Coal Company was succeeded by William M. Mallory, and he by Duncan S. Magee. The transferring of the mining operations of the Magees' from Blossburg to Fall Brook in the year 1859-60-61, was a great blow to the prosperity of Blossburg. In 1862 there were from forty to fifty vacant dwellings in Blossburg, the town was nearly deserted. The establishment of the Tioga railroad shops at this point at that time revived business materially, and Blossburg again entered upon a new lease of prosperity.

In the year 1847, William Dezang, of Geneva New York, erected a window glass manufactory in the northern portion of Blossburg, built a store and ten or twelve dwellings. This manufactory was conducted by Mr. Dezang several years, and subsequently by James H. Gulick and O. F. Taylor, and in the year 1867 it was leased by Messrs. Hirsch, Ely & Co., and conducted up to the present by that firm under the co-operative plan. Blossburg was incorporated as a borough in August, 1871. It now contains an Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Welch Congregationalist, Irish Catholic and Polish Catholic Churches. A fine graded school, employing one principal and six assistant teachers, a bank, printing and news paper office (Blossburg Register) a window glass manufactory, two saw mills, a planing mill and feed mill, a very large tannery, a foundry and machine shop; the shops of the Tioga R. R. three boot and shoe stores, with shops attached, one shoe making and repair shop, one harness shop, two blacksmith shops, one wagon shop, two paint shops, four licensed hotels, a city hall with rooms for the fire companies, the council and burgess, school board, high constable, election board and for a prison or lock-up, five eating saloons, two billiard rooms, three furniture and two undertaking shops, two wholesale liquor stores and bottling establishments four clothing stores, three dry goods stores, three general merchandise stores, a tea and coffee store, two hardware stores, several grocery stores, a photograph gallery, an express office, a depot, band room, three music teachers with rooms, two dentists, eight physicians, four drug stores, two lawyers, two meat markets, a brass band, Masonic, Odd Fellows, Knights of Honor, and Rebecca Lodges, a skating rink, a public hall and about three thousand inhabitants.

There are two branches of the Tioga railroad and one of the Corning and Cowanesque railroad, leading southward and eastward. The Arnot branch of the Tioga railroad to Hoytville and Morris Run, and the Fall Brook branch of Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim to Fall Brook. Blossburg is one of the most desirable locations for manufacturing in the county.

Covington Borough.

Covington was organized as a borough by a decree of court of common pleas of Tioga County in the year 1831. It remained a borough for several years and suffered its charter to become void. In the year 1851 it again applied to the court and again was chartered.

Mention has been made in the history of the township of many of the old settlers and will not be here repeated. Among the most prominent citizens in the early history of the borough were Thomas Putman, Edwin Dyer, Stephen Packhard, John S. Hoagland, Thomas Dyer, John C. Bennett, Elijah Gaylord, O. F. Taylor, Samuel Barber, Phineas P. Cleaver, David Caldwell, Ira Patchen, Elijah Putnam, Peter Keltz, John G. Boyd, Butler Smith, Julius Doane. From 1840 to 1855 Covington was one of the greatest business centres in Tioga County. It was located where the Williamson road made in 1792 and the state road completed in 1808, intersected and crossed each other, they then being the two greatest thoroughfares in the county.

Its citizens were enterprising and erected churches, school house, mills, manufactories, hotels, stores, glass works and "Covington Four Corners" were known far and wide. As we have stated in 1851, the borough charter of Covington was renewed. The first burgess under the new charter was Geo. Knox; clerk John Lang; street commissioners Martin Gerould and Elijah Gaylord; treasurer O. F. Taylor; collector Ira Patchen; poormaster Anson L. Johnson.

The chief burgesses have since been George Knox, W. C. Webb, Thomas Putman, John C. Bennett, Edwin Dyer, H. M. Gerould, Ira Patchen, Leonard Palmer, Perley P. Putman, O. G. Gerould, A. M. Bennett, Jacob Hartman, E. B. Decker, Charles Howland, William Lamkin, Edwin Klock, J. M. Hoagland. Some of these have been elected and served as many as five terms. A. M. Bennett is now the burgess.

Covington borough is situated five miles north of Blossburg, five miles south of Mansfield, twelve miles east of Wellsboro and seven miles southwest of Mainsburg and now contains about eight hundred inhabitants. Within the past three years it has increased in population very materially. The purchase of the window glass manufactory by Messrs. Hirsch, Ely & Co. and the employment of quite a number of men by that company, has been one of the causes which have been instrumental in reviving the borough. The building of a number of fine dwellings and business places together with several industrial establishments have also encouraged and stimulated the business prospects of the borough. It is situated in the center of a good farming country with railroad transportation facilities afforded by the Tioga railroad. There are several churches, a graded school, an Odd Fellows hall, a saw mill and shingle mill, a grist mill, a glass manufactory whose capacity is about 40,000 boxes of glass annually, giving direct employment to about forty men, a fruit evaporator, two hardware stores, one drug store, one jewelry store, three general stores, one bottling establishment of mineral water, a barber shop, a shoe shop, one hotel and several groceries, a harness shop, two gun shops, one wagon makers shop, two blacksmith shops, an express office, depot, post office and reading room, several branches of lodges of Knights of Labor.

Elkland Borough.

Elkland borough was formed in May, 1850.

The township of Elkland was one of the oldest townships in Tioga County, having been formed in the year 1814, from Delmar. By gradual disintegration it was cut up into various townships, until there remained of its large territory only what is now embraced in the borough of Elkland, and when that borough was formed, Elkland township was absorbed and ceased to exist. Elkland is situated in the very garden of the Cowanesque valley, and surrounded by an excellent farming country. The valley of the Cowanesque broadens at this point, forming a basin of land unexcelled in the county. The Elkland and Lawrenceville railroad, now operated under the management of the Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim Railroad, was completed from Lawrenceville to Elkland, in Sept., 1873, and for ten years remained the terminus of that road. This made Elkland a great shipping and receiving point for localities west of it, up the Cowanesque Valley and into Potter Co., Pa. It stimulated business of every kind. In 1882, the Addison and Northern Pennsylvania R. R. was constructed from Addison and thence westward up the valley to Westfield, thence southward to Pine Creek. This road added largely to the shipping facilities of the citizens of Elkland. The same year the Fall Brook Coal Co., which controlled the Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim road extended their road to Harrison Valley. It contains two hotels, two churches, bank, newspaper office, graded school, several industrial establishments, two depots, telephone and two telegraph offices, tannery, number of stores, etc.

—Leander Culver built the first hotel in 1836.

—Col. Lemuel Davenport built the first flouring mill.

—Hon. Benjamin Dorrance died June 26th, 1881, aged 45 years.

—Large quantities of tobacco are raised in and about Elkland.

—The first store was opened in 1824, by John Ryan and Robert Tubbs.

—Joel Parkhurst settled in Elkland, in 1828 and engaged in mercantile pursuits.

—Hon. Geo. Dorrance settled in Elkland, in 1829. Died June 13, 1881, aged 79 years.

—Elkland Furniture Manufactory established in 1883, O. Pattison, superintendent and manager —One of the most active business men of Elkland, is Mr. C. L. Pattison, son-in-law of the late Joel Parkhurst.

—One of the wealthiest citizens of Tioga County, was the late Joel Parkhurst, of Elkland, who died in December, 1884, aged 84 years.

—The elegant graded school building, costing $6,000, was the gift of Joel Parkhurst, Esq., to the school authorities of the borough of Elkland.

—Early settlers of Elkland were, George Dorrance, David Hammond, Lemuel Davenport, Robert Tubbs, Benjamin Tubbs and Leander Culver.

Fall Brook Borough.

Fall Brook Borough was organized from the township of Ward in August, 1864. The borough embraces about six thousand acres of land owned exclusively by the Fall Brook Coal Company. It is situated upon lands whose surface is underlaid by millions of tons of semi-bituminous coal. Its mean elevation above the ocean is nearly 2,000 feet. Its highest point being over 2,300 feet, and its lowest point 1,550 feet.

It is a mining town and contains about two hundred dwellings, a store, mill, hotel, two school houses, whose seating capacity are about 300, two churches, Presbyterian and Catholic, town hall and the necessary schutes, weigh and other offices and shops for the transaction of business. —Explorations for coal were commenced by D. S. Magee and his assistants, William Griffiths, Thomas Morgan, John James, Stephen Bowen and others, in the year 1856. These explorations resulted in the purchase of about six thousand acres of land by John Magee of C. L. Ward, of Towanda, in the year 1859.

—In the month of April, 1859, the Fall Brook Coal Company was chartered. The bill for its incorporation passed both houses of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and was vetoed by Governor William F. Packer. March 9th, 1859. The bill of incorporation was passed, his veto notwithstanding, April 7th, 1859, and became a law.

Knoxville Borough.

Knoxville was incorporated a borough, by an act of the legislature and approved by Gov. Wm. F. Johnson, April 19th, 1850, taken from the township of Deerfield. In area it contains about 265 acres. It was named in honor of the Knox's, the pioneer settlers of the township of Deerfield. The first settler within the borough limits was Simon Rixford or Rexford, a revolutionary soldier. He came from Massachusetts and settled near the mouth of Troups creek, in 1799. Knoxville is beautifully located upon the alluvial flats on the north bank of the Cowanesque river, at the point where Troups creek discharges its waters into that river. It is one of the prominent stations upon two railroads, viz: The Addison and Northern Pennsylvania Railroad (narrow gauge) and the Corning, Cowanesque and Antrim Railroad. (standard gauge) and is an active and thriving borough. Its elevation above tide is about 1250 feet. The construction of the two railroads above named within the past three years has added much to its prosperity and wealth.

- Giles C. Seelye, Company F., 86th Regiment, N. Y. Vol., died at Camp Griffin, Virginia, February 21, 1862, aged 18 years, 6 months and 26 days.
- Sergeant Albert A. Seelye, wounded at Gaines Hill, June 27, died in prison at Richmond, Va., July 3, 1862, aged 21 years, 2 months and 15 days.
- Martin Grover, a celebrated public speaker, addressed a mass meeting of Democrats in 1844. Seventy-two yoke of oxen drew a hickory pole from Academy Corners to Knoxville, to the meeting.
- In the year 1822, Silas Billings settled at Knoxville. He was a man of wealth, great business qualifications, energetic and enterprising and did much to advance the interest of Knoxville, the Cowanesque valley and the county of Tioga.

Wellsboro Borough.

In area Wellsboro is the largest borough, except Fall Brook, in the county of Tioga. It was christened Wellsboro in its infancy, in the year 1802, by Mrs. Mary Wells Morris, wife of Benjamin Wistar Morris, the first settler, and sister of William and Gideon Wells, who were pioneers and first settlers in the township now known as Delmar, from which Wellsboro was organized as a borough in the year 1830. Four years after receiving the name of Wellsboro, it was selected as the county seat of Tioga County, which honorable distinction it has since enjoyed. John Norris was its first burgess. At the time of its organization as a borough, there were only about thirty families within its limits. Five years later, 1835, with all of its prestige as a county seat and borough, there were fifty-nine families, according to the recollection and written memorandum of William Bache, Jr. These consisted of E. Fellows, William Taylor, R. Cole, R. Christianot, B. B. Smith, Samuel Mack, M. Burnside, J. Borst, A. Corey, J. Beecher, S. Bliss, John F. Donaldson, F. Wetherbee, C. Seeley, James Lock, L. I. Nichols, D. Linsey, L. Meek, J. —Office of the Bingham estate established in Wellsboro in the year 1845, by Hon. William Bingham Clymer, grandson of Hon. George Clymer, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The estate represented by Mr. Clymer was by far the most important of any in Northern Pennsylvania. By the judicious management of the important trust, and by his liberal and honorable dealings, Mr. Clymer was instrumental in attracting to Tioga county and Northern Pennsylvania, a large number of intelligent and industrious citizens. In 1867 he was appointed one of the trustees of the estate, and Robert C. Simpson, Esq., becoming the agent who still retains that position. Although Mr. Clymer resigned his agency, he continued to exercise a great influence in the direction of its affairs. He was twenty-eight years a resident of Wellsboro, and died in Florence, Italy in 1873. Many an old pioneer of Tioga, Potter and McKean counties, reveres his memory.

BRADFORD COUNTY, PA.

By an act of the Legislature of the state of Pennsylvania, of February 21, 1810, it provided for the formation of a county from parts of Luzerne and Lycoming, to be known as the county of Ontario. The act also provided for the appointment of three Commissioners, by the Governor, to survey the new county and fix the place for holding the courts of the same; Samuel Satterlee, Moses Coolbaugh and Justus Gaylord, were appointed commissioners.

By a subsequent act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, passed March 28, 1811, the commissioners were authorized to change the name of the new county from Ontario to Bradford, which name it still bears. On the 24th of March, 1812, an act was passed authorizing the holding of an election of county officers in October of that year, and organizing it for judicial purposes, appointing the place for holding the first court at the house of William Means, in Meansville (now Towanda) until a court house could be erected. The county officers were elected in October, 1812, and the first court was held in the county commencing on the 18th day of January 1813. John Bannister Gibson was president judge, John McKean and George Scott, associates. The county officers were Abner C. Rockwell, Sheriff; Charles F. Welles, Prothonotary and Clerk, etc.; William Myer, Justus Gaylord, Jr., Joseph Kinney, Commissioners; Henry Wilson, District Attorney; John Horton, Coroner; Harry Spalding, Treasurer. Thus was the official machinery of the county set in motion.

Bradford County is situated on the east and west sides of the north branch of the Susquehanna river, and is bounded on the north by the state line and the counties of Chemung and Tioga in New York; east by the counties of Susquehanna and Wyoming in Pennsylvania; south by Sullivan, Wyoming and Lycoming; and west by the county of Tioga. According to the report of the Secretary of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania, it contains an area of one thousand one hundred and sixty-two (1,162), square miles, or seven hundred and forty three thousand six hundred and eighty (743,680) acres, and, according to the census of 1880, it then contained fifty-eight thousand five hundred and thirty-five (58,535) inhabitants. It contains now (1885) about 68,000. It is divided into thirty-seven townships and twelve boroughs, with over one hundred post-offices, and over four hundred schools, and about seven hundred teachers. The principal streams of the county is the North Branch of the Susquehanna River. It enters the county on the north line, in the township of Athens, which is located centrally upon the northern boundary of the county; it then flows in a general south-east direction and passes out of the county in the township of Tuscarora, within five miles of the extreme south-eastern portion of Bradford County. It has numerous tributaries emptying into it from the west and east. The principal streams from the west are Towanda Creek, Sugar Creek, and from the east Wyalusing, Wysox, and many other smaller streams.

The surface is diversified with valleys, hills, plateaus and mountains, affording some of the finest landscapes in Pennsylvania, or the United States. Some of the points in western Bradford are over two thousand feet above sea level, and over twelve hundred feet above the valley of the north branch. These heights are reached by terraces or plateaus, which in the main are under a high state of cultivation to the very highest points. To stand upon one of these elevated points, a view of the country is obtained for miles of elegant farm houses, well cultivated fields, villages and towns most pleasing to behold.

The alluvial soils of the numerous valleys produce most excellent crops of wheat, corn, oats, tobacco and vegetables, while the rolling or uplands grow fine grass, oats, buckwheat, potatoes and very fine pasturage for sheep, cows, neat cattle and horses. Bradford county is particularly distinguished for the most excellent quantity of her dairy products.

The county was originally covered with a heavy growth of timber, and for many years the business of lumbering was carried on extensively, the surplus products finding a market via the North Branch and the Susquehanna river to Harrisburg, Port Deposit or by North Branch canal. Lumbering is not now carried on so extensively, the inhabitants devoting more attention to agricultural pursuits with a sure and steady increase in wealth and population.

MINERALS.—The minerals of the county are coal and iron. Coal is mined quite extensively in the south western portion of the county in the Barclay mountains. Iron ore has been mined in the western portion of the county in the township of Columbia, near the Tioga county line. Quarries of building and flagging stone have been opened in various sections of the county, and large quantities of sand stone, suitable for the manufacture of window glass and bottles are found in the southern portion of the county in the coal regions.

RAILROADS.—The Elmira and Williamsport railroad, was constructed in the year 1854. It is now under the management of the Northern Central Railroad. It enters the county in the township of Canton, in the extreme southwestern portion of Bradford County, and runs northward, keeping close to the western line of the county, passing through the villages and boroughs of Carpenter, Grover, Canton, Minnequa, Alba, Granville, Troy, Columbia X Roads, Snedekerville, Gilletts and leaving the county at the state line in the township of South Creek, about eight miles east of the western county line.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad enters the county near the south-eastern portion, and follows up the valley of the North Branch on the east side of the river, until it reaches Towanda, where it crosses to the west side, running on that side for about eighteen miles, recrossing at Athens borough and going out of the county near the village of Sayre.

—The North Branch Canal was constructed in the year 1842. For the past ten years it has been abandoned.

—The Towanda and Barclay Railroad was constructed in the year 1856, from Towanda south westward, to the semi-bituminous coal mines, at Barclay, a distance of sixteen miles.

—The State Line and Sullivan Railroad was constructed in the year 1871. It runs from Towanda to the semi-anthracite coal mines at Bernice, in Sullivan county, a distance of twenty-eight miles. It is now owned by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company.

Armenia Township.

Armenia township was formed in 1843, taken from Troy and Canton townships. It occupies an elevated position on the western line of the county and forms the water shed between the waters of Sugar creek and the Tioga river. The Tioga rises in the township and flows in a southwesterly course into the township of Ward in Tioga county. Although the lands of the township are situated at an average elevation of eighteen hundred feet above the sea level, still the soil is quite productive and a number of good farms are found in the township. From its elevated position some of the finest landscape views in Northern Pennsylvania are obtained. It is bounded on the north by Columbia township, on the east by Troy and Canton, on the south by Canton and on the west by Tioga county.

Early settlers were: Newton Harvey, George Hawkins, Heman Morgan, Samuel Avery, Silas E. Shepard, Amasa Wood, Joel Wood, Newell Phinney, Samuel Moore, Joseph Biddle, Alexander Case, John Lyon, Alba Burnham, Daniel Crandall, William Crandall, Andrew Monroe, Lysander C. Eleven soldiers from Armenia during the war of the rebellion lost their lives, viz: Amos Hapham, Abner Miller, Barlow Smith, Herrick Welch, Sanford Richmond, Arthur Rundell, James Whitehead, John H. Dumond, Lincoln Burnham, Judson Knight, Albert Woodworth.

Athens Township and Borough.

Athens, or Tioga Point, is one of the best known localities in Northern Pennsylvania. It is situated at the junction of the Chemung and east branch of the Susquehanna river, thus forming the North Branch of the Susquehanna. It is generally believed that John Secord was the first white settler at this point before the close of the Revolutionary war in 1778. For years before the Revolutionary war, however, it was a great resort of the Indians of the six nations. It was there that the British and Indians met and planned the expedition against Wyoming in 1778. It was there that after the close of the Revolutionary war in 1790, General Timothy Pickering held a council with the Indians, and the year following at Kanewola, now El:ira, in fact no other section of Northern Pennsylvania is more fully associated with early events in the history and developments of Northern Pennsylvania and Southern New York, then Athens, or Tioga Point. It was known by the Indians, by the soldiers of the revolution, by the early pioneers, by the lumbermen and raftsmen.

In May, 1786, the Susquehanna Land Company, organized in the State of Connecticut, issued a grant for the formation of the township of Athens, and in June following, a village was laid out by Col. Elias Satterlee, Col. John Franklin and Col. John Jenkins. A year previous, however, in May, 1785, the State of Pennsylvania granted the same lands to a gentleman from Lancaster, Pa., Josiah Lockhart, out of which grew a great amount of litigation, bad feeling and suffering. In 1787, Col. John Franklin, one of the Connecticut claimants, was arrested and imprisoned, charged with high treason; but we have not space to narrate the events in detail which transpired during those exciting times, in what has been known as the "Pennamite war."

Early settlers were: Benjamin Patterson, Joseph Kinney, Mathias Hollenback, Jacob Snell, John Hulburt, Elisha Mathewson, Justus Gaylord, William Miller, Eldad Kellogg, Mason Carey, Christopher Hurlburt, Daniel Moore, David Alexander, Samuel Hepburn, John Shepard, Andreos Budd, Thomas McClure, Col. John Franklin, Elisha Satterlee, Ira Stevens, Benedict Satterlee, Nathaniel Satterlee, Constant Mathewson, Samuel Ransom, Guy Maxwell, Jonathan Harris, George Wells, Nathaniel Clapp, Alpheus Harris, Julius Tozier, Daniel McDuffee, Noah Murray, Jr., Capt. Joseph Spalding, James Irwin, Stephen Hopkins, David Paine, Clement Paine, Enoch Paine, Daniel Elwell, John Saltmarsh, Moses Park, Zephon Flower, Joseph Tyler, Samuel Ovenshire, Arnold Colt, Prince Bryant, Thomas Baldwin, Ismahel Bennett, Solomon Bennett, Richard Halstead, Green Bentley, John Winters, Isaiah J. A. Jones, Thomas Hendy, John Hendy, Nathaniel Shaw, Doctor Prentice, Francis Snechenberger, Capt. Thomas Wilcox, Josiah Crocker, Josiah Lockhart, Richard Caton, Ashbel Wells, Isaac Cash, Nehemiah Northrop, Henry Decker, Jonathan Harris, Nathan Bull.

—In September 1778, Col. Hartley, with a regiment of men, went into the valley of Wyoming to chastise the Indians, burnt Diahago (Tioga) and visited Tioga Point.

Barclay Township.

Barclay township was organized in 1867, taken from Franklin. It is bounded on the north by Franklin, on the east by Monroe and Overton, on the south by Overton, on the west by Leroy. It is situated in the highlands in the south-western portion of the county, about two thousand feet above sea level. The business of mining semi-bituminous coal has been carried on quite extensively since 1856, when a railroad from Towanda, a distance of about sixteen miles was constructed. It was named Barclay in honor of Charles Barclay, of London, England, the owner of lands in the township. The history of Barclay would be the history of the mining companies which have been engaged in mining coal. Several million tons of coal have been mined and shipped to market since the commencement of mining operations. Barclay is a mining village containing about eight hundred inhabitants, who are chiefly engaged in mining, or in labor connected therewith. Carbon Run a mining village about two miles west of Barclay, which formerly contained about three hundred inhabitants, is now about entirely deserted, the coal being worked out as is alleged. The coal is let down from the Barclay mountain, by means of an incline to the foot of the plane, from whence it is taken by cars and locomotives to Towanda.

Burlington Township.

The township of Burlington was one of the original townships in Bradford county, having been formed prior to the organization of the county, in 1786. It is bounded on the north by Smithfield and Ulster, on the east by North Towanda and Towanda, on the south by Franklin, on the west by West Burlington. The township is well watered by Sugar Creek and its tributaries. Its surface is rolling, and the soil well adapted to grazing and agricultural products generally. There are four post offices in the township Highland, Luther's Mills, Burlington, Mountain Lake. The great Indian path from the North Branch of the Susquehanna to the west branch of the Susquehanna, passed through the township. The early settlers were Isaac Dewitt, Abram Dewitt, James McKean, William Dobbins, James Ward, Alexander Campbell, Derrick Miller, Ebenezer Dunbar, Ephraim Swain, Ira Nicholds, Jared Soper, Ezra Brait, Ephraim Jacque, Ezra Goddard, Luther Goddard, Stephen Ballard, Joseph Ballard, John Ballard, Nathaniel Ballard, John Clark, Moses Calkins, Jeremiah Taylor, Benjamin Saxton, Jessie Marvin, Jehiel Ferris, John Gammage, George Head, James Campbell, David Campbell, Eliphalet Luther, Col. Lockwood, Nehemiah Allen, John McNear, Joel Calkins, David Miller, William Pratt, Otho a colored man, Samuel McKean, Samuel Wallace, Timothy Hosmer, Major William Judd, John Jenkins John Clark, Champion Scoville, Ebenezer Kendall, Reuben Wilbur, Jehiel Ferris, Jesse Beach, Timothy Beach, Doct. —Noah Wilson, Nathaniel Allen, James Campbell, James McKean and Eli Case, were the first election board of Burlington. The election was held at the house of Ezra Goddard.

—In 1822, in digging a celler for Gen. Samuel McKean, a stone vault was found, which contained a sketeton of a human being, measuring eight feet two inches in length. A pine tree was growing over the vault three feet in diameter.

—Tom Zack was a Moravian convert, of the Mingo tribe of Indians, and was known as the white man's friend, lived at Burlington, on the Tom Zack Creek. His wife was Betty Montour. His daughter, "White Fawn," was educated by the Moravians, and became a teacher.

—Dr. Ira Lee, an English physician, attempted to introduce vaccination for small pox in 1813, in Burlington, and was compelled to leave the town. The war between United States and Great Britian was then going on, and the inhabitants conceived that Dr. Lee was a secret emissary, employed by the Brisish Governmet to destroy the American people.

—Captain Daniel Dobbins, son of one of the old settlers of Burlington, was in command of a merchant vessel, owned by himself and Mr. Rufus H. Reed, of Erie Pa.; when the war of 1812 occurred. He was at Detroit and was taken prisoner, he was subsequently retaken by Gen. Hull, and again surrendered into the hands of the British, being released he was detailed by General Mead to go to Washington with important dispatches concerning the surrender of Detroit. Upon his arrival at Washington a cabinet meeting was called and he recommended in view of the loss of Detroit, that a naval depot should be established at Presque Isle, in the present harbor of Erie Pa. His suggestion was received with favor, and he was immediately commissioned to enter upon the work of establishing such a depot. He returned to Erie and commenced the construction of gun boats, and in March following, Commodore Perry arrived. Captain Dobbins continued in active service until he had the proud satisfaction of seeing the fleet which he had equipped and manned, commanded by Commodore Perry, victorious in the battle of Lake Erie on the 10th of September, 1814. Thus did a Bradford county citizen contribute towards establishing Erie as a naval port, and the success of Commodore Perry.

Canton Township and Borough.

Canton township is situated in the extreme southwest portion of Bradford county. The sources of Towanda creek, which flows eastward into the North Branch of the Susquehanna, and the sources of the Lycoming creek or river which flows southward into the West Branch of the Susquehanna, are found in this township. The Northern Central Railroad passes through the township from south to north, having several stations in the township. Canton and Alba are boroughs which have been formed from its territory. East Canton, Grover and Minnequa, are villages and post towns. The soil is well adapted to grazing, orchard products, and growing of corn, oats, buckwheat and wheat. Some of the finest farms and farm dwellings and capacious barns in the county are found in Canton. Wells, Byron Kingsbury, Wilson Rogers, Gordon F. Mason. This was the first lodge of Odd Fellows instituted in the county of Bradford. For years a strong feeling had existed against the formation of secret societies, and especially Free Masons. The introduction of Odd Fellowship was regarded by the uninitiated as being only Masonry revived in a re-organized form, and strong sentiments of opposition to any secret societies was manifested. Many who had been Free Masons joined Odd Fellowship, and together, they turned in a measure, the strong tide of opposition in its favor. Yet they were extremely cautious, and for many years had much to discourage and annoy them. The order however, continued to flourish and increase in numbers and strength, until Odd Fellowship in Pennsylvania stands first in the list of Odd Fellows in the United States. Monroeton has the honor of having the first Odd Fellows Lodge in Bradford county, established within its limits, and Athens, the honor of the first Masonic lodge. It is a subject worthy of remark, that there has never been any rivalry, contention, or disagreement at all between Odd Fellows and Free Masons, notwithstanding, they are two separate and distinct organizations, thus setting an example worthy of imitation by other organizations. They both aim to improve the morals, instruct their members, relieve the poor and needy and spread the mantle of charity in its broadest form.

Overton Township.

Overton township was formed in 1853, taken from Albany, Franklin and Monroe townships. It was named in honor of Edward Overton, of Towanda, who was born in Lancashire, England, December 30, 1795, and came to America in 1815. Wyalusing Township.

Wyalusing was first organized in 1790, twenty years previous to the formation of Bradford county. It is located upon the east shore of the Susquehanna river, near the south-eastern limit of Bradford county, and is bounded on the north by Herrick; on the east by Tuscarora; on the south and west by the Susquehanna river. The lands of the township are extremely fertile and productive; none better can be found in the commonwealth. The township is historic ground, the former home of the red man, and the site of their ancient villages. Settlements were made by white men upon its fertile flats previous to the revolutionary war. It was in this township that the Moravians established a mission among the Indians, and erected a church, laid out and built a village in 1765. In 1768 the Indians in their treaty with the commissioners of Pennsylvania, sold these lands occupied by these Indians and missionaries, and on the 11th of June, 1772, they vacated their village and removed to Ohio. In 1871, a monument was erected by the Moravian Historical Society, inscribed in a suitable manner, to mark the spot where a hundred years before, the red men and their families were taught by the Moravians the christian religion, and where the remains of many of their number were buried. Delegations were present from Bethlehem, Nazareth in Northampton county, Litz in Lancaster county, and from New York and Philadelphia to witness the ceremonies upon that occasion.

The inscription upon the monument upon its northern face is : "To mark the site of Friedenshutzen. (M'chwehilusing.) A settlement of Moravian Indians between 1765 and 1772."

The eastern face reads : "This stone was erected on the 15th day of June, in the year of Redemption, 1871, by members of the Moravian Historical Society."

Western face reads : "And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation and in sure dwellings and in quiet resting places."

The south face reads : "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations ; ask thy Father and He will show thee ; thy elders and they will tell thee."

The early settlers were Thomas Brown, Joseph Elliott, Henry Elliott, Isaac Hancock, Wareham Kingsley, Nathan Kingsley, Robert Carr, Stephen Beckwith, Sherman Buck, Amos Bennett, Richard Benjamin, Benjamin Ackley, Gideon Baldwin, Humphrey Brown, Gideon Baldwin, Jr., Thomas Lewis, James Wells, Cyrus Wells, Reuben Wells, Amasa Wells, Guy Wells, Justus Lewis, Benjamin Stalford, Peter Stevens, Daniel Sterling, Justus Gaylord, Justus Gaylord, Jr., Abraham Bowman, Robert Lattimer, Ambrose Gaylord, David Shoemaker, Samuel Gordon, Joseph C. Uriah Terry prepared an ode on the death of Washington, music was arranged for the ode and it was sung by Polly Sill. A barbecued bear furnished the meat for the occasion.

—Wyalusing is the residence of Rev. David Craft, the teacher, minister and historian. No one who has ever lived in the Susquehanna Valley has done more than Mr. Craft to preserve the facts and incidents connected with the settlement of the Valley and Bradford county than he. He has, while ministering to the members of his congregation acceptably for so many years, found time to search out and publish facts which were fast becoming forgotten, and place in an enduring form, a chronicle of events connected with the pioneer settlement of the county and its various townships. He delivered an exhaustive and eloquent address at the dedication of the Sullivan monument in August, 1879, near Elmira, N. Y., to commemorate the battle at Newtown, and his pen has ever been busy in recording past events as they were brought to light by his unceasing diligence and research, and preserving them for the benefit of the present and future generation. Already has he erected a monument to his own memory of historical facts, and reminiscences upon whose shaft the inscriptions will be read by generations yet unborn, with pleasure and delight. All honor to Rev. David Craft, of Wyalusing.

CHEMUNG COUNTY, NEW YORK.

Chemung county, New York, was formed from the western portion of Tioga county, by an act of the legislature March 29, 1836.

At that time it consisted of the townships of Big Flats, Catlin, Catharine, Cayuta, Chemung, Dix, Elmira, Erin, Southport and Veteran. In the year 1854, Schuyler county was formed, and the townships of Dix and Catharine taken from Chemung.

Since that time, as will more fully appear in the histories of the townships, the remaining townships have been divided, so that the townships now are Ashland, Baldwin, Big Flats, Catlin, Chemung, Elmira, Erin, Horse Heads, Southport, Van Etten and Veteran.

The county of Chemung is bounded on the north by the counties of Schuyler and Tompkins, on the east by Tioga county, N. Y., on the south by the Pennsylvania state line, and on the west by Steuben. The Chemung river enters the county from the west, in the town of Big Flats, about eight miles north of the Pennsylvania state line, and running easterly and southeasterly through Big Flats enters the town of Elmira, and passes through the center of the city of Elmira, thence southerly through the town of Southport, and along the eastern line of Ashland, enters and runs through the town of Chemung, and passes out of the county and state, into Bradford county Pennsylvania.

The valley through which this river runs is one of the most fertile, productive and beautiful in the state of New York. It was originally inhabited by Indians of the six nations, who occupied its productive lands, planted cornfields and set out orchards, erected their rude huts or habitations along the banks of the Chemung and its tributaries, spending their time in cultivating the soil, hunting and fishing, or making war upon weaker tribes, and the white men of the south and east.

Settlements were made by white men in the county of Chemung soon after the close of the revolutionary war. Who the first actual settler was in the county is a question which has recently been discussed. Some claiming that William Wynkoop, William Buck, Daniel McDowell, Joseph Bennett, Thomas Burt, Enoch Warren and Enoch Warren, Jr., were the first settlers, and others holding to the long conceded claim that Col. John Hendy was the first white man who erected a cabin, planted and harvested a crop within the present limits of the county of Chemung. We have not the space to enter into an argument upon this subject, contenting ourselves with the reflection that a few brief months of priority in the settlement of the county will not add to or detract from the courage, hardihood, enterprise and manly spirit of the early pioneer.

It was a daring and heroic act, to enter the territory at the time that either Col. John Hendy or Mr. Wynkoop and his associates did, so soon after the destructive raid and incursion of Gen. Sullivan and his army in 1779, and so soon after the treaty of peace in the year 1783, between the American Colonies and Great Britain, and while the rival claims of the Indians, the states of Massachusetts and New York were yet pending, covering a territory immediately upon the western limits of the county, and particularly so, when it will be recollected that the valley of the Chemung leading into the valley of the Wyoming was the gateway or pass, that for years had been so watchfully and zealously guarded by the Indians of the six nations.

For ninety years the Penns of Pennsylvania had been gradually crowding the Indians northward, from the lower Delaware, Schuylkill and Lehigh, on to the lower Susquehanna and Juniata, and from the Juniata and lower Susquehanna to the upper waters of the latter river, the west and north branches. For forty years Northumberland, the Kingdom of Shikellemy, was guarded and watched by that Indian sovereign; but in 1768 he retired to the Tiadaghton (Pine Creek), and in 1784 the state of Pennsylvania by treaty retired the Indians from the Tiadaghton and Tioga Point, the latter their great stronghold, and it was therefore under all the circumstances narrated, a daring and dangerous undertaking for white men to settle in the valley of the Chemung. All honor then to these early pioneers, who laid the foundation for the present happiness and prosperity of the inhabitants of Chemung county. Do not let a few months or years of priority in settlement detract from the honor and glory which should be awarded to the early settlers.

The county of Chemung is unsurpassed by any inland county in the state in railroad facilities. The New York Lake Erie and Western; The Northern Central; The Lehigh Valley; The Tioga, Elmira and State Line; The Delaware Lackawanna and Western, and the Utica, Ithaca and Elmira Railroads center in Elmira, and reach out east, west, north and south through the county. Agriculture receives great care and attention from its inhabitants, wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, barley, tobacco, meat cattle, and orchard and garden products are grown in abundance. The raising of fine horses, meat cattle and sheep also is carried on profitably.

The first Circuit Court held in Chemung county after its organization was held May 16, 1836. Hon. Robert Monell presiding with associates, Hon. Joseph L. Darling, Jacob Westlake and Guy Hulett. Elijah Sexton, of Veteran, was foreman of the first grand jury.

Elmira City and Town.

The town of "New Town" was formed from the town of Chemung April 10, 1792. In 1808 it was changed to Elmira. But the name of "New Town" clung to it for many years thereafter. It comprised at its organization all the territory now comprised of the towns of Southport, Big Flats, Horse Heads, Catlin, Veteran, Erin, Van Etten and the townships in Schuyler, of Dix, Catharine, and Cayuta, which were detached from Chemung county to form Schuyler in 1854. We know of no better plan to give the reader an idea of the small number of inhabitants then within the territory named, than by appending the names of the tax-payers and settlers, then in the town of New Town. For brevity sake we will omit the columns, stating the amount of tax levied, and the number of acres, and personal effects upon which the tax was laid, our object being solely to show the names of the pioneers who resided in "New Town," now Elmira, in 1794. The names of the taxpayers were. John Acmody, Lewis Abraham, Charles Annis, Charles Annis, Jr., Augustus Barber, Phineas Bower, Joel Bower, John Brees, George Bloom, Ebenezer Bartlet, Caleb Baker, Solomon Bovier, Thadeus Bennett, Ephraim Bennet, Henry Baldwin, Green Bentley, Abraham Bennet, Michael Bennet, Ezekiel and Sarah Brown, Jonathan Brown, Hains Bartlet, Thomas Baldwin, Isaac Baldwin, William Baldwin, Benjamin Bailey, James Broderick, Lanader Barns, Silas Beers, Ezekiel Beech, Peter Barlow, David Culver, Daniel Coreyell, Michael Coreyell, Abraham Coreyell, Stoddard Conklin, Thomas Cronover, Phineas Catlin, Israel Catlin, Zebulon Cady, Daniel Cruger, John Cortright, James Camron, Mathew Carpenter, Joshua Carpenter, John Dow, Levy Doty, Benjamin Dusenberry, Tunis Dolson, Stephen Dolson, John Durham, Jacob Durham, Samuel Edsal, Nathaniel Fairchild, John Fitzsummonds, John Fitzsummonds, Jr., Isaiah Funston, Asa Gildersleeve, Sewel Gilbert, Otheniel Gilbert, Elijah Griswold, David Griswold, James Green, William Gardner, Joseph Gray, Widow Olive Gardner, Stephen Gardinghouse, Nicholas Gale, Caleb Gardner, Solomon Gardner, George Gardner, Samuel Hendy, James Henry, John Hendy, Thomas Hendy, Benjamin Hathaway, Frederick Hines, Benjamin Hines, Abner Hatfield, Cornelius Hopper, Lebius Hammond, Josiah Hammond, Ammeriah Hammond, Henry Houser, Lazerus Hammond, John Jennings, William Jennings, William Jenkins, Phillip Jordan, Enoch Kinyon, John Kent, Widow Phebe Kent, Abner Kelsey, John Konkle, Andrew Kinyon, Nathaniel Landen, Cornelius Lowe, Samuel Lewis, William Laton, John Love, Christian Loop, Peter Loop, Cornelius Lowe, Jr., James Lownsberry, Samuel Ludlum, William McFarthing, John McGraham, Thomas McClure, John McClure, George Mills, William McCormick, Garret Miller, John McHenry, David McCormick, Joseph Miller, Abraham Miller, Abraham Middaugh, Samuel Middaugh, John Mitchel, James Mitchel, James Mitchel, Jr., Richard Mitchel, Ezra Meed, Selah Mathews, Vincent Mathews, Mathew McConnel, John McConnel, Samuel McConnel, Joseph McConnel, Alexander Miller, John Miller, John Morris, Peter Minthorn, Christian Minier, David Parshall, Amos Park, Israel Parshall, David Powers, Benjamin Pearce, John Parkhurst, Jacob Peck, Samuel Reeder, Cornelius Roberts, Jonathan Rockwell, James Rockwell, Ezra Rowley, Daniel Sullivan, John Sayres, James Sayres, Ebe-

The expedition of General Sullivan in 1779, and the treaty with the Indians at New Town, in 1791, had attracted the people of the various states to this locality, and settlers came in rapidly from Pennsylvania and the eastern states. The opening up of the Pultney estate by means of a highway from Northumberland, Pa., via the Lycoming and Tioga valleys to Bath, Canandaigua, Geneva and Mount Morris, and the navigation of the Susquehanna and Chemung with small boats or canoes, enabled the settlers from the south to reach New Town early in the history of the development of southern and western New York.

Settlers also reached New Town via of Albany, Cooperstown, the Chenango and east branch of the Susquehanna, or by way Utica, Fort Stanwix, the Cayuga and Seneca Lakes, so that by the year 1800, New Town was quite a bustling little village, and by the year 1808, it had become so elated with its prosperity, that it assumed the name of Elmira, in honor of one of its fairest daughters. As early as 1798, New Town commenced dividing up her estate. In that year (1798) the town of Catharine was formed from New Town, March 9, 1798. This township embraced the lands upon the inlet of Seneca Lake, and the rolling lands for miles on either side of it. In 1822, April 16, she gave her daughter Big Flats a start in life; and the same day, viz, April 16, 1822, she started another daughter upon the high road to prosperity, Miss Southport. Her daughters began to grow liberal and in 1823, Catlin township was formed from Catharine, April 16. Twelve years later her grand daughter Catlin started the township of Dix on the road to prosperity, April 17, 1835. The town of Veteran was the gift of Catharine, April 16, 1823.

Elmira for a number of years cultivated her large domain, erected school houses, academies, colleges, churches, built villages and hamlets, constructed canals and railroads, so that in 1854 the town of Horseheads was formed from her northern portion. In 1828 Elmira village was organized; Stephen Tuttle, President; Theodore North, Charles Orwan, Lyman Covell, William Maxwell, Trustees; Hiram Gray, Clerk. Its charter was remodded and amended from time to time, according to the increase in wealth and population, when in April, 1864, it obtained a city charter. Its first Mayor was John Arnot, Jr., April 24, 1864, succeeded by John I. Nicks, two terms, E. N. Frisbie, two terms, Stephen McDonald, Patrick H. Flood, two terms, Luther Caldwell, John Arnot, Jr., Howard M. Smith, Robert T. Turner, Granville D. Parsons, Alex. Diyen, David B. Hill, Stephen T. Arnot, Henry Flood, present incumbent.

—A petition was presented, June 3, 1793, by Amos Park, James Cameron, Nathaniel Seeley, Jr., Henry Sterrett, Peter Loop, Jr., Nathaniel Teal, James Seeley, John Crabtree, to the grand lodge F. & A. M. of New York, for the the establishment of a lodge at New Town, which application was granted, June 28, 1793, under the name of Union Lodge, No. 30. The first meeting of the lodge was held at the house of John Konkle, in the village of New Town, (now Elmira,) August 26, 1793. Present, Amos Park, W. M.; James Cameron, S. W.; Nathaniel Seeley, Jr., J. W.; Peter Loop, Jr., Sec.; John Konkle, Treasurer; Nathaniel Teal, Tiler; James Seeley, member; Abiel Frye, Vistor. William Dunn the first sheriff of Steuben county, in 1796, was the first person initiated into Union Lodge, No. 30. The above named officers were installed at Canandaigua, August 22, 1793, by a convention of past masters. The lodge increased in numbers and influence until the Morgan excitement, and in 1828 suspended work, and resumed again October 9, 1843, under a new dispensation.

—May 7, 1878, was an event which will be long remembered by the citizens of Elmira. The volunteer companies composing the fire department upon the evening of that day had their last parade. For a half century, fifty years to a day, the volunteer fire companies had guarded and fought the fiery element. They had commenced their labors when Elmira was a small village of a few hundred inhabitants, and had increased in number, as the country village, town and city had grown in importance, and on that evening they assembled in line, paraded the streets, and with many a tear silently coursing down their cheeks, quietly surrendered to the city authorities their engines, hose, hooks, ladders and all the paraphernalia in their possession, to be thereafter under the control of the paid fire department of the city of Elmira. Sic transit gloria.

—General Alexander S. Diven is one of the old landmarks of the legal fraternity. He was born in Catharine, N. Y., February 15, 1809; studied law with Hiram Gray, and was admitted to the bar when he was about twenty-three years of age. He was prominently connected with the project of building the Erie Railroad, the Elmira and Williamsport Railroad, and every other project calculated to benefit the city of Elmira and the county of Chemung. He has represented the county in various political positions, was prominent member of Congress when the late rebellion commenced, and in 1862, assisted in raising the 107th Regiment, N. Y. Volunteers, and went into active service as its Lieutenant Colonel and led it at the battle of Chancellorville. In May, 1863, he took charge of the rendezvous for troops at Elmira; in August, 1864, was still farther advanced, being commissioned assistant provost marshal for the northern district of New York. He has recently retired from the active duties of life to enjoy his ripe old age.

—Elmira is splendidly located ; the Chemung river passes through it from west to east ; the Newtown creek washes its eastern side and the valley widens on the Chemung, and northward towards the Seneca Lake, to receive its thousands of busy inhabitants. Elmira has not grown into a city with that phenomenal celerity which characterizes some of the cities of the west ; but her growth has been steady, conservative and sure. From its very earliest history it has been favored with a class of enterprising and far seeing inhabitants, who have not depended upon the local trade of the valley of the Chemung to support her in her onward course to distinction, but through her business men has reached forth, secured the construction of the Chemung canal, which opened a source of transportation to Seneca Lake, central New York and to Albany on the Hudson, thence to the great metropolis of the state, and later her citizens played a distinguished part in the construction of the New York and Erie Railroad ; the Elmira and Jefferson, the Elmira and Williamsport, (the two latter now under the control of the Northern Central) ; the Utica, Ithaca and Elmira Railroad ; the Tioga and Elmira State Line Railroad ; the Lehigh Valley ; the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western ; and even forty years ago in the construction of the Elmira, Southport and State Line Plank Road, and at every stage of her history her citizens have manifested that determined purpose of making Elmira the central point of population, trade and industry. Her capital has assisted in the development of coal and iron mines, and the building of railroads to transport their products to their doors ; it has built up schools, academies, colleges, churches, fostered social intercourse, and erected temples, Masonic and Odd Fellows, wherein to meet ; has secured protection against fires ; provided her people with water and gas, and built a rich and prosperous city ; made thousands of beautiful farms, and erected elegant and substantial dwellings, where about ninety years ago was a wilderness. Surely the citizens of to-day can look back upon old New Town of 1792 and congratulate themselves upon the appearance of Elmira in 1885.

Ashland Township.

The town of Ashland was formed by an act of the legislature in 1867, taken from Southport. The principal village in the township is Wellsburg, and a station on the N. Y. Lake E. R. R., Lehigh Valley, and D. L. & W. R. R. It contains some of the finest alluvial soils in the valley.

The township has become famous on account of the battle which was fought within its limits in 1779. A monument was erected in 1879, and dedicated with great and appropriate ceremonies. Among the distinguished persons present upon that occasion were Gen. William T. Sherman, Governor Harry M. Hoyt and staff of Pennsylvania, and the Governor of New Hampshire, George W. Clinton, of Buffalo, nephew of Dewitt Clinton, Hon. Hiram Gray, and thousands of other distinguished citizens. Addresses were made by Hon. Ellis H. Roberts, Rev. David Craft, of Wyalusing, Pa. Gen. Sherman, Gov. Hoyt, Gov. Rice, and George W. Clinton, Hon. Hiram Gray, a poem recited by Ausburn Towner, Hon. Guy H. McMaster, and a letter read by Hon. Hiram Gray from Hon. Horatio Seymour, in fact it was a great event in the history of Chemung valley.

Big Flats Township.

The town of Big Flats was formed from the town of Elmira, at the forty-fifth session of the legislature of the state of New York, approved by Dewitt Clinton, Governor, April 16, 1822. It is bounded on the north by the town of Catlin; on the east by Horseheads and Elmira; on the south by the town of Southport; on the west by the county of Steuben. The principal stream in the town is the Chemung river, with Woodruff, Gardiner, Winters and Sing Sing creeks as its tributaries. It derives its name on account of the broad and alluvial flats within the township. Big Flats is a village in the town, with a Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist and Methodist churches, a hotel, four stores, a graded school, a Masonic hall, a grist and saw mill, two blacksmith shops, several groceries, a cigar manufactory, and contains about three hundred inhabitants. The New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad pass through the town from east to west, each railroad having a station, telegraph office, etc. The Chemung Canal Feeder, which is now abandoned, passed through the center of the town from east to west, and for many years was the scene of a large and profitable commerce. In the early history of the town, lumbering was carried on quite extensively; but now the people are almost exclusively devoted to the pursuit of farming—much attention being given to the cultivation of tobacco.

Chemung is the mother township of the county, and formed the original territory of the entire present limits of the county, besides that of the township of Dix, Catharine, Montour and Cayuta, in Schuyler. This was at its formation in 1788. In 1791 its limits were curtailed and in 1792, when the town of Newtown was formed it was still more lessened as will be seen by reference to the history of that township. It was within its original limits that the great battle between the army of General Sullivan, and the British and Indians occurred in August, 1779. The Chemung river passes through the township forming a valley rich in alluvial soils. Its early settlers were men of mark, several of them had been soldiers and officers in the revolutionary war. Others were distinguished civilians and brought with them intelligence and enterprise. The McDowell's, the Baldwin's, the Buck's, the Lowman's, the Wynkoop's, the Carpenter's, gave the town of Chemung a lasting and permanent reputation in the history of the early settlement and development of the county.

Erin Township.

Erin was formed by an act of the legislature of New York, passed March 29, 1822, and approved by Governor Dewitt Clinton, taken from the town of Chemung. It is situated in the highlands, in the north eastern portion of the county, and its surface is broken and uneven with several valleys through which flows Newton, Baldwin, Jackson and Wyakoop creeks. The soil is quite well adapted to grazing, and some very fine farms are found in the township. It is bounded on the north by Cayuta, in Schuyler county, on the east by Van Etten, on the south by Baldwin, and on the west by Horse Heads and Veteran. The Utica, Ithaca and Elmira railroad passes through the center of the town from west to east.

At an election held pursuant to law, on the third Tuesday of May, 1822, at the house of John Banfield, the officers elected were, Alexander McKey, supervisor, Arden Austin, town clerk; Daniel Vaughan, Thomas Baker, Ebenezer Brown, assessors; John A. Horseheads Village and Township.

Horseheads was made historic in the annals of the revolution on account of its being the spot where General John Sullivan, in 1779, killed his worn out horses, on his return from his expedition against the six nations. It also has been distinguished for being the spot where some of the earliest pioneers in Chemung county erected their rude log houses, and commenced the work of clearing the forest and transforming the wilderness into farms rich in agricultural products. It has always enjoyed since the organization of the county in 1836, the notoriety of being the great center, where county conventions of all parties have been held, the political Mecca, where candidates and friends have assembled, where political slates have been made and broken, where promises have been given, and afterwards denied or ignored, the theatre upon whose stage the political actors have played their parts publicly, while behind the scenes were wire pullers who were manipulating the wires, causing the actors to play their parts automaton like, while those who made no public display of their designs were carrying out a special programme, not advertised on the bills. All these things have transpired in Horseheads, giving her a name to be long remembered by those who have been upon the political stage or behind the scenery. Horseheads has also been distinguished as a great social center, four hundred couples assembling in two halls, and enjoying the innocent and healthful exercise of dancing. Its citizens have been enterprising, establishing churches, schools, lodges, aiding in the construction of canals and railroads, and otherwise demeaning themselves with distinction as citizens of the great state of New York.

The village was first incorporated as Fairport, in May 1837, and in 1845 by an act of the legislature it was designated as Horseheads, and in 1885 was changed to North Elmira.

The town of Horseheads was formed from Elmira, Feb. 8, 1854, and on the 14th day of the same month an election was held at the house of Waterman Davis for town officers. Samuel H. Maxwell was elected supervisor; Ebenezer Mather, town clerk; Hiram S. Bentley, superintendent of common schools; David Edwards, Joel Heller, George H. Taylor, justices of the peace; John Ross, Lewis Carpenter, Daniel Bennett, assessors; Joseph Rodburn, commissioner of highways; David P. Breese, collector; William Reynolds, Abner K. Shappee, overseers of the poor; David P. Breese, A. D. Loomis, Moses P. Breese, Asa J. Jackson, Hiram H. McConnell, constables; Lewis H. Turner, Zeno Carpenter, John C. Jackson, inspectors of election.

Horseheads is bounded on the north by Catlin and Veteran, east by Erin, south by Elmira, and on the west by Big Flats. The Utica, Ithaca and Elmira, R. R., the D. L. & W. R. R., the N. C. R. R., and the N. Y. L. E & W. R. R. pass through the township. The principal stream is Newtown creek, which flows from the northeast, and thence south through the town. It is one of the most fertile and productive townships in the county.

took a team, went to Blossburg before there were any bridges across the Canistota or Tioga rivers, obtained a wagon load of coal, and sent it to Albany in a wagon, for the inspection of the committee upon canals, and legislators generally. Captain Conklin is still living at this time, March 20, 1885.

—Breesport was laid out in 1854, by Azariah Breese. It now contains about seven hundred inhabitants. The Chemung County Poor House is located at this point. The shops of the Utica, Ithaca and Elmira Railroad were located there immediately after the completion of the road. It is the home of Joseph Rodbourn, a prominent business man, who was instrumental in building up the village; was the projector of the railroad, and by his energy, skill and enterprise, it was successfully completed. He was the first president of the road.

—Horseheads, for many years under the old militia system of the state, was the place where "General Trainings" were held, in the meadow upon the farm of the late Col. Henry C. Hoffman. A writer speaking of one of these old "General Trainings," says: Across Newtown creek from where I stand, on lands now owned by Col. H. C. Hoffman, was the spot, where from all sections of Chemung county assembled annually the rifle companies and militia to drill according to Scott's Manual. At that time several revolutionary soldiers were living in the county, and quite a large number of soldiers of the war of 1812, who generally were present and inspired a martial spirit in the breast of the riflemen, militia and officers. The men were then living who had taken part in the battles of Lake Erie, Lundy's Lane, Plattsburg, New Orleans, and the music performed by the martial bands, was the same as played during the triumphs of Commodore Perry, General Scott and the hero of New Orleans. At these general musters the prospective and ideal enemy was the Red Coats or British, and every manouever was studied with an idea of how to parry and ward off the blows, or elude the shot or evade the charge of the English soldiers. Forty-six years ago I stood on this very spot, and with breathless anxiety watched the parade, the drill and military evolutions. There were probably five hundred men drilling, a host, in my youthful mind, sufficient to repel the armies of Great Britain or France. With what eagerness I watched the manouvers of the cavalry, the exercise in the manual of arms, by the infantry and their charges with fixed bayonets, and listened to the shrill blast of the bugle, the inspiring notes of the fife, accompanied with beats in perfect time of the snare and bass drums. These things inspired me with the greatness, strength and powers of the American soldier, and furnished me with topic for elaboration among the less fortunate boys of my neighborhood, when I returned home, for weeks thereafter. It set me to practicing with flail staffs, pitchforks, corn-cutters as imaginary guns, sabers and bayonets, and Don Quixote like I was ready to attack any object which came in my way.

Southport Township.

Southport was formed by an act of the legislature, approved by Gov. Dewitt Clinton, April 16, 1822, taken from Elmira, (see session 45, Chap. 121, laws of New York.) A portion of the town was added to the village of Elmira, and in the year 1867 a portion was taken to form the town of Ashland. It is bounded on the north by the city and town of Elmira, on the east by the Chemung river and the town of Ashland, on the south by Pennsylvania state line, and on the west by Caton, in Steuben county.

It contains an area of nearly 29,000 acres. The Chemung river passes along its northern and eastern borders, while Hendy creek and Seeley creek are tributaries of the Chemung, passing from west to east through the town. A large portion of the lands of the township are alluvial flats, and very productive, while the upland portion is susceptible of growing also most excellent crops.

Quite a number of extensive manufacturing and industrial establishments are located within its limits, and several small villages, lying in the immediate vicinity of Elmira city, every product of the farm is readily marketed, and some of the very finest farms in the county are to be found in Southport. The Northern Central Railroad, the Tioga and State Line R. R., and the Erie Railroad pass through the town.

From present indications it will be but a few years hence, before a large amount of the territory of Southport will be absorbed, and become a portion of the city of Elmira.

The first town election was held May 14, 1822, at the house of John Weir, and Solomon L. Smith was elected supervisor; William Wells, town clerk; John W. Knapp, William Jenkins, Samuel Strong, assessors; John L. Smith, Platt Bennett, Samuel Strong, commissioners of highways; William Benson, James B. Veteran Township.

Veteran was organized by an act of the Legislature, approved by Governor Joseph C. Yates, April 16, 1823, taken from Catharine. It is bounded on the north by Catharine and Montour in Schuyler county ; on the east by Cayuta in Schuyler county and Erin in Chemung county ; on the south by Horseheads ; on the west by Catlin. It was originally covered with an immense growth of white pine timber, and the Catharine creek which runs centrally through the town from south to the north, furnishes water power for a large number of saw mills which were erected along its banks. The Chemung Canal passed through the township following the valley of Catharine creek, which, after 1833, enabled the lumbermen to get their lumber to the Geneva, Utica, Albany and New York markets. The business of boat building was also carried on extensively, as many as two hundred boats at a time could be seen upon the stocks in the course of construction. By the time that the Elmira and Jefferson Railroad was completed (which also passes through the valley of the Catharine creek), the timber to a great extent had become exhausted. During the lumber excitement rival villages sprang up, viz: Millport and Pine Valley, and great feeling and enthusiasm were at various times manifested. The great thoroughfare leading from Elmira to Seneca Lake also passed through the town, following the valley, where daily stages, loaded with passengers, enlivened the scene. This valley was also distinguished by having been the route which General Sullivan marched his army, in 1779. For many years scarcely any attention was paid to agricultural pursuits; so intent were the people interested in lumbering and boat building. But after the pine trees had been cut down, and there was nothing more to be done in the lumber business, the inhabitants commenced devoting their attention to extracting the pine stumps, clearing the land and raising wheat, corn, oats and potatoes, stocking their farms with neat cattle and sheep, thus presenting to-day a town rich in agriculture.

—Green M. Bentley, a revolutionary soldier, settled in Veteran, in 1798. He also served in the French and Indian war, and from his known character for patriotism, when the town was organized it was called "Veteran," to signalize his valor by being a veteran in war and a veteran pioneer. The village of Millport stands upon a portion of the land that Bentley purchased in 1798.

—Elijah Sexton erected three saw mills, on Catharine creek and he and his sons, Sylvander and Sylvester, for many years carried on the business of lumbering extensively. He also purchased a large tract of timbered lands in the towns of Lindley and Caton, Steuben county, and at Big Flats. He became one of the most prosperous and wealthy men in the town. His eldest son died, in 1839, and Sylvester, in 1844. He died, March 18, 1850, aged 66 years. He was distinguished for his liberality and generosity.

STEBEN COUNTY, NEW YORK.

The county of Steuben was organized March 8, 1796, taken from the county of Ontario—named in honor of Frederic William Augustus, Baron Steuben, a German soldier and patriot, who came to America and did distinguished service for the colonies during the revolutionary war. Since the organization of the county in 1796, it has been materially lessened in territory. A portion was attached to Allegany county, March 11, 1808, a portion to Ontario, Feb. 25, 1814, a portion to Livingston county, Feb. 25, 1814, a portion to Yates in the year 1824, and a portion to Schuyler, April 17, 1854. At the time of its formation it consisted of six townships, viz.: Bath, Canisteo, Dansville, Fredericktown, Middletown and Painted Post. As townships the names of Fredrictown, Middletown and Painted Post have been absorbed. Painted Post, however, being retained in a village of that name within the original limits of Painted Post township. Steuben county now contains thirty-two townships, known as Addison, Avoca, Bath, Bradford, Campbell, Cameron, Canisteo, Caton, Cohocton, Corning, Dansville, Erwin, Fremont, Hartsville, Hornoy, Hornellsville, Howard, Jasper, Lindley, Prattsburgh, Pultney, Rathbone, Thurston, Troupsburgh, Tuscarora, Urbana, Wayne, Wayland, West Union, Wheeler and Woodhull.

The first court in the county, was convened at Bath, June 21st, 1796. Hon. William Kersey, assistant judge, presiding in the absence of Hon. Charles Williamson, first judge. Judge Kersey was assisted by associates, Abram Bradley and Eleazer Lindsley. The attorneys present were, Nathaniel W. Howell, Vincent Matthews, William Stewart, William B. Vanplanck, David Jones, Peter Masterton, Thomas Morris, Stephen Ross, David Powers. Several of them were non-residents of the county, residing at Canandaigua, Geneva and Albany. William Stewart was district attorney. During the session of the court, George Hornell, of Hornellsville, Uriah Stevens, of Canisteo and Abel White of Addison, were qualified as justices of the peace. At the term of Oyer and Terminer, held during the year 1796, the first grand jury consisted of John Sheathar, foreman, Charles Cameron, George McClure, John Cooper, Samuel Miller, Isaac Mullender, John Stearns, Justus Wolcott, John Coudry, John Devanter, Alexander Fullerton, Amasiah-Hammond, John Seeley, Samuel Shannan. There were only two indictments presented, and they were for assault and battery.

William Dunn was the first sheriff of Steuben county, appointed March 31st, 1796. He held the office four years. The court house was erected in the year 1796, was one and a half stories with wings or linto's and made of wood.

THE FIRST SETTLERS.—The first settlers were a hardy and intelligent people, many of them of New England origin, and many from the bordering state of Pennsylvania. The Erwins, the Pattersons, the Stephens, the Magees, were from Pennsylvania. Arthur Erwin, the senior, was from Erwinna, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, he who purchased the township of Painted Post; the Pattersons were from Northumberland county and the Stephens were from Luzerne county, Pa. William Dunn, the first sheriff, was from the south, and John Magee, the distinguished sheriff, banker, contractor, member of congress and railroad and coal operator, was born on the banks of the Lehigh, in Northampton county, Pa. General Charles Williamson, the agent of Sir William Pultney, was an Englishman. He founded Bath in 1792, and did many things to advance the settlement of Steuben, Ontario and other sections of western New York. Steuben county was in what was known as the "Genessee country," and the land of the Painted Post, and attracted settlers from almost every state in the Union. No particular locality therefore, can claim pre-eminent honors in the settlement of the county. We shall refer more particular to the early settlers in the various township sketches.

MEMBERS OF ASSEMBLY OF STEUBEN COUNTY.—Before Steuben county was organized from Ontario, Col. Eleazer Lindsley, from Lindley, was a member of the assembly in 1792, and in 1796 Col. Charles Williamson, of Bath, was also a member. When the county was formed in 1796, Col. Williamson was elected for the county of Steuben. About 3,000 citizens of the county of Steuben, enlisted in the service of their country, in various regiments, during the war of the rebellion.

Steuben county with its nine hundred thousand acres of land, two thirds of which are under cultivation, the rich alluvial soils of its valleys, its vast agricultural and manufacturing products, its railroads, villages and prospering towns, its public schools, and academies of learning, its charitable institutions, its churches and lodges, the ability of its public press, and the enterprise and wealth of its citizens make it one of the most important counties in the empire state.

Addison Township and Village,

The township of Addison was formed April 6, 1808. It had previously been known as the township of Middletown. The township of Addison was greater in area at its formation than now, portions of it having been detached to form the township of Troupsburgh, in 1808; Cameron, in 1828; a portion of Woodhull, in 1828; a portion of Rathbone, in 1856, and Tuscarora, in 1859. It is located on the north and south sides of the Canisteo river, in the second range of townships north of Pennsylvania state line. Its principal streams are the Canisteo river, the Tuscarora and Goodhue creeks, the two latter being tributaries of the Canisteo river; the Tuscarora creek discharging its waters into the river, from the south, in the corporate limits of the village of Addison, and the Goodhue from the north about two miles east of the village. Along the valleys of the Canisteo and Tuscarora, the soil is rich and alluvial, and under a good state of cultivation. The highlands on the north and south sides are being cultivated, and are producing fair crops of wheat, oats, corn and potatoes, and most excellent crops of grass. For many years the business of lumbering was carried on extensively.

Addison, the chief village of the township, was incorporated in 1854, and is one of the most active business villages in the county. It is the center of a large trade, for the towns lying south and south-west of it. It is the largest of any of the villages on the Canisteo river, with the exception of Hornellsville. It is situated on the north and south banks of the Canisteo river, connections being had by two substantial iron bridges. It contains two banks, two newspaper offices, several fine churches, an academy or graded school, two railroad stations, those of the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad, and the Addison and Northern Pennsylvania Railroad Co., a foundry and machine shop, a sash and blind manufactory, a large steam flouring mill, a chair manufactory, a boot and shoe manufactory, and a full compliment of dry goods stores, furnishing stores, groceries, saloons and hotels.

First settlers—It is believed by many that Samuel Rice was the first settler in the township, in 1791. Soon thereafter settlements were made by Reuben Searles, Lemuel Searles, John Martin, George Goodhue, Oliver Miller, Abel White, James Benham, Asahel Stiles, Elisha Gilbert, William Wombaugh, Samuel Colegrove, John Wyman, William B. Jones, Stephen Dolson, Jonathan Tracey. The Canisteo valley was one of the great haunts of the Six Nations, one of their war paths and trails led out of the valley near the village of Addison, up the Tuscarora creek, and over into the valley of the Cowanesque, to where the present borough of Elkland is situated, a distance of only about twelve miles by this path, and twenty-four via the valley of the Canisteo, Tioga and Cowanesque, and when the early white settlers came into Addison, or upon the Canisteo, they found quite a number of Indians still lingering in the valley.

At an election, or town meeting, held at Middletown, (now Addison) the first Tuesday in April, 1797, the officers elected were Supervisor, Reuben Searles; Town Clerk, Oliver Miller; Assessors, George Goodhue, John Wyman, John Martin; Constable, Lemuel Searles; Poor Masters, Jonathan Tracey, Asahel Stiles; Commissioners, John Martin, George Goodhue, Stephen Dolson; Collector, Lemuel Searles; Commissioners of Schools, Abel White, Jonathan Tracey and Oliver Miller; Path Masters, Reuben Searles, Jr., James Benham; Fence Viewers, Elisha Gilbert, Silas Morey; Pound Master, Reuben Searles.

Avoca Township.

Avoca was formed from the townships of Bath, Cohocton, Howard and Wheeler, April 12th, 1843. It is bounded on the north by Cohocton township, east by Wheeler, south by Bath and west by Howard and Cohocton. The Rochester branch of the New York Lake Erie and Western R. R., passes through the township in a north westerly and south easterly course. The Cohocton river flows through the township, receiving several tributaries. The soil of the township is in the valleys alluvial, and upon the hillsides and uplands are clay and gravel, with a mixture of loam and is quite productive.

The earliest settler was from Pennsylvania, in Wyoming valley. His name was William Buchanan. He and his son Michael came on upon the recommendation of Genl. Charles Williamson in the year 1794, and kept a public house. It was known for many years as the tavern at the eight mile tree. Mr. Buchanan set out an orchard in 1795, some of the trees growing to an enormous size, and which are now alive. This eight mile tree or tavern, was on the Williamson road to Genesee. Soon after the settlement of Buchanan, other settlers came in, among them were James McWhorter, Hugh McWhorter, George Moore, James Moore, Gershom Towner, Finley McClure, Joel Collin. A few years after this or by 1815, there were Asa Phillips, Abram Towner, Oliver Rice, Samuel Burnham, Allen Smith, Eleazer Tucker, John Donahe, Jonathan Tilton, Daniel Mackensie, William Moody, John Van Buskirk, James Davis, Henry Smith, Richard Van Buskirk, James Babcock. In that portion of Avoca taken from Howard in its formation, among the early settlers of that locality were William Goff, Henry Kennedy, Timothy Parkhill, William Allen, Israel Baldwin, Charles Robords.

—There are now three churches in the village of Avoca.

—Henry Kennedy erected the first saw mill in the year 1809.

—First religious services in Avoca, were held in Buchanan's barn.

—The second hotel in the town was erected in 1808, by Joel Collins.

—The death of Michael Buchanan, in 1807, was the first in the township.

—The first merchants in Avoca were Alonzo and George Simons, brothers.

—Avoca village is an active little place of about seven hundred inhabitants.

—There were about fifty Indian huts in the town when the early white settlers first located.

—Avoca was named by Sophia White, in honor of Thomas Moore's "sweet vale of Avoca."

—Anna Parker was the first school teacher, in the year 1796. Susan Collier was the next teacher.

—Henry A. Loucks was the first supervisor of the town, in the year 1843, and Oliver Rice the first justice of the peace.

Bath.

Bath was settled in the spring of 1793, by General Charles Williamson, agent for the Pultney estate, who had purchased about one million, two hundred thousand acres, now embraced in Steuben and other counties adjoining. At that time (1793) there were a few settlers at Painted Post, and a few on the Canisteo river, but all southern and western New York can be truly said was a vast wilderness. Possessed of ample means General Williamson commenced with great zeal and activity to populate this vast manor, and to this end, established a printing office, erected stores, hotels, mills, constructed roads, built boats to ply upon the Seneca and Crooked lakes, and did everything in his power to spread the fame of his possessions in the wilderness of southern and western New York. He had reached Bath via a road cut and made through the wilderness from Northumberland, Pa., up the West Branch, to where the city of Williamsport is located, thence up the Lycoming and over the Laurel Ridge mountain, to where the present village of Liberty, in Tioga county, Pa., now stands. There erecting a Block House, or station, thence down to the head-waters of the Tioga, to where Blossburg is situated, thence down the Tioga river to Painted Post and up the Conhocton river to Bath, the Eldorado.*

*Mr. Williamson held this vast estate in secret trust for Sir William Pultney, an English Baronet, and Mr. Williamson being a member of the New York State Legislature, secured the passage of an act, in March, 1801, enabling an alien to hold the estate in his own name. Mr. Williamson therefore re-conveyed his trust to the bona-fide owners. Mr. Williamson had previously, that is on the 13th day of December, 1800, assigned for the consideration of $300,000, all the bonds and mortgages held by him to Sir William Pultney. In March, 1801, Williamson conveyed 50,000 acres of land in Ontario county, twenty lots in the city of New York, 1,784 acres of land in the county of Otsego, 1,299 in the town of Unadilla, 1,400 in the county of Herkimer, 9,000 acres in the county of Montgomery, 41,108 in the county of Chenango, 5,000 acres in Gerundigat township, 600 in the township of Galena in Cayuga county, and all lands held by the said Williamson in the State of New York. Sir William Pultney, in consideration of the above, indemnified General Williamson for certain claims and indebtedness, which he had contracted as agent for the Genesee Association, prior to April 1st, 1801.

Benjamin and Robert Patterson, brothers, were the pioneers, who conducted General Williamson's party to Bath. In 1793, a number of dwellings were erected. As early as 1796, General Williamson advertised that a grand horse-race would take place, which had the effect to bring the sporting gentlemen from Maryland, Virginia and Southern Pennsylvania, to Bath. He was determined that the new city erected in the wilderness in the land of the Genesee, and Six Nations should become the centre of attraction. When the county of Steuben was organized, in 1796, he caused himself to be appointed first judge of the county, and in 1798 was elected to the Legislature and continued to be elected for three successive years.

Among the first settlers were Dugald Cameron, Charles Cameron, William Dunn, Thomas Metcalfe, Hector McKensie, Andrew Smith, George McClure, James McDonald, Henry McElwee, James Reese, William Kersey, John Wilson, George D. Cooper, Brown Gillespie, Daniel McKensie, John Wilson, Gustavus Gillespie, Robert Campbell, Andrew Smith.

Never was a patron more indefatigable in promoting the general well-being of his settlers, than General Williamson. He dispensed with a liberal hand. He established a weekly mail between Bath and Northumberland via the Williamson road and paid all the expenses himself connected with it. Bath is one of the six original towns in Steuben county, and was erected March 18, 1796. It covered a very large territory. The townships in part or in whole of Pultney, Urbana, Wheeler, Howard, Cohocton and Avoca have been detached from it.

The first election for town officers was held at the house of John Metcalfe April 4, 1797. The officers elected were: Charles Cameron, supervisor; James Eddie, town clerk; William Aulls, Patrick McKell, Hector McKenzie, commissioners of highways; Gustavus Gillespie, collector; Amos Stone, George Dixon, Abijah Peters, constables; Daniel Cruger, Patrick McKell, overseers of the poor; Amos Eggleston, Joseph McElwee, Jacob Phillips, overseers of highways; Eli Read, Andrew Smith, James McKell, Thomas Streeter, fence viewers; Robert Biggar, Samuel Baker, Samuel Miller, assessors; Samuel Baker, Silas Beers, pound masters; George D. Cooper, John Sheather, Charles Williamson, Benjamin F. Young, commissioners of schools.

The principal stream in the township is the Cowanesque river, fed by a number of tributaries from the east and west. There is a great variety of soil in the township, including the alluvial of the valleys, and the gravel, shale and clay of the uplands. The Rochester branch of the Erie passes through the township, having several stations. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad also passes through the township.

Kanona and Bavona are thriving villages in the township of Bath.

Bath village is situated upon the east and west sides of the Conhocton river and is the county seat of Steuben county. It was incorporated May 6, 1836, and the first election was held June 7, 1836, at the house of A. R. Gould. The officers elected were: Trustees, John D. Higgins, TenEyck Gansevoort, Benjamin Smead, Moses H. Lyon, John T. Andrews; Assessors, Ziba A. Leland, John M. Campbell, Henry Brother; Treasurer, Robert Campbell, jr.; Clerk, Levi C. Whiting; Collector, Elisha Hampstead; Constable, O. W. L. Warren.

Dr. TenEyck Gansevoort was selected as president by the board of trustees.

An act was passed June 20, 1851, by the Legislature, creating a new charter, and provided for an election to be held on the 6th of April, 1852. James Lindsay officiated as clerk under both charters, for a period of twenty nine consecutive years, from 1848 to 1876, inclusive.

The New York State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, at Bath, Steuben County, N. Y., is the only state institution of the kind in the United States. All other Soldiers' Homes are supported by the National Government, with rules of admission that exclude many worthy, disabled veterans. Because of this fact the department of New York Grand Army of the Republic in 1875, initiated the project of a State Home. It was located at Bath, because of the liberal contributions of the citizens of that town, and the warm interest which they took in the enterprise.

The Grand Army raised $100,000, in voluntary contributions, and laid the corner stone of the first buildings in 1877, with imposing ceremonies. The three first buildings were completed in 1878, with accommodations for about 600 inmates, and the trustees then deeded the property to the State, which assumed its support. Since then large additions have been made, the grounds have been beautified, a large and well appointed hospital built, also a head-quarters building, a store, bowling alley, conservatory, and numerous other buildings. Accommodations for over 300 inmates have been built during 1885, and the number of inmates during the coming winter will exceed 1,000.

Bradford.

Bradford township was formed April 20, 1836, taken from Jersey, (now Orange.) It is situated on the eastern line of Steuben county, and is bounded on the north by Wayne township, east by Schuyler county, south by the township of Campbell, and west by Urbana and Bath. It is quite an uneven and hilly township, yet quite productive.

The early settlers came in under the patronage of General Charles Williamson, and located on the outlet of Mud Lake. Frederick Bartles and John Harvey, by the assistance of General Williamson erected a flouring and saw mill on the outlet, in the year 1795. They had been located there two years previous. In the year 1798 he rafted 100,000 feet of lumber from his place to a southern market. In the year 1800 he filed in the county clerk's office at Bath the following :

“Steuben County :—This fourth day of April, one thousand, eight hundred, started from the mills of Frederic Bartles, on the outlet of Mud Lake, two arks of the following dimensions : One built by Col. Charles Williamson, of Bath, seventy-two feet long and fifteen feet wide, the other built by Nathan Harvey, seventy-one feet long and fifteen feet wide, were conducted down the Conhocton, (after coming through Mud creek without accident,) to Painted Post, for Baltimore. Those arks are the first built in this county, except one built on the Conhocton, at White's saw-mill, five miles below Bath, by a Mr. Patterson, Sweeney and others from Pennsylvania, seventy feet long and sixteen feet wide, which was finished and started about the 20th of March, the same year.

“This minute is entered to show at a future day, the first commencement of embarkation in this (as is hoped), useful invention.

By HENRY A. TOWNSHEND, Clerk of Steuben County.”

Among the early settlers of Bradford, the names are recalled of Henry Switzer, Samuel S. Camp, Abram Rosenberg, Thomas Rowles, Michael Scott, Daniel Bartholomew, Capt. John N. Hight, Henry Axtelle, John Schriener, Ezekiel Sacket, Asa Tolbert, George Snell, John Zimmermann, Stephen Edwards, Elias Thomas, Peter Low, David Dennis, James D. Morris, James Longwell, Phillip Morse, John Phelps, Daniel Taylor, Joshua King, Moses Ellas, Jesse Munson, James Woolverton.

The first election was held at the house of John Zimmerman, on the 4th Tuesday in May, 1836. The officers elected were: S. Snell, supervisor; Charles McFane, town clerk; Thomas Rowles, collector; James Woolverton, James Bradley, justices of the peace.

Canisteo,

Canisteo township was originally known as Williamsburgh. This was when it was in the county of Ontario. But when the county of Steuben was formed from Ontario in the year 1796, it assumed the name of Canisteo, and was one of the six original townships in Steuben county. In point of settlement it is the second in the county. It is the earliest settled township on the Canisteo river, as Painted Post is the earliest on the Conhocton or Tioga.

Canisteo is bounded on the north by Howard, east by Cameron, south by Jasper and Greenwood and west by Hartsville. Much of its original territory has been detached to form new townships. A part went to form Troupsburgh in 1808 and 1818, Hornellsville in 1820, Jasper and Greenwood in 1827. The Canisteo river passes through it from the west to the east, and the New York, Lake Erie and Western R. R. follows the valley of the Canisteo.

The valley of the Canisteo is from half a mile to three-quarters of a mile in width. The flats or bottom lands are very productive. The hills on either side rise to the height of about four hundred feet above the valley, where table-lands are found well adapted to grazing and the dairy. The "Canisteo Flats" were when discovered and entered upon by white men, covered with a very heavy growth of wild grass.

EARLY SETTLERS.—In the year 1788, Solomon Bennett, John Jamison, Uriah Stevens and Richard Crossley, from Pennsylvania, entered the upper valley of the Canisteo, from the east, and determined to locate there. In the following year they came on and cut a large quantity of grass, cured it, and otherwise made preparations for a permanent settlement. They were originally from Connecticut and the eastern states, but had settled in the valley of the Wyoming, under the Connecticut title previous to the revolutionary war, and at that time, (1788,) there was likely to be serious trouble between the state of Pennsylvania, and the Connecticut claimants as they were termed, that these gentlemen determined to abandon their lands in Pennsylvania, and begin life anew upon the upper waters of the Canisteo, where the land titles were perfect and no dispute existing. Accordingly in the year 1790, they removed their families and became permanent settlers in Canisteo. They were only the advance guard of others who quickly thereafter followed them. The Bennetts and Stephens in the present limits of Canisteo, and George Hornell in that portion of Canisteo, now within the boundaries of Hornellsville, soon gave an impetus and a fame to the valley of the Canisteo. They ploughed up the rich meadows and sowed them with wheat and planted them with corn, they erected dwellings, built saw and grist mills, and soon found themselves in a land of plenty. We would delight in elaborating the events of that period, but space forbids.

At an election held in the year 1801, before the town of Hornellsville was organized, at the house of Benjamin Crosby, the officers elected were: Supervisor, Uriah Stevens; Town Clerk, Joseph A. Rathbone; Assessors, Obediah Ayres, Richard Crosby, Nathan Hallett; Collector, Samuel Hallett, Jr.; Overseers of the Poor, James Hadley, Nathan Hallett; Commissioners of Highways, Mathew McHenry, Daniel Upson, Joseph Purdy; Constables, Samuel Hallett, Jr., Samuel VanCampen, Joel Atherton; Overseers of Highways, Christopher Hurlburt, George Hornell, Obediah Ayres, Joseph Coleman, Benjamin Crosby, Samuel Agnew, William Stephens, Benjamin Kenyon, Samuel Hallett; Fence Viewers, George Hornell, Uriah Stephens, Moses VanCampen.

—Nicholas Doughty was the first blacksmith.

—Solomon Bennett opened the first store and hotel.

—Solomon Bennett built the first mill on Bennett's creek, in 1792.

—Foundry and machine shops, H. Carter & Sons, established in 1873.

- Presbyterian church organized in 1836.
- Voorhis planing mill established in 1868.

- Baptist church organized November 30, 1876.
- In 1808 the bounty on wolves and panthers was $5.
- Methodist parsonage built in 1850. Church in 1857.
- Boot and shoe factory established by L. Allison & Co., 1868.
- Canisteo Times*, a weekly newspaper, founded Jan. 25, 1877, by S. H. Jennings.
- Olive Stephens, born November 18, 1790, the first white child born in the township.
- Bank of Canisteo established in 1876. Prest., M. Allison, Vice-Prest., L. Allison; Cashier, W. W. Ball.
- Rev. John B. Hudson, a Methodist, preached in Canisteo in the year 1800. A class formed at that time.
- Jedediah Stephens represented Williamsburgh, (now Canisteo,) in the board of supervisors, of Ontario county, at Canandaigua, in 1794.
- Uriah Stevens, Sr., was a soldier in the French and Indian war. He was a native of Connecticut. Uriah Stevens, Jr., was a revolutionary soldier.

—Jeremiah Baker was born in Canisteo April 18, 1791, was the first white male child born in Steuben county. His father lost all his property in the Wyoming valley by the indians and British.

—The village of Canisteo was incorporated in the year 1874. At the first election held under the charter, May 17th, 1883, Lucius A. Waldo was elected president; Mortimer Allison, L. P. Weed, Smith Eason, trustees; Daniel Upson, collector; William H. Mead, treasurer. May 19th, 1873, William Stephens was appointed clerk; Hiram J. Colegrove, police constable; Hiram C. Whitwood, street commissioner.

—The thriving village of Canisteo is located upon the site of an ancient Delaware Indian town, and where stood their famous castle known as "The Kanestio Castle." The town consisted of about sixty hewed log houses or dwellings with stone chimneys. It was the home of At-wect-se-ra. It was destroyed in the year 1764, by one of the Montours, by order of Sir William Johnston.

Cameron Township,

Cameron township was formed from Addison, April 16, 1822. It lies partly in the valley of the Canisteo, and is bounded on the north by Bath, east by Thurston, south by Rathbone and Jasper, and west by Canisteo. It was named in honor of Dugald Cameron, one of the early settlers of Bath. Its northern portion forms the watershed from which flow tributaries of the Conhocton river on the east, and the Canisteo river on the west and south. The land along the valley of the Canisteo is quite productive, as well as that in the uplands of the north and east, and many fine farms are to be found. The New York Lake Erie and Western R. R., passes through its southern limits, having three stations in the township.

Lumbering was carried on extensively for many years, the product of the forest being made into rafts and floated down the Canisteo river. Soon after the construction of the Erie railroad in 1850, the business of rafting gradually began to diminish, until it is now substantially abandoned. The shipping of lumber, bark and shingles is now confined to the railroad.

The early settlers were Richard Hadley, Samuel Baker, James B. Wheeler, Urbane Baker, Amos Caldwell, John Place, John Dean, James Jones, Luther White, Amasa Downs, James Brownell, John Hallett, Elisha Leach, Hirah Chase, Chauncey B. Hubbard, Reuben Drake, Elias Mason, James Knickerbocker, Henry Knickerbocker, Andrew Bates, John Shaw, Hiram Averill, father of Gen. William W. Averill, John French, J. D. Yost, Isaac Santee, Byron French, Joseph Loughrey, Moses L. Pierson, Dexter Pratt, George S. Pierson, Andrew G. Pierson, James H. Miles, Reuben W. Miller, Stephen Baskin, James Swartwood, George Cameron.

The first annual election for town officers was held in February 1833. Elias Mason was the first supervisor.

—Richard Hadley built the first saw mill, in 1811.

—Samuel Baker built the first grist mill in Cameron, in 1816.

—There was an Indian settlement in Cameron, as late as 1804.

—Presbyterian Church erected in the village of Cameron, in 1853.

—Cameron Village Methodist Church, organized in February 1851.

—Rev. John B. Chase, a Baptist minister, preached in Cameron, in 1832.

—Baptist church organized July 11, 1844, under the pastorate of Rev.

Moses Rowley.

—Christian Church erected in 1854. First preaching by Rev. John Stocking, in 1831.

—Rev. Abner Chase, a Methodist preached in Cameron in 1812. Church organized in 1834.

—There were 95 citizens of Cameron engaged in the war of the rebellion, in the Union army.

—A branch Methodist Church was erected in 1872, at a cost of $2,500, on South Hill, Cameron.

Campbell Township.

The township of Campbell was organized April 15, 1831. It is bounded on the north by the townships of Bath and Bradford, on the east by Hornby, on the south by Erwin and Addison. The Rochester branch of the Erie railroad, and the Delaware Lackawanna and Western R. R. cross the township in a north westerly and south easterly direction. The Conhocton river crosses the township in the same direction, and courses as the railroads. The townships contains some splendid alluvial soils in the valley of the Conhocton, and along Meads' Creek, and good grazing and wheat land in the uplands. Some of the finest white pine in Steuben county, was originally found in this town.

The first settlers were. Mead, Joseph Wolcott, Elisha Williams, Samuel Calkins, David McNutt, Robert Campbell, Solomon Campbell, Philo Campbell, Daniel Curtis, Joseph Stevens, Joseph Stevens, Jr., Benjamin Stevens, David Holmes, William Holmes, Jonas Woodward, Jacob Woodward, Hinsdale Hammond, Seth Hammond, Cyrus Ames, Zalmon Tousey, Robert Bonham, Archibald Campbell, James Faulkner, James Fulton, Frederic Stewart.

The first election for town officers, was held at the house of Samuel Bessley in the year 1832. The officers elected were Daniel Clark, supervisor; Milo Hurd, town clerk; William Stewart, Samuel Cook, Daniel Horton, assessors; John H. Burritt, William Stewart, Selah Hammond, commissioners of highways; Joseph Stevens, Pliny Cobb, overseers of the poor; H. Corbin, Frederic Stewart, Miner Campbell, commissioners of schools; Milo Hurd, Harvey Burritt, Daniel Horton, inspectors of schools; Aden J. Pratt, collector; Aden J. Pratt, John Robbins, Jr., constables; Parley Seamans, Alvin Corbin, justices of the peace. There were fourteen road districts in the town, and the path masters appointed were, district No. 1, Richard Gregory; No. 2, Samuel Bessley; No. 3, Daniel Clark; No. 4, Gilbert Reed; No. 5, Benjamin F. Balcan; No. 6, Alanson Peirce; No. 7, Peter Covenhoven; No. 8, Stephen Boyden; No. 9, Moses Hammond; No. 10, Moses Woodworth; No. 11, Salmon Hunsinger; No. 12, Salmon Dickinson; No. 13, Parley Seamans; No. 14, Hosea Robbins.

—In 1846, a saw and grist mill combined was erected.

—Union Free school house in Campbelltown, cost $4,500. It has three departments.

—Baptist Church of Campbell, organized as a branch of Savona, in 1870. In 1873 church erected.

—The first grist mill in Campbell, was built in 1812, by Gen. John Knox and Archibald Campbell.

—The first school in Campbell, on Mead's Creek, was taught by Rhoda Simmons in a hunter's cabin, in 1817.

—First Presbyterian Church organized January 20, 1812, at the house of Frederic Stewart, church erected in 1833. Rev. B. F. Pratt, of Southport, N. Y., preaching the dedicatory sermon, Thursday Nov. 5, 1833.

—Methodist Episcopal class organized in 1827, services for many years were held in school houses. Church dedicated Jan. 21, 1869, by Rev. Mr. Searles, of Auburn, N. Y. J. P. Knox and J. M. Bemis gave the lot, cost of edifice $2,500.

Caton Township.

Caton was formed on the 3rd day of April, 1840. It had hitherto been known as No. 1, it being the extreme south east portion of Steuben county, and in the first range of townships. It is located upon the highlands south of the Chemung river, and east of the Tioga river, and bounded on the north by the township of Corning, by the Chemung county line, south by the Pennsylvania state line, west by the township of Lindley. The creeks which rise in the township, flow northward into the Chemung river, and westward into the Tioga river.

It is under a good state of cultivation, the inhabitants at present almost exclusively devoting their attention to agriculture. It originally contained large quantities of white and Norway pine, and other valuable timber. But this has been pretty generally removed.

Caton Center a small village located as its name implies, in the center of the township, although small, is a place of considerable business.

Among its early settlers were Simeon Hurd, Joseph Wolcott, Charles Wolcott, Nelson Wolcott, Isaac Rowley, Stephen Hurd, Solomon Tarbox, E. B. Babcock, Edward Robbins, Ephraim Hill, John Gillett, Isaiah Cram, William Brown, George Bucher, Amos Hamlin, Isaac Thompson, Dr. Gregory, Benoni Johnson, Rufus Howe, Arthur Westcott, Frederic Barnard, Samuel Gorton, Samuel Wormley, Jonathan Brown, James Davison, A. B. Breese, Pierce Herrick, Amos Bonham, Russel Stanton, H. D. Smith, Rufus Howe, Thomas Brooks, Amzi English, Thomas Brooks, George Thurber, William Hubbard, Titus Smith.

At the first annual election held for the township of Caton, in Feb. 1840, at the house of Russell Stanton, Amos Lewis was elected supervisor; Orlando Gregory, town clerk; John Gillett, Russell Stanton, Zimri B. Robbins, assessors; Amos Bonham, Joseph P. Brooks, Horace Westcott, commissioners of highways; Abram D. Kinney, Amzi English, Joshua Russell, commissioners of schools; Naboth C. Babcock, Henry L. Babcock, Henry Stanton, inspectors of schools; John Griswold, John Spencer, Poor Masters; Thomas Brooks, collector; Smith Spencer, Josiah B. Bailey, Harvey C. Howe, constables; Israel Woodworth, Jacob Robbins, Geo. Westcott, Naboth C. Babcock, justices of the peace.

Erwin Township and Village of Painted Post.

The township of Erwin was erected July 1, 1826. Lindley was taken from it in 1837, and a portion of Corning added on to it 1856. It is bounded on the north by Campbell and Hornby, on the east by Corning, on the south by Lindley, on the west by Addison. The Conhocton river flows through the township from the northwest, the Tioga river from the south, and the Canisteo from the west, uniting near the village of Painted Post, in the township, and forming the Chemung river. The Rochester and Buffalo branches of the Erie and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroads pass through it. It contains some of the finest alluvial soils in the county. Within this township, at the village of Painted Post, the first settlements were made in Steuben county. The township was named in honor of Arthur Erwin, who on the 18th of July, 1789, purchased 23,040 acres of land, now comprising the town of Erwin, at that time known by the name of Painted Post. The first white man who made a settlement after the discovery of the celebrated painted post in 1779, by a detachment of Gen. Sullivan's army, was William Harris, an Indian trader, who established a trading post there in the year 1786. When Augustus Porter Frederick Saxton surveyed these tracts into townships, in the year 1789, the only white persons within the present limits of Steuben county, were Mr. Harris, and his son William and Mr. Mead who lived at the mouth of Mead's creek, and Mr. Goodhue, who lived hard by Painted Post. While the surveyors were yet at work Col. Arthur Erwin, from Erwina, Bucks county, Pa., purchased for £1,400 sterling, the land heretofore alluded to and immediately thereafter settlers came in, purchased lands and located in the town. The fame of Painted Post, in the land of the Six Nations, was spread by every soldier in Gen. Sullivan's Army, and the soldiers of the continental army, generally. Among the settlers who came after, were the sons of Col. Arthur Erwin, Samuel, Francis and Arthur, David Fuller, Benjamin Patterson, Robert Patterson, John E. Evans, Abner Trowbridge, Edmund C. Cooper, David Cook, Eldad Mead, Ben Eaton, George Young, Samuel Mulholland and Samuel Cook.

A number of the early communicants of this church, resided in the town of West Union. In 1848, Rt., Rev. John Timour, Bishop, visited diocese, and confirmed a large number of children and adults. In 1875, St Mary's church was dedicated by Bishop Ryan, at Rexville, in the town of West Union. Cost of church $18,000. This church was burned Feb. 13, 1877, and a new church soon thereafter erected, at a cost of $9,000. A parochial residence was also erected. The present membership is over 1,000.

Wheeler Township.

Wheeler was formed from Bath and Prattsburg, Feb. 25, 1820. It was named in honor of Capt. Silas Wheeler, a native of Rhode Island, and a soldier of the revolutionary war, and the first settler of the township. A portion of Wheeler was taken to form Avoca, in 1843, and a portion to form

Urbana, in 1839. It is bounded on the north by Prattsburg, on the east by Urbana, on the south by Bath and Avoca, and on the west by Avoca. The principal streams in the township are Ten Mile creek, and Five Mile creek, tributaries of the Conhocton river. The Conhocton river runs near its southern boundary.

At the first town meeting held for the election of township officers, Thomas Aulls was elected supervisor. In 1823, Grattan H. Wheeler was elected supervisor, and in 1824, Thomas Aulls was elected supervisor. From 1824, until 1830, the record of the township election cannot be found. In 1830, Jonathan Barney, was elected supervisor.

Early Settlers:—Capt. Silas Wheeler, Levi Gray, Nathan Rose, William Holmes, Otto F. Marshall, Daniel Marshall, George Renchan, J. C. Overhiser, George Raymond, Jenks Young, Thomas Cuming, Philip Beemer, Uriel Chapen, William Rowley, Daniel Raymond, Andrew Harris, Noah Stephens, Reuben Montgomery, Abram Cranmer, Daniel Raymond, Jonathan Barney, Furmen Gardner, Henry Chichester, Thomas Aulls, Albertus Larowe, Philip Myrtle, Hiram Rose, Albert Wilcox.

—The first school teacher was Uriel Chapen.

—Capt. Silas Wheeler died 1828, aged 78 years.

—Capt. Silas Wheeler set out a nursery, in 1804.

—Capt. Silas Wheeler built the first saw mill, in 1802

—Levi Gray was the first post master in the township.

—October 19, 1831, Central Wheeler Church organized.

—Maj. Jonathan Barney, a captain in the war of 1812, died in 1852.

—Rev. E. Eggleston, (Baptist) was the first preacher. Rev. Daniel Harriower, (Presbyterian) as a missionary, also held early services in the township.

—Methodist Episcopal Society of Center Wheeler formerly belonged to the Kanona charge. In 1872, a separate charge was organized. Parsonage purchased in 1874.

—Presbyterian Church of Wheeler organized in 1832. Harry Reed, Albert Wilcox, Reuben C. Montgomery, Cornelius Younglove, Otto F. Marshall, Levi Gray, trustees; Thomas Aulls, treasurer; T. W. Hitchcock, clerk.

—In 1832, Samuel Aulls erected a church for the Presbyterian Society of Wheeler. Cost of church $600. In 1867, the society built another church at a cost of $2,000. Dedicated September 7, 1870, by Rev. James M. Pratt.

—M. E. meetings were held early in the settlement of Wheeler, in private houses, and in school houses. In 1845, Joseph H. Tuttle, pastor; John A. Banter, George Banter, George Shepherd, Hiram Rose, John Overhiser, trustees, erected a church at a cost of $800, George Renchan, carpenter.

Woodhull Township and Village.

The town of Woodhull was formed Feb. 18, 1828, taken from Troupsburg and Addison. It derives its name from Gen. Nathaniel Woodhull, a soldier of the revolutionary war. It is bounded on the north by Cameron and Rathbone, on the east by Tuscarora, on the south by the Pennsylvania State line, on the west by Troupsburg and Jasper. It occupies the highlands between the Tuscarora valley, and the valley of the Cowanesque. Asher Johnson was elected supervisor; Jeffery Smith, town clerk; Stephen Kent, collector; Zebulin Tubbs, assessor, at its first election. David Edwards represented the township in the board of supervisors for eleven years, Asher Johnson four years, Christopher Marlatt four years, S. V. Lattimer seven years, in the early history of the township.

Early settlers:—Daniel Johnson, Bethuel Tubbs, Squire Wilkes, Caleb Colvin, Josiah Stiles, Stephen Dolson, B. Patrick, William Martin, Caleb Smith, Joshua Green, Asel Stiles, Henry Martin, L. Clark, Samuel Smith, Levi Rice, Micajah Sherwood, John Stone, Hugh Boyd, —— Hornocker, James Williams, Asel Bears, Worcester Perry, Thomas Hedges, Martin Harding, Andrew Colegrove, Joseph Tubbs, Sylvester Tousey, John Stone, Calvin Searle, Ichabod C. Leech, John Brimmer, Daniel Christeon, Alvinsey Foote, Jeffrie Smith, Silas H. Tubbs, Seth Pierce, Henry Harding.

—A cheese factory was erected in 1874, by Henry Cobb.

—First death was that of a daughter of Stephen Dolson, in 1808.

—Charles Adams started the Woodhull News, a weekly newspaper, in 1871.

—Caleb Smith built a saw and grist mill on the Tuscarora creek, in the year 1806.

—Rev. Simeon R. Jones, of Elmira, preached at the house of Daniel Johnson, in 1808.

—A foundry was established for casting farming implements, by Warner & Gardner, in 1844.

—Col. Henry Baldwin, of Addison, erected a large steam flouring mill at Woodhull village, in 1858.

—Free Will Baptist Church services were held at private houses, in 1830, and in 1834, a society was formed.

—Abner Thomas taught the first school in the township, in 1808, in a log school house erected for the purpose.

—Woodhull Academy and Union School was erected in 1868, at a cost of $4,000, Hamilton Marlatt, and Owen B. Baxter, were conspicuous in carrying the design into execution.

—A second Free Will Baptist Church was formed February, 1852. A church was erected and dedicated August, 1875, by Rev. S. Aldrich, of Elmira, cost of church $2,000.

—Hon. Henry Sherwood, son of Micajah Sherwood, was born in the township, in January 1824. Mr. Sherwood was elected a member of the legislature, in 1861. He was very active in filling the quota of Steuben county during the war of the rebellion. He was one of the charter members of the Blossburg Coal Company in 1866, and a director of the Erie railway in 1871. He died in July 1875.

—Daniel Johnson was the first settler in the township, in 1804, and 1805, Bethuel Tubbs, Squire Wilkes, Caleb Calvin, Josiah Stiles, Stephen Dolson, B. Patrick, and William Martin.

—Woodhull is a thriving village, containing about 500 inhabitants, situated on Tuscarora creek. There are a Union School, several churches, a number of stores, and it is the centre of a large trade from the township, also from Jasper, Greenwood, West Union, and Troupsburg.

—M. E. Church services were early held in the township, but a church was not erected until 1846. This church was located in Woodhull village. The trustees were Alfred Smith, F. H. Tubbs, C. T. Locke, F. D. Brown, Philo Millard. A second organization was effected in 1848, at Hedgesville, and in 1861, a Union church was erected by this organization and the Presbyterians. Trustees for the Methodist, Joel Eggleston, William Geer. Trustees for the Presbyterians, Thomas Hedges, Wheeler Perry, C. P. Hubbard.

—The Presbyterian Church of Woodhull was organized October 15, 1831 by Rev. Isaac Flaglar, of Hammondsport. The original members were Allen Sheldon and wife, Franklin B. Hubbard, Chauncey P. Hubbard and wife, Obed Hathaway and wife, Catharine Pomeroy, Martin Whiteman, Hannah Gulick, Dorothy Whiteman, Thomas Hedges, Mary Shumway, Hannah Smith, Elizabeth Strond, Lyman Morrell and wife. Allen Sheldon and C. P. Hubbard were chosen elders; F. B. Hubbard, clerk. The M. E. Society joined them in erecting a Union Church at Hedgesville, in 1861.

—Woodhull Baptist Church organized Nov. 20, 1835, at the house of John Kent. Among the early members were Seth Baxter and wife, John Kent wife and daughter, Ira Smith and wife, Stephen Kent, Ephraim Wood and wife, Samuel Stone, William Martin and wife, Maria Edwards, Emma Edwards, Philena Marsh, Lucy A. Dodge, Ebenezer Gardner, Samuel Cookes and wife. Stephen Kent, clerk; John Kent, deacon. In June 1849, seventeen members withdrew and formed the Newville church, and in 1858, both churches disbanded, and organized the Union Baptist Church of Woodhull. A church was erected, the pastor Rev. Mr. Marine, working upon it himself as a carpenter.

TIOGA COUNTY, NEW YORK.

Tioga county was formed in pursuance of an act of the legislature of the State of New York, passed Feb. 16, 1791, taken from Montgomery (formerly Tryon county.) The same act contained a section re-organizing the town of Chemung, which had previously been formed in 1788, as a town in Montgomery county. The county of Tioga as formed in 1791, contained the territory now embraced in the counties of Chemung, Tioga and Broome, the county of Schuyler, with the exceptions of the towns of Orange and Tyrone, which were then in Ontario, subsequently Steuben and now Schuyler, all of Tompkins except the town of Groton, and a portion of Lansing, about one third of Cortland county and a large portion of Chenango county. Within the next four years commenced a series of acts lessening the territory of Tioga county. March 5, 1794, an area of about 300,000 acres was taken, consisting of the townships of Hector, Ulysses, Virgil and Cincinnatus, to assist in the formation of Onondaga county. March 15, 1798, Chenango county was formed, taking the large territory originally contained in the township of Greene, Oxford and Jericho, from Tioga county. Broome county was formed March 28, 1806, and a large portion of Tioga was taken, a portion of which was restored to her March 22, 1822. At the same time, March 22, 1822, the townships of Danby, Caroline and Newfield were given to form Tompkins, to take effect in 1823. March 29, 1836, the county of Chemung was formed, thus aggregating one million nine hundred and twenty thousand acres, which she had given away to start out her daughters in a respectable manner, in the management of affairs for themselves. Generous mother! long may her noble act be remembered, and her name "Tioga" be preserved. The county now embraces an area of five hundred and forty-two square miles or three hundred forty-six thousand eight hundred and eighty acres, a territory sufficient to maintain with dignity her public institutions, her churches and lodges, her villages and towns, her poor and disabled, her schools and institutions of learning, her public highways and contribute to the construction of railroads and other necessary improvements.

The name of Tioga, in the Indian dialect means "meeting of the waters," and has been variously spelled and pronounced. As early as 1737, Tioga Point was visited by Conrad Weiser, the Indian Interpreter of Pennsylvania. He found an Indian village at the point, and his orthography is "Diahoga." The townships of Tioga county are Barton, Berkshire, Candor, Newark Valley, Nichols, Owego, Richford, Spencer, Tioga.

PROCESS OF ORGANIZATION.—The act establishing the county of Tioga, Feb. 16, 1791, also provides for the holding of courts, the first to be held at Chemung, (now Elmira) in June, 1791, and January, 1792. Abraham Miller was the first judge, and James McMasters sheriff. For several years after the formation of the county, courts were held at Elmira, and the town of Union, and prisoners were confined in the Montgomery county jail. In the meantime the supervisors of the county were to assemble and levy a tax of £300, for the erection of public buildings.

An act passed Jan. 14, 1793, provided for a half shire, and directed that the building erected at New Town, (Elmira) until further provisions were made should be the jail of Tioga county. March 25, 1794, by an act of the legislature, the loan officers were required to meet at Chenango, and New Town, alternately, and on March 7, 1795, the sheriff was required to reckon his mileage from Nanticooke bridge in Union. March 31, 1801, an act was passed creating two jury districts in Tioga county, and directing that the courts be held in the new court house, at Chenango, and the other at New Town, (Elmira.) On March 20, 1804, the place was fixed for the county clerk's office to be located not more than three miles from Owego village, on the north side of the Susquehanna. The erection of the county of Broome, March 28, 1806, changed the geographical center of Tioga County, and the courts were directed to be held at New Town. In 1810, the county of Tioga, was again re-organized into two jury districts, the erection of Broome county necessitating the change. According to this re-organization, Spencer was created a half shire and a deputy county clerk appointed who should reside within three miles of that place. Elmira remained the other shire, and courts were held alternately at Spencer and Elmira until otherwise directed by law. But a law passed March 14, 1818 required the board of supervisors to meet annually at Spencer. February 1817, the sheriff was directed to charge his mileage from Spencer, and the courts were also directed to be held at that place. Against this latter arrangement the citizens of the western portion of the county now comprising the county of Chemung remonstrated, and succeeded in obtaining the passage of an act restoring the two jury districts, and constituting Elmira a half shire. This was effected by an act of the legislature passed March 22, 1822. The eastern jury district to be composed of Tioga, Spencer, Danby, Caroline, Candor, Berkshire and Owego, and the western to comprise the townships of Chemung, Catharine, Cayuta, and Elmira.

At the same session April 16, 1822, the township of Big Flats was formed from Elmira, and Erin from Chemung March 29, 1822, and Southport April 16, 1822, taken from Elmira, thus making seven townships with seven supervisors in the western district and seven in the eastern. In 1823, April 16, the town of Veteran was organized from Catharine, also the town of Catlin at the same time, making nine townships in the western jury district. At the same session Newark was organized April 12, 1823, (by the name of Westville, which name was changed next year to Newark) making eight townships in the western jury district.

The act of March 22, 1822, provided for a court house at Elmira and Owego, and the meeting of the courts alternately at those places. The supervisors were also to meet alternately at Owego and Elmira, thus depriving Spencer of the honors of the half shire. This state of things continued to exist until the formation of the county of Chemung embracing the western jury district, March 29, 1836. Several towns however were formed, both in the eastern district and western district prior to the erection of Chemung county.

The first court erected for the county was at Elmira, and the next at Chenango, now in Broome county. In 1810, an act was passed authorizing the erection of a court house at Spencer. Two acres was donated by Andrew Purdy, as a site. The court house was erected in 1810-11, by Andrew Purdy, for which he was paid $5,000. Samuel Westbrook superintendent of construction. The entire cost of the building was $5,595.60. In 1818, a county clerk's office was erected at Spencer, by Andrew Purdy, in pursuance of an act of the legislature, February 20, 1818; Joshua Ferris Henry Miller, and Abel Hart commissioners to contract the work. The court house was burned in 1821, and the act heretofore alluded to was passed in 1822, creating the eastern and western jury districts, and fixing the places for holding the courts at Owego and Elmira, and authorizing the erection of a court house and jail at Owego and Elmira, providing that certain sums should be raised by voluntary subscriptions. Lots for building purposes were also to be conveyed free to the county. Under these provisions, John R. Drake, Anson Camp and Charles Pumpelly, were appointed commissioners for Owego or the eastern district, and Stephen Tuttle, Mathew Carpenter and William Jenkins for New Town or the western district after the money had been voluntarily subscribed, and raised by tax. Jail limits were prescribed at Owego, covering an area of 250 acres. An act was passed in 1822, authorizing the trustees of the village of Owego to convey certain lands to Tioga county for court house purposes. About this time a dispute arose in relation to the construction or erection of the county clerk's office at Spencer, between Andrew Purdy and the county authorities, and Richard Townley, Richard Smith, and Luther Gere were appointed arbitrators to adjust the difference. They awarded Mr. Purdy $1,139, which was paid. Thus was provision made for a court house and county jail both at Owego and Elmira, and the wheels of justice continued in motion.

In 1851, a new jail was built at Owego, costing about $6,000. In 1855, a new county clerk's office was erected. In 1868, the court house and jail were condemned, which finally resulted in the erection of a new court house, in the years 1872-3, at a cost of $65,318.90, and the repairing of the jail of over one thousand dollars more. The laying of the corner stone of the new court house was attended with very interesting ceremonies in the presence of a large number of citizens. The masonic fraternity were represented by some of the most distinguished of that order. Hon. John J. Taylor was the orator, and Charles A. Munger, Esq. the poet of the occasion.

POOR HOUSE;—An act was passed April 18, 1829, authorizing the construction of a poor house in each of the jury districts, comprising the county of Tioga, and the sum of $3,000 to be raised in each district. A farm was purchased in the eastern district consisting of about sixty acres, in 1836, and soon thereafter erected a poor house thereon. In 1850, a loan was effected of $11,000 toward the erection of a new house. In 1856, a house was erected for the keeping of the insane. In 1866, a stone building was erected at the cost of about $5,000. These buildings are located about three miles north of the village of Owego.

The county of Tioga is bounded on the north by the counties of Tompkins and Cortland, on the east by Broome, on the south by the Pennsylvania state line, and on the west by the county of Chemung. The principal stream of the county is the North East Branch of the Susquehanna, which enters the county from Broome county, in the town of Owego, the south eastern township of Tioga county, and flowing westerly through to the village of Owego, thence south easterly through the township of Nichols, passes out of the county into Pennsylvania on the town line of Barton and Nichols near the village of Waverly. The tributaries of the Susquehanna in Tioga county are Cayuta creek, Ellis creek, Owego creek and its tributaries, and several smaller creeks from the north, and the Appalachian creek and other small creeks from the south. The New York, Lake Erie & Western railroad follows the valley of the Susquehanna and leaves the county at Waverly, having several stations in the county, the principal ones being Owego and Waverly. The Utica, Ithaca & Elmira railroad enters the county in the northern portion, passing through the towns of Spencer and Candor. The Geneva & Sayre railroad leaves Waverly in the county and running out of the county into Chemung, follows close along the western line of Tioga county, and entering the county and passing out of it in the town of Spencer. The Southern Central departs from Owego and runs northerly through Owego township, Newark, Berkshire and Richford, and enters Cortland. The Cayuga & Susquehanna Division of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad has a line which leaves Owego and runs northward across the north east corner of Tioga township and through the township of Candor, passing into Tompkins county in the town of Caroline. From Spencer a railroad runs north through the township into Danby, thence via Newfield to Ithaca. It will therefore be seen that Tioga county is well provided with railroads. For list of old settlers see the various township histories. The main line of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad passes through the county.

In 1843, when the monument at Bunker's Hill was completed, he was present at the ceremonies upon that occasion, and died at the foot of the hill, where sixty-eight years before he had fought for the establishment of the Independence of the thirteen colonies.

SCHUYLER COUNTY, NEW YORK.

By an act of the legislature of the state of New York, passed April 17, 1854, the county of Schuyler was formed, taken from the counties of Chemung, Steuben and Tompkins. It is bounded on the north by the counties of Yates and Seneca, on the east by the counties of Tompkins and Chemung on the south by the county of Chemung, on the west by the county of Steuben. Its county seat is Watkins, a beautiful village at the head of Seneca Lake. The county lies in the valley of Catharine creek, and east and west of the valley, and east and west of Seneca Lake, and embraces a fine fruit growing and agricultural district.

The local history of Schuyler county extends back to the revolutionary war and beyond. General Sullivan in 1779, in his expedition against the six nations, came down the valley of Catharine creek, and on the east side of the Seneca Lake, destroying the orchards and cornfields of the Indians, which he then found, located upon lands now within the limits of Schuyler county. The lands around the beautiful Seneca Lake were the choice hunting grounds of the red man, and the waters of the lake their favorite fishing resorts, and where they had for centuries established their rude huts, planted their corn, and gathered the fruits of their orchards.

One of their aged Queens, Catharine Montour, had her home in a village near the present village of Havana. Sullivan's men found her at her Indian village, "Catharinstown," where she had been left in a helpless condition by the Indians who fled before the invading army of Sullivan. They treated her kindly, and provided for her wants. It was in her honor that the town of Catharine, and the creek was named, and the township of Montour given.

The fame of Catharinstown was heralded far and wide, and the fruitful orchards and productive lands upon the borders of Seneca Lake were described by Sullivan's soldiers, to attentive and listening ears among the heroes of the continental army, which as soon as peace had been declared, and the lands open for occupation, came thronging into the lands of the Senecas. Syndicates existed in those days, and large tracts were secured by capitalists and notably among these in the present limits of Schuyler county were Royal Flint, Jonathan Lawrence, Robert C. Livingston, John Lamb, Melanethon Smith, James Watson, and John W. Watkins, and known as the "Watkins and Flint purchase," see history of Watkins.

The formation of no county in the state was attended with more bad feeling and litigation than Schuyler. The germs, which resulted in its formation in 1854, were planted in 1836, when the county of Chemung was formed, and the county seat located at Elmira. The citizens of Catharine, Montour, Dix, Catlin, Veteran and Cayuta, wanted the county seat located at Horse Heads. It was nearer the geographical center of the new county of Chemung, and the citizens of the towns named irrespective of political parties claimed that they did not have an opportunity of being heard before the committee of the legislature, before whom the formation of the county of Chemung, and the location of the county seat was referred, and Elmira selected. From that time until the formation of the county of Schuyler was accomplished, the project of a new county was secretly, and quite often publicly and openly avowed by citizens of Veteran, Catharine, Dix and Cayuta, and enlisted sympathizers in Reading and Tyrone, in Steuben county, and Hector in Tompkins county. After being disappointed in the selection of the county seat, the citizens of Catlin, Veteran, Dix, Catharine, Cayuta and Erin, with the nominal consent of the town of Big Flats, compelled the selection of Horse Heads, as the central point for holding county conventions and general parades of the militia, and organized rifle companies of the county. In the matter of the distribution of public offices in the county for years the location of the candidate had as much to do with his election, as his capacity, ability and fitness, resulting in each locality, putting forth its most available candidate. The interrogatory for years, when a candidate was proposed for any county office was "Is he a sympathizer or a friend of Elmira, Southport and Chemung, or does he favor Dix, Catharine, Cayuta, and Veteran." These things prevailed in the Democratic conventions, and in the whig conventions, and like Banquo's ghost, "it would not down." The writer of this sketch, distinctly recollects how it was discussed in the election of Col. Jacob Westlake, for member of assembly, in 1837, and the selection of Hon. Hiram White, of Cayuta, in 1838, the selection of Judge Joseph L. Darling, of Catharine, in 1846, and Judge John W. Wisner, of Elmira, and Judge James Dunn, of the same place, how it entered into the nomination of Samuel Minier, for sheriff of Big Flats, in 1840 or 41, and his selection of William Skellinger, of Havana, as his deputy, and also in the election of Mr. Skellinger, for sheriff in 1846. There was an under current quietly at work for many years, encouraged by such gentlemen of the northern portion of Chemung county as Major Erastus Crandall, Elijah Sexton, and Jabez Bradley, of Veteran, Charles Cook, Elijah Hinman, Guy Hinman, William Skellinger, Doctor Watkins, Alva Nash, Judge Simeon L. Rood, Hiram W. Jackson, George B. Guinnip, Green Bennet, and others of Dix and Catharine, irrespective of party, which was certain to culminate in an open rupture and division.

The citizens of the southern portion of the county were aware of these dissatisfactions, and such men as the late Hon. John G. McDowell, George W. Buck of Chemung township, Solomon L. Smith, Philo Jones, and others of Southport, William R. Judson, John W. Wisner, Lyman Covell, Judge Hiram Gray, Thomas Maxwell, William Maxwell, John Arnot, Capt. Samuel Partridge, and citizens generally of Elmira, were trying to avert the impending crisis, and reconcile the differences, and jealousies. The question would come up in an indirect form every year at the annual meeting of the supervisors, in the selection of the equalizing committee, to fix the taxable rate of the lands in the various towns of the county. It was the southern portion arrayed against the northern portion of the county, and the northern portion of the county arrayed against the southern portion, and the result was inevitable, and when Schuyler county was formed, no one was surprised however much they were opposed, or in favor of it. It is the sincere belief of the writer that had Horse Heads been named as the county seat of Chemung, in 1836, Schuyler county would not have been formed, and Chemung would have retained her original territory intact. The battle of Schuyler did not end in the strife for the passage of a legislative act authorizing its formation, but a long and bitter controversy grew out of the location of its county seat. All is peace now, and may she enter upon a course of uninterrupted prosperity.

The first county officers were, Judge, Simeor L. Rood; county clerk, Algeron E. Newcomb; sheriff, John S. Swartwood; treasurer, Charles J. Broas; district attorney, Lewis F. Riggs; school commissioner, William C. Gulick; surrogate, Simeon L. Rood; member of assembly, Henry Fish of Mecklenburg.

The commissioners to locate the county buildings were Delos De Wolf, of Oswego county; Edward Dodd, of Washington county; Vivius W. Smith, of Onondaga county. They fixed the location at Havana. A court house was erected, and afterwards sold. A court house, jail and other buildings were erected at Watkins; and a series of litigations commenced which our space will not permit to enter into detail. Suffice it, that the county seat was finally located at Watkins.

The Chemung Canal was completed in 1833.

The Elmira & Jefferson railroad was completed in 1849. Now under the control of the Northern Central R. R.

The Syracuse, Geneva & Corning railroad was completed in the year 1877.

Dix Township,

The town of Dix was organized April 17, 1835, chap. 98, page 82, laws of New York, taken from the town of Catlin. As now constituted, Dix is bounded on the north by the town of Reading, on the east by the valley of Watkins, and the town of Montour, on the south by the town of Catlin, and on the west by the town of Orange. It is situated on the west of the valley of Catharine, upon the rolling lands and plateaus, overlooking the Seneca Lake, and some of the finest landscape views in the state can be obtained from points in this town. Its soil is very productive. The Syracuse, Geneva & Corning railroad passes through the township in a north east, and south west direction, having stations at Beaver Dam, and at Watkins Glen, originally in the town, but now in the corporation of Watkins.

The Northern Central railroad runs along its eastern boundary, having a station at Havana, and at Watkins, thus accommodating the citizens of Dix with ample railroad facilities. It was named in honor of Hon. John A. Dix, subsequently Governor of the state. There are several hamlets and villages in the town, among them Beaver Dam, Moreland, Townsend, and the incorporated village of Watkins.

Hector Township.

Hector was organized as a part of Cayuga county, at Session No. 25, March 30, 1802—taken from Ovid—embraced in Tompkins county by act of the Legislature, April 7, 1817, and in Schuyler county in the year 1854. It is situated on the eastern shore of Seneca Lake and approaches within six miles of the western shore of Cayuga Lake. The surface gradually ascends from the shores of Seneca Lake until it reaches an altitude of about six hundred feet, and then descends toward Cayuga Lake. It is the largest town in Schuyler county. It was within its limits that the Indians of the Six Nations had corn fields and orchards which were destroyed by General Sullivan, hitherto referred to in his campaign in 1779. The history of the township affords material for a very large volume. It is bounded on the north by Seneca county, on the east by the towns of Ulysses and Enfield in Tompkins county, on the south by Catharine and Montour in Schuyler county, and west by Seneca Lake. It is rich in agricultural and the orchard products.

MONTOUR! HAVANA! SCHUYLER!

These name are very suggestive. Montour is of French and Indian origin. Havana of Spanish, and Schuyler of the Dutch Patroons, who first established themselves upon the waters of the Hudson. The name of Montour recalls the early settlement of Canada and the occupation of that country, and a large portion of New York, western Pennsylvania, and the northwest and the south by the French people, and the intermingling of the French and Indian races, the cruel wars waged against the English settlers and their descendants within the present limits of the United States, until the time when French occupation and domination in the territory referred to surrendered to the English, and the coalition of the "mother country" or England with these red men to subjugate her own offspring, the American Colonists. Havana recalls the conquest of Mexico by the Spanish, and the islands adjacent, and the wresting of the Andes, and Amazon countries from the aborigines. Schuyler and Montour brings us down to a later, and more local history of our struggles with the English and their allies, the Six Nations, and the cruel deeds perpetrated at Cherry Valley, and in the valley of the Wyoming, and the tributaries of the Susquehanna, and the terrible and just retribution which overwhelmed the Indians in the valley of the Chemung, and in this the very home and garden of the Six Nations. Montour, Havana, and Schuyler county, and the country adjacent is truly historic ground. That one locality should by accident or design assume names so very suggestive of the struggles that have taken place upon the western hemisphere is indeed very remarkable.

It is also very suggestive of the trials, litigations and difficulties that have attended the history of Havana, Montour, and Schuyler county, in contending for their civil rights amid so many rivalries. Montour, Havana, and Schuyler, have survived and grown rich and prosperous as a township, village and county, and to-day with her schools and colleges, her fertile fields, her railroads, and steamboats, the influence of her press, her cascades and glens, her health resorts, and her busy and intelligent population, she maintains a high position among her sister townships, villages and counties in the state.

Watkins Village.

Watkins, the county seat of Schuyler county, situated at the head of Seneca Lake and named in honor of Doctor Samuel Watkins, a prominent land owner, and an early resident, and distinguished citizen, is one of the most pleasant and delightful villages in the state. The elegant private residences, the public buildings, its hotels, and the romantic scenery of its glen, and the inviting waters of the lake, make it a great resort for the invalid and those who desire rest and recreation. The views obtained from it and the surrounding hillsides cannot be excelled. Its settlement and history dates back to revolutionary days, and Indian legends are connected with its occupation by the warriors of the Six Nations.

It was known in former times as Salubria, and Jefferson, but was finally incorporated under the name and title of Watkins, April 8, 1852. From the most authentic source (the records having been destroyed,) it is believed that the following named gentlemen composed the first official board of the village. William E. White, Winthrop E. TOMPKINS COUNTY, NEW YORK.

Tompkins county was formed by an act of the legislature, April 17, 1817—taken from Cayuga and Seneca. Its lineage extends back to Onondaga, Herkimer, Montgomery, Tryon and Albany counties. It was named in honor of Governor Daniel D. Tompkins. The county of Tompkins when formed contained the towns of Hector, Ulysses, and Covert taken from Seneca county, and the town of Dryden and a part of the towns of Locke and Genoa from Cayuga county. On the 22d of March, 1822, it received accessions to its territory, of Danby, Caroline and Cayuta, from Tioga county, Cayuta afterwards being divided and a portion named Newfield was retained in Tompkins. In the year 1853 a portion of Newfield was attached to Chemung county, and in April, 1854, the town of Hector, which was situated in the north west portion of the county along the banks of Seneca Lake, and containing some of the finest agricultural lands in the county, was detached to aid in the formation of the county of Schuyler. Tompkins, as originally formed, had within its limits quite a portion of Cayuga Lake, and extended westward to the Seneca Lake. For further particulars in relation to formation of townships see township histories in this work. Tompkins county is bounded on the north by Cayuga and Seneca counties, on the east by Cortland and Tioga, on the south by Tioga, Schuyler and Chemung, and on the west by Chemung and Schuyler, and its county seat is Ithaca. Its first county officials were: Oliver Comstock appointed first judge, April 10, 1817; D. W. The county of Tompkins consists of nine townships, Caroline, Danby, Dryden, Groton, Enfield, Ithaca, Lansing, Newfield and Ulysses, and a large number of villages and hamlets. The largest incorporated village is Ithaca, situated at the head of Cayuga Lake, covering the valley of the inlet, and extending east and west upon the hillsides. Some of the finest farming lands in the state are found in Tompkins county on the eastern and western shores of Cayuga Lake, and upon the hillsides and plateaus. One of the earliest chartered railroads in the state had its initial point at Ithaca and its termini at Owego. Its public men have been distinguished for their learning, ability and enterprise, filling honorable positions from justice of the peace to governor of the state. Its schools, academies and colleges rank high in the scale of intelligence and efficiency, and its internal improvements in the shape of railroads and telegraphs, although not quite as extensive as some counties, still afford ample facilities for cheap and rapid transportation.

“A Perfect Sight!”

Those “horrid pimples” are sure to disappear if you will purify your blood by the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A young lady of Dover, N. H., writes that for a number of years her face was covered with pimples, and she was constantly annoyed by their appearance. Three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla rendered her skin perfectly clear.

“I was troubled, for a long time, with a humor, which appeared on my face in ugly pimples and blotches. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me. I consider it the best blood purifier in the world.”—CHARLES H. SMITH, North Craftsbury, Vt.

“We regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a real blessing. For pimples and eruptions of almost every description, it is a positive cure. We have kept it in our family for the past twenty years.”—MRS. J. W. COCKRELL, Alexandria, Va.

“Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of pimples, which literally covered my face. It is the best medicine I ever used.”—JULIA BERNARDIN, Compton, Ill.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.
